SEASON'S FIRST

Measurable Rain Sprinkles Marin

The first measurable rain of the season sprinkled Marin County this morning.

A noon check showed .06 of an inch in San Rafael, .03 in Sausalito, .02 in Tamalpais Valley, .01 in Novato and traces in Woodacre, Muir Woods and atop Mount Tamalpais.

Showers which began shortly after 8 a.m. eased off by midmorning in most areas.

The last rain to damped Marin County was on Sept. 9 when only a trace was registered. Last year by this date, San Rafael had 4.25 inches of rain.

Light showers may continue tonight and tomorrow, the weather bureau indicated.

The rain is a result of a small storm stalled for 24 hours a few hundred miles off the California coast, the bureau said.

Cloudiness will continue with little change in temperature in the Bay Area, the bureau predicted. For the Sierra Nevada, variable cloudiness is indicated.

The weather bureau had predicted rain would start last night.

Birds Blamed In 61-Fatality Airliner Crash

BOSTON (UPI) — The Federal Aviation Administrator said today all evidence indicated a flock of migrating starlings choked the engines of an Eastern Air Lines Electra which crashed on takeoff last night with loss of 61 lives.

Elwood R. Quesada, administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency, told newsmen he found 100 to 200 dead starlings on the runway where the ill-fated airliner took off. He said an ornithologist told him the birds died some time last evening.

He said it appeared that the birds, who fly in dense flocks of tens of thousands, were sucked into the turbo-prop air feed, cutting off the air supply and causing a "flameout."

Eleven persons survived the crash of the Atlanta-bound plane. All but three of the bodies had been recovered by early afternoon. One was known to be tangled in the sunken forward section of the fuselage where seven of the dead were found today.

The other two were unaccounted for as skin divers searched the murky waters of Winthrop Bay in Boston Harbor where the sleek plane plunged.

The entire force of 20 identification experts of the Boston Police Department went to work in a mortuary taking fingerprints and photographs in an effort to identify the bodies.

Neutral Powers Press For Ike-Nikita Talk

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The world's top neutralist powers, led by Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru, pressed today for unanimous General Assembly approval of their demand for an Eisenhower-Khrushchev meeting.

Nehru broke openly on the assembly floor with his fellow commonwealth prime minister, Australia's Robert Gordon Menzies, who sought an assembly call for a new, big four summit conference instead of the neutralist-backed plan for "renewed contacts" between the U.S. and Soviet chiefs.

The assembly was expected to reach a vote on the counter-proposals at a night session.

The night session also was scheduled to act on Russia's demand to seat Communist China and oust Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese Nationalists from the United Nations. Western diplomats predicted a safe, 50-vote minimum in favor of the U.S. demand to shelve the Chinese representation issue for another year.

Menzies told the assembly this morning that the neutralist resolution — sponsored by India, Indonesia, the United Arab Republic, Yugoslavia and Ghana—would exclude Britain and France from decisive talks between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

He found also that the neutralist measure pointed to Eisenhower as the "stumbling block" to renewed East-West talks, and he said there was no reason why the President "should be the one leader of what we call the western world to be brought under persuasion or pressure."

Nehru, spearheading the neutralist drive against watering down their resolution, heatedly disagreed with Menzies.

He failed to understand the resolution," the Gandhi-capped Indian leader said. "It does not suggest a conference or a meeting but a renewal of contacts—contacts."

$4 Million Funds, Tax Win By Big Margin In Novato

School Board Meets Next Week To Plan For New Construction

Voters in the Novato Unified School District overwhelmingly approved a four-million-dollar school construction program and continued $3.23 operational tax rate yesterday.

The next step will be taken next Tuesday at the district's board meeting. Trustees will begin planning for enlargement of the high school and Hill Intermediate School, the first steps in a construction program aimed at providing classrooms for an estimated 2,000-pupil growth in the next six years.

The vote yesterday:

For district issuance of $1,500,000 in bonds: 1,289 "yes" to 316 "no", two-thirds majority needed.

To authorize a state construction loan of $2,500,000: 1,287 "yes" to 305 "no"; two-thirds majority needed.

ON TAX RATE

For continuance of the $3.23 operational tax rate: 1,292 "yes" to 291 "no"; simple majority needed.

Supt. W. J. J. Smith estimated that about 4,500 persons were eligible to vote yesterday. He termed the 33 per cent vote "one of the best turnouts for a school election."

Voting was stalled briefly by a snafu in getting ballots to the polls at five schools, but ballots were moving into voters' hands by 7:15 a.m., fifteen minutes after the polls opened, Smith said.

Approval of the building program means trustees will begin huddling with architects on plans for enlarging the high school from its present 875 capacity to handle about 1,000 pupils, and ultimately, 1,400.

MORE CAPACITY

At Hill School, capacity will be increased from 600 to 800 students.

In the future, four kindergarten through sixth grade schools will be constructed, with a new intermediate school.

Unofficial vote count by precincts, was:

Marion School: Bands, 201-89; loan, 206-82; tax, 212-73.

West Novato School: Bonds, 298-65; loan, 298-62; tax, 301-59.

Hill School: Bonds, 319-71; loan, 314-69; tax, 312-67.

HighSchool: Bonds, 261-36; loan, 259-36; tax, 259-33.

Olive School: Bonds, 210-55; loan, 210-56; tax, 208-59.

Rec District Approved By Terra Lindans

Terra Linda residents approved the formation of a separate recreation district yesterday by a 640 to 253 vote.

Voters also elected a five-man board of directors from a slate of nine running for office. Elected were Walter J. Fairweather, with 605 votes; Gordon Young, 519; Shao-yuen (Sy) Yuan, 519; Jack Brandon, 454, and James B. Schryver, 432.

Other candidates received the following number of votes: Melvin S. Warenback, 421; C. Robert Friend, 307; C. M. Ingham, 259, and Henry H. Pierce, 207.

TAXING POWERS

Creation of the district will permit a tax of up to 50 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. If the full amount is levied, it will mean an increase of about $26 on the tax bill of the average Terra Linda home owner next year.

Formation of the district had been urged as making possible a bigger recreation program than the community services district could finance; keeping Terra Linda in control of its own recreation program in case the area is annexed to San Rafael, and providing a bigger program than San Rafael is expected to offer in case of annexation.

BOND ELECTION

It is expected that one of the new board's first actions will be to call a bond election as soon as possible. A recreation steering committee of the community services district recommended a $220,000 bond issue as the highest with a good chance of passage. It would finance a pool, purchase and remodeling of a recreation building, and hiring a professional staff.

Four of the candidates who were elected—Brandon, Fairweather, Yuan and Schryver—at a candidates' night program favored a bond issue of $244,000, which would include an additional $24,000 for an elementary and pre-school children's playground. Young favored the $220,000 figure as having a better chance for passage.

First Victory In Series For Pirates Since '25

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Pittsburgh Pirates ended 33 years of baseball ignominy today when chunky Elroy Face's last-ditch relief pitching swept them to a 6-4 victory over the favored New York Yankees in the opening game of the World Series.

The hit-and-run Bucs hadn't won a series game since beating Washington in 1925, and had been slaughtered four in a row by these same Yankees the last time they were in the classic in 1927.

They were a battling band of hungry heroes and there were enough laurels to go all the way around:

Cleaner Firm Founder Dies In Road Crash

Paul S. Cabrol, one of the founders of the San Rafael French Cleaners and a Marinite for 34 years, died yesterday when his pickup truck crashed off a highway eight miles southeast of Sonoma.

California Highway Patrolmen said Cabrol apparently died from a heart attack while driving south on Highway 37. His truck swerved across the road and plunged down a small embankment. He was dead on arrival at Sonoma Valley Hospital in Sonoma.

RETURNING HOME

The 57-year-old merchant lived at 190 Sea View Avenue in San Rafael. He was returning home from the Valley of the Moon Rock Quarry, which he owns, near Glen Ellen.

Funeral arrangements will be made by Keaton's Mortuary, the family said. An autopsy will be performed.

Born in France, Cabrol moved with his family to San Francisco when he was 5 years old.

He and George Delsol founded the San Rafael French Cleaners at 1852 Fourth Street in 1926. Cabrol retired five years ago, Delsol last year. The business was sold to LaGrande Laundry in San Francisco.

Cabrol was a member of San Rafael Elks Lodge 1108, the Lafayette French Lodge of San Rafael, the Marin Rod and Gun Club, and the LaGauloise French Lodge in San Francisco.

Here is the first article in a series examining the background of the bond issue.)

All three of the high schools in the Tamalpais District—Sir Francis Drake in San Anselmo, Redwood at Larkspur-Corte Madera, and old Tamalpais in Mill Valley — are straining at the seams.

On the opening day of school last month at Drake, 63 more students turned up than were expected and planned for. Principal Harold Allison was lucky (and so were the students). He quickly located two more experienced teachers, hired them, and the crisis was temporarily averted.

At Redwood the enrollment is approximately 1,410. The present facilities are designed to accommodate only 1,200 students. Through good management, Principal Donald Kreps has been able to absorb the 210 overflow with a minimum of irritating inconveniences such as locker-sharing among freshmen, make-shift classroom arrangements and a modified double session program which sees pupils arrive and depart in staggered shifts.

Tam high's situation also is pinching. Old age and obsolescence has been a growing problem there. The school was founded more than 50 years ago. Major construction took place between 35 and 40 years ago. Novato Councilmen Promise To Join Suit Against Club

Novato city councilmen last night promised the city would join the suit against the Novato Community Club to gain control of the clubhouse, if necessary to settle the issue in court.

Councilman John Angeloni, an attorney, and City Atty. Clark M. Palmer informally agreed during last night's city council meeting that the city would be forced to take one side or the other in the suit. And councilmen voted that they would prefer club member Alfred Bowman's side.

Bowman has filed suit against club directors, asking that the clubhouse be given to the city, as he says was promised on club incorporation in 1947. Many club members oppose his stand.

Angeloni noted that court moves by club attorney Jack L. Burnam will force the city to take a stand, as beneficiary to the suit. But councilmen agreed they would prefer to stay out of the courts unless required to enter the case.

Voting for the move were Mayor Wayne Womack, Councilmen Charles P. Johnson and Angeloni. Councilmen M. E. (Babe) Silva and Everett Pozzi were absent.

Novato Councilmen Promise To Join Suit Against Club

Novato city councilmen last night promised the city would join the suit against the Novato Community Club to gain control of the clubhouse, if necessary to settle the issue in court.

Councilman John Angeloni, an attorney, and City Atty. Clark M. Palmer informally agreed during last night's city council meeting that the city would be forced to take one side or the other in the suit. And councilmen voted that they would prefer club member Alfred Bowman's side.

Bowman has filed suit against club directors, asking that the clubhouse be given to the city, as he says was promised on club incorporation in 1947. Many club members oppose his stand.

Angeloni noted that court moves by club attorney Jack L. Burnam will force the city to take a stand, as beneficiary to the suit. But councilmen agreed they would prefer to stay out of the courts unless required to enter the case.

Voting for the move were Mayor Wayne Womack, Councilmen Charles P. Johnson and Angeloni. Councilmen M. E. (Babe) Silva and Everett Pozzi were absent.

TAIL SECTION — The tail section of the Eastern Airlines turboprop Electra that crashed in Boston Harbor late yesterday is raised from shallow water. (AP Wirephoto)

Boston Plane Crash Fatal To 51; 10 Lost

BOSTON (AP) — Investigators probed the wreckage of a four-engine Eastern Airlines transport today as search continued for more victims of New England's worst air crash. Only 11 of the big airliner's 72 occupants survived.

The plane plunged into a narrow harbor bay between Logan Airport and the town of Winthrop just after takeoff last evening. The huge craft split in two and sank in comparatively shallow water. Most of the passengers were trapped in their seats.

FLOATING TO SURFACE

Some of the dead floated to the surface like corks. There was a scene of horror in the setting sun as bodies strapped to seats drifted toward the muddy shore at low tide.

Lighters lifted the broken plane parts to the surface today, and skindivers resumed the search for possibly 10 more bodies.

There were 51 bodies in the Boston mortuary, 48 of which were identified. Add 11 survivors, including the plane's two stewardesses, were in hospitals. Many were in critical condition.

SECOND CRACKUP

The Electra's plunge was the second crackup involving this type of plane within three weeks and brought demands for an investigation. It also was the first fatal crash of a commercial plane at the airport.

As the Civil Aeronautics Board ordered seven investigators to the scene, Rep. Steven B. Derounian, (R-N.Y.) called for a congressional inquiry. Sen. Vance Hartke (D-Ind.) calling for corrective action by the Federal Aviation Agency, said "structural deficiencies found in this airplane have not been corrected."

But Gen. E. R. Quesada, federal aviation administrator, said sketchy information available did not seem to show any relation between yesterday's crash and previous accidents involving Electras.

The plane took off from Logan International Airport at 5:45 p.m. bound for Philadelphia, Charlotte, N.C., Greenville, S.C., and Atlanta. It came down about 200 yards offshore.

Among the 67 passengers were 15 Marin Corps recruits en route to Parris Island, S.C. Ten of them were among the known dead.

Eastern Airlines at Miami at first said the pilot, Capt. C. W. Fitts, and co-pilot M. J. Calloway, survived. But later the airline could not confirm this and they could not be located in any hospital.

Hundreds joined in the rescue effort — police, firemen, owners of small boats, skindivers, pilots of Coast Guard helicopters and boats and Navy ships. Men waded knee deep through oil-smeared muck of the mud flats to bring back bodies.

Secret Document Recovered From Plane Wreckage

BOSTON —A "top secret" military document was recovered today from the wreckage of an Eastern Airlines Electra which crashed last night with loss of 61 lives.

The secret document was a proposal for missile research to be carried on by a government subcontractor, the Air Force said today.

The document had been carried by John Wright of the Burroughs Corp., and was for work at the Burroughs Research Center. Wright was killed in the crash. George Frankenfield Jr., also of Burroughs, who accompanied Wright on the flight, was listed as dead or missing.

Theft Specialists

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — City Recorder John I. Rice fined two men $25.50 each for stealing tires — spare tires from used cars they took to try out.

Electra Crash Was 5th Major One For Turboprop Airliners

NEW YORK (AP)—The crash of a Lockheed Electra in Boston Harbor was the fifth major accident involving these turboprop airliners. Four of the crashes have taken 223 lives.

The accident yesterday was the second Electra crash in less than three weeks.

The Federal Aviation Agency last March ordered that the more than 130 Electras operating in this country fly at sharply reduced speeds.

The first Electra crash occurred Feb. 3, 1959, when an American Airlines plane plunged into Flushing Bay about a mile short of La Guardia Field. Sixty-five of the 73 persons aboard were killed.

The second crash was Sept. 29, 1959, near Buffalo, Tex., when the left wing of a Braniff International Airways plane snapped off in flight. Thirty-four died.

Last March 17, a Northwest Airlines plane crashed at Tell City, Ind., killing 63. The plane's right wing had ripped off.

On Sept. 14 another Electra crashed on landing at La Guardia. However, all 76 persons aboard escaped, even though the plane flipped on its back and burned.

Howard Street in San Francisco was named for William D. M. Howard, one of the city's most prosperous businessmen prior to gold rush.

Chatterbox Satellite Whips Around World

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —America's newest satellite—a veritable chatterbox in the sky — whipped around the world today, paving the way for a space-age communications system for U.S. military forces.

The 500-pound Courier 1-B shot skyward yesterday atop a Thor-Able-Star rocket. It is circling the earth every 115 minutes in an orbit ranging from 575 to 750-miles above the surface.

As dramatic evidence of its success, the new space messenger was used within hours after launch to relay a teletype message of peace and good will from President Eisenhower to the United Nations.

The message was sent from Washington to Fort Monmouth, N.J., where it was beamed to Courier 1-B. The note then was transmitted to another ground station which relayed it by high-speed radio to New York. The president's message welcomed 16 new nations to the U.N. and expressed hope they would continue to witness such scientific advances as this new satellite.

The satellite carries 300 pounds of the most complex electronic gear ever sent into space by the United States. At the heart of the system are five magnetic tape recorders capable of simultaneously receiving and transmitting 68,000 words a minute.

Courier 1-B is designed primarily to receive and store teletypewriter messages from one ground station and unload them on command from another.

Plane Crash Kills 2

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A light plane crashed and burned near McClellan Air Force Base last night, killing the two men aboard. Authorities were checking whether the plane had brushed against a larger craft in flight.

Killed were Robert C. Hamilton, pilot of the little plane, and his passenger, Albert Pardini. They were on their way from Reno to their home at Ukiah.

Executives Cleared

DETROIT (AP)—Two law firms say the 36 top executives of Chrysler Corp. have no outside interests which conflict with their duties to the company. These men, the lawyers reported yesterday after three months of investigation, are free of the taint of bribes, kickbacks or secret commissions.

The corporation's most vociferous critic, Detroit attorney Sol A. Dann, called the reports a whitewash.

Ike Gives Nixon $500

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower has contributed $500 to the campaign fund of Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Other members of the cabinet and government gave donations of $3,000 or more.

The donations came to light yesterday in an examination of receipts made out by the Nixon campaign organization between March 27 and Sept. 9, which have been filed with the clerk of the House.

More Jobs For Negroes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Negroes now are getting twice as many upper-grade white collar government jobs as they did four years ago, the White House reports. A survey by President Eisenhower's Committee on Government Employment Policy showed, however, little increase in Negro employment at the highest level.

WHAT A GREAT BIG BITE

Sausalito Council Votes To Probe Ondine Parking

Frank V. Pistolesi told the Sausalito City Council last night that the Ondine Restaurant is charging people 50 cents to park cars on Bridgeway Boulevard, a public street.

"Something should be done to stop this practice," declared Pistolesi, waving a fistful of 31 parking tickets which he said he had picked up off the street and sidewalk near his home at 579 Bridgeway.

The tickets, he declared, came from cars parked by Ondine attendants—which then were ticketed by police for illegal parking.

"That's what's causing the traffic jam on week ends," put in Russell H. Papenhausen.

Mayor Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. directed City Atty. John B. Ehlen to investigate what kind of ordinance might be drawn up which would be effective in stopping the alleged practice.

The council then, by 3-1 vote, denied the Ondine Restaurant the use of a parking lot built over city tidelands, and ordered that it be closed. Mayor Ehrlich was the dissenter.

In a third action on Ondine parking, the council voted 3-1 (this time with Howard Sievers dissenting) to charge 50 cents a lineal foot for float space over city tidelands. Ondine operates a 70-foot float for tying up boats of customers who arrive by water.

VOTE $1,000 FOR HIRING

Sausalito Approves Marinship Planner

Sausalito moved a step closer to getting a professional planner for Marinship last night.

The city council expressed approval of a Marinship Property Owners Assn. proposal and voted 4-0 to commit the city to spend $1,000 toward the cost of the hiring a planner.

Councilman Michael Harris was absent.

Shirley Morgan, chairman of the association, said 19 of 22 property owners in Marinship have approved hiring a particular planner. He said the association is assured that each property owner would pay $50 toward the planner's fee.

The owners have approved a certain planner but his name could not be announced, Morgan said, until his references have been checked and approval is given by the planning commission.

Mayor Philip S. Ehrlich appointed councilman George E. Keeney and himself to check the references by Friday. He said he hoped the matter would be ready to put before the planning commission next Tuesday.

John Perry asked that 200 acres of the north end of Marinship be brought under a study along with 160 acres of the south end. The council was in favor that it all be studied at once.

Morgan said three parties did not wish to take a position on the planner: MacDonald Engineering Co., Sausalito Boat and Tackle Shop and Myron Spaulding. He said the association was unsuccessful in trying to contact Arques Shipyard and Adolph A. Tiscornia.

George P. Rischmuller withdrew his application for a variance to permit him and Norman T. Johnson to build a 75-unit apartment building in Marinship. Also, by letter, Kurt Heath withdrew the Allied Grocers and Heath Land Co. request for a use permit for a shopping center in the area.

Sausalito Names New Planner

Achitect Charles E. Finney was appointed to the Sausalito Planning Commission last night by the Sausalito City Council, bringing the commission to its full strength of nine.

Finney is associated with Charles R. Kahrs of Mill Valley, with architect offices at 765 Bridgeway.

He studied architecture at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and started work in the field in 1938. He was with the Army Artillery and Corps of Engineers in the South Pacific during World War II. Starting in 1952, he worked six years as project architect for hospital buildings in the Middle East.

He came to the bay area in 1946. He and his wife, Lisa, live at 49 Central Avenue.

He is chairman of the citizens committee for study of the central waterfront of Sausalito, on the citizens committee for study of Sausalito's zoning ordinance and a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

Larkspur Schools Slate Open House

Parents of fifth through eighth graders in the Larkspur School District will be guests tonight at open houses in the district's three elementary schools.

Programs in all three schools will begin at 7:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Kennedy Group Gets Approval For Trailer

The Citizens for Kennedy committee will set up campaign headquarters in a trailer in Sausalito.

The Sausalito City Council voted 3-1 last night, with councilman Marjorie Brady voting "no" and councilman Michael Harris absent, to allow the committee to rent two city parking lots on Bridgeway near the Bank of America.

David Neal of 2105 Bridgeway, representing the committee, said the trailer would be in use only until Nov. 9, for obvious reasons.

A rent of $25 was set for the pair of lots after Mayor Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. said he felt the standard $5 charged per lot was too cheap.

Mrs. Brady objected on the grounds that Sausalito has an ordinance against trailers and no exception should be made. City Clerk Amelie M. Smith said the ordinance referred to people living in trailers.

The council also:

1. Designated City Manager Charles A. Brown and City Engineer John L. Hunter to represent Sausalito at the meeting with the board of supervisors Oct. 19 to discuss county aid for city roads.
2. Decided it does not wish to take a stand on proposition 15 in the Nov. 8 election (the reapportionment proposition).
3. Asked the city manager to study the needs of parking cars and trailers near the Turney Street boat ramp. Mayor Ehrlich said the council should not think in terms of getting land from the Northwestern Pacific Railroad for the trailers as the proposed railroad abandonment may be in litigation for years.
4. Decided that Byron Edwards must put up a $20,000 bond to move one of his barges, parked on city property, within 90 days or the city would take steps to get rid of the barge by other means.
5. Set up a committee of councilman Howard Sievers and Russell Papenhausen to work on a procedure for getting undersides of structures built on hills closed off to prevent unsightliness.

WARY PAPER BOY THINKS DOG IN GOP

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Gov. Ernest F. Hollings, a Democrat, said this note was left at the executive mansion:

"Dear Governor Hollings:

"I am sorry that I can't put your paper on your porch; but I believe your dog thinks I am a Republican! Every day I come to the yard he chases me out. If you want me to put the paper on the porch, please keep your dog tied.

"Thank you, Your Paper Boy."

Hollings said something would be done about the dog, a German shepherd called Chief.

Sanitary District Hears Protests

Directors of the Tiburon Sanitary District heard six protests on their proposed annexation of 350 acres in Tiburon's upland section into the district Tuesday's meeting, Secretary Robert A. Sterling reported. The hearing will be continued at an adjourned meeting next Monday.

Six protestants from the Rolling Hills area appeared, led by Peter MacGowan, to state that they wish to retain their septic tanks.

The protestants represented less than one-twentieth of the total area to be annexed, Sterling said.

Mill Valley Council To Meet On Fill Offer

The Mill Valley City Council will consider at its meeting at 8 p.m. today an offer of 300,000 "bank yards" of dirt to fill 18 acres of city land in the marshlands in exchange for an option to buy part or all of that land.

Also on the agenda will be a proposal for abandonment of Sycamore Park.

Board Favors Ice House For Tiburon

Icing for Tiburon cocktails was assured when the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday settled the troubled issue of Lloyd Byrd's ice house.

After a lively hearing, the board confirmed action of the planning commission by granting an adjustment whereby the ice house, recently rousted off Fred G. Zalinsky property, may stay on Fred Mantegani premises at 1685 Tiburon Boulevard for two years—if it's painted.

Last word was by Chairman Walter R. Castro, who smilingly demanded of Zalinsky: "What are you going to do for mixings if you don't have an ice box?"

Zalinsky had already had an inning during which he denied implications that he had been a cruel landlord who threw Byrd out on 10 days' notice.

What happened, he said, was that he forgave two months rent, granted six months more free rent, but demanded a clean-up or an exit. After Byrd moved, he said, it took two hours' work with a bulldozer to remove debris.

Mantegani, who said he won't charge any rent, declared the ice house looks better than " a Chic Sale three-holer" commercial display on Zalinsky Main Street property.

Zalinsky's lawyer, William M. MacKay, conceded that "Tiburon may need ice for its cocktails." But he felt Byrd should find a more appropriate ice house location. Others said this couldn't be done.

Supervisor Vera L. Schultz finally brought unanimous endorsement of keeping the ice house.

Sausalito Names New Planner

Achitect Charles E. Finney was appointed to the Sausalito Planning Commission last night by the Sausalito City Council, bringing the commission to its full strength of nine.

Finney is associated with Charles R. Kahrs of Mill Valley, with architect offices at 765 Bridgeway.

He studied architecture at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and started work in the field in 1938. He was with the Army Artillery and Corps of Engineers in the South Pacific during World War II. Starting in 1952, he worked six years as project architect for hospital buildings in the Middle East.

He came to the bay area in 1946. He and his wife, Lisa, live at 49 Central Avenue.

He is chairman of the citizens committee for study of the central waterfront of Sausalito, on the citizens committee for study of Sausalito's zoning ordinance and a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

Larkspur Schools Slate Open House

Parents of fifth through eighth graders in the Larkspur School District will be guests tonight at open houses in the district's three elementary schools.

Programs in all three schools will begin at 7:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Kennedy Group Gets Approval For Trailer

The Citizens for Kennedy committee will set up campaign headquarters in a trailer in Sausalito.

The Sausalito City Council voted 3-1 last night, with councilman Marjorie Brady voting "no" and councilman Michael Harris absent, to allow the committee to rent two city parking lots on Bridgeway near the Bank of America.

David Neal of 2105 Bridgeway, representing the committee, said the trailer would be in use only until Nov. 9, for obvious reasons.

A rent of $25 was set for the pair of lots after Mayor Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. said he felt the standard $5 charged per lot was too cheap.

Mrs. Brady objected on the grounds that Sausalito has an ordinance against trailers and no exception should be made. City Clerk Amelie M. Smith said the ordinance referred to people living in trailers.

The council also:

1. Designated City Manager Charles A. Brown and City Engineer John L. Hunter to represent Sausalito at the meeting with the board of supervisors Oct. 19 to discuss county aid for city roads.
2. Decided it does not wish to take a stand on proposition 15 in the Nov. 8 election (the reapportionment proposition).
3. Asked the city manager to study the needs of parking cars and trailers near the Turney Street boat ramp. Mayor Ehrlich said the council should not think in terms of getting land from the Northwestern Pacific Railroad for the trailers as the proposed railroad abandonment may be in litigation for years.
4. Decided that Byron Edwards must put up a $20,000 bond to move one of his barges, parked on city property, within 90 days or the city would take steps to get rid of the barge by other means.
5. Set up a committee of councilman Howard Sievers and Russell Papenhausen to work on a procedure for getting undersides of structures built on hills closed off to prevent unsightliness.

WARY PAPER BOY THINKS DOG IN GOP

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Gov. Ernest F. Hollings, a Democrat, said this note was left at the executive mansion:

"Dear Governor Hollings:

"I am sorry that I can't put your paper on your porch; but I believe your dog thinks I am a Republican! Every day I come to the yard he chases me out. If you want me to put the paper on the porch, please keep your dog tied.

"Thank you, Your Paper Boy."

Hollings said something would be done about the dog, a German shepherd called Chief.

Sanitary District Hears Protests

Directors of the Tiburon Sanitary District heard six protests on their proposed annexation of 350 acres in Tiburon's upland section into the district Tuesday's meeting, Secretary Robert A. Sterling reported. The hearing will be continued at an adjourned meeting next Monday.

Six protestants from the Rolling Hills area appeared, led by Peter MacGowan, to state that they wish to retain their septic tanks.

Mill Valley Council To Meet On Fill Offer

The Mill Valley City Council will consider at its meeting at 8 p.m. today an offer of 300,000 "bank yards" of dirt to fill 18 acres of city land in the marshlands in exchange for an option to buy part or all of that land.

Also on the agenda will be a proposal for abandonment of Sycamore Park.

Board Favors Ice House For Tiburon

Icing for Tiburon cocktails was assured when the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday settled the troubled issue of Lloyd Byrd's ice house.

After a lively hearing, the board confirmed action of the planning commission by granting an adjustment whereby the ice house, recently rousted off Fred G. Zalinsky property, may stay on Fred Mantegani premises at 1685 Tiburon Boulevard for two years—if it's painted.

Last word was by Chairman Walter R. Castro, who smilingly demanded of Zalinsky: "What are you going to do for mixings if you don't have an ice box?"

Zalinsky had already had an inning during which he denied implications that he had been a cruel landlord who threw Byrd out on 10 days' notice.

What happened, he said, was that he forgave two months rent, granted six months more free rent, but demanded a clean-up or an exit. After Byrd moved, he said, it took two hours' work with a bulldozer to remove debris.

Mantegani, who said he won't charge any rent, declared the ice house looks better than " a Chic Sale three-holer" commercial display on Zalinsky Main Street property.

Zalinsky's lawyer, William M. MacKay, conceded that "Tiburon may need ice for its cocktails." But he felt Byrd should find a more appropriate ice house location. Others said this couldn't be done.

Supervisor Vera L. Schultz finally brought unanimous endorsement of keeping the ice house.

WATER BIRDS SOAK UP SOME SCENERY

All Tam High Schools Bulging With Students

veloping Marin City, Tamalpais high right now is temporarily enjoying a respite from the extreme growth pressure experienced at Drake and Redwood.

Even so, Principal Richard Campion counted more freshmen on opening day than were anticipated, causing temporary shortages of lockers, textbooks and other facilities. Fortunately, good management once more saved the day, temporarily.

There is really nothing new about these growth problems.

When Tamalpais High School first opened its doors more than 50 years ago, the enrollment totaled only 63. During the first 10 years, enrollment about doubled. In the second decade, the number of students doubled again. And in the next two decades, enrollment doubled twice more. This brings the head-count now into the thousands.

The present combined enrollment of the three high schools in the Tam district stands at 4,110. Designed capacity is 4,148, which will be exceeded before the present term is over.

Next year's enrollment will be 4,500-plus. (There's no guesswork here; you can count next year's freshmen in the eighth grades of the 36 elementary schools in the Tam district. Deducting the high school seniors who will be graduated shows a net increase of 400-plus that will have to be accommodated in high school next fall.)

Where do all these youngsters come from?

Everybody is aware that California has experienced a population boom in these post-war years.

Marin has had its share, and then some. The 1960 census showed Marin County grew 70 per cent since the previous census 10 years before. The Tamalpais High school district got its share of this growth, and then some. And the growth is continuing full tilt as more homes are built and more people arrive to occupy them.

In addition to the population boom, everybody is aware of the post-war birth rate "explosion." The first of these youngsters are now in high school. Increasing numbers are in the upper elementary grades headed for high school.

Drake, Redwood and Tam must be expanded if these "war babies" are to receive a proper high school education in the years immediately ahead.

Tomorrow: How the crisis may be met.

Farm Bureau Set To Take Stand On Water Issue

Directors of the Marin County Farm Bureau will take a stand on the proposed state water bond issue at their meeting Nov. 7, the day before the election.

Directors discussed the proposition at a meeting Monday but came to no conclusion. The state farm bureau federation has endorsed the water program.

Marin bureau directors have voted opposition to proposition 15, which would reapportion the state senate and "throw strength of the senate to Los Angeles," bureau president Donald McIsaac of Olema reported.

Directors Monday set the date of the annual membership meeting for Feb. 22.

Coast Guard Rapped

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—A coroner's jury yesterday accused the Coast Guard of negligence in its search for a ketch which capsized in San Francisco Bay last Aug. 22, drowning two Sea Scouts.

The jury also criticized the Belmont Sea Scout base for not inspecting its small craft more thoroughly. The criticism came after an inquest into the deaths of Chris Berg, 17, and James Lee, 15.

Diamond Ring, Mink Stolen From Home

The elusive "pillowcase burglar" or an imitator has struck again, this time at a Strawberry home, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Clothing, jewelry, and a .25-caliber automatic pistol are missing from the home of John Joseph Nelson, 32, advertising company research director of 200 Ricardo Road. Among the valuables stolen were a $700 mink coat and a $500 diamond ring.

Nelson said he and his family were away on a trip since Sept. 24 and returned yesterday to find a garage window pried open and the kitchen door kicked in.

Pillow cases were missing from the home, which led investigators to believe that the burglar stuffed his loot into a pillow case to carry it away.

However, this burglary was different from other pillow case thefts in the county during the past several months in one respect, officers said. The thief, in ransacking the home, touched only the valuables and left the homes in relatively neat order.

One of the food specialties of Belgium is "fritures d'anguilles et anguilles au vert" — fried eels, and eels with shredded herbs, oil and vinegar.

Movers Due Increase In Hourly Rate

Don't get excited over the fact that Marin County movers of household goods and such are being allowed an hourly rate increase effective Nov. 18. Chances are you're paying more already.

The boosts were granted yesterday by the California Public Utilities Commission, affecting Alameda and Contra Costa counties in one bracket and San Francisco, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties in another.

Notification had not been received in Marin by the dozen companies affected but were expected by mail soon. Since "going rates" for large operators are already well over the minimum to be allowed, nobody was holding his breath.

The Marin level will go up by 75 cents per man per hour or 13 per cent, whereas in the other level the rise is only 35 cents per man or 5.6 per cent—a situation explained locally by the fact that hitherto the minimum in Marin, Alameda and Contra Costa has tended to run lower.

This works out to boost the minimum now required, $11.50 for truck, driver and one helper, to $13—but the spokesman for one large operator said that the present "going rate" is $16.50 in most instances though he conceded that one-man operators might stay with the minimum.

For truck and driver, the minimum will go from $7.50 to $8.25 and charges for packing and unpacking will rise from $5.40 to $6.15. Reasons the minimum isn't observed, according to the spokesman, is high union wage scales.

WHITE HORSE BETTER THAN ELEPHANT

San Anselmo police captured a white horse that was ambling down Sir Francis Drake Boulevard yesterday, charged him with obstructing traffic, and tied him up beside the police station.

The horse, said Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani, was in the proper lane but blocking traffic by his slow pace.

Police called the Marin County Humane Society to get the horse. But when a Humane Society truck arrived, the animal was gone.

Who took him, police couldn't say. But a man who refused to identify himself told police by telephone the horse had been returned to pasture.

Kerr Named To National Humane Board

Frederic D. Kerr of San Rafael, president of the Marin County Humane Society, has been elected to the board of directors of the Humane Society of the United States. He is the first to be named from California.

Mel Morse, executive secretary of the Marin society, has been appointed to represent the Humane Society of the United States and the World Federation for the Protection of Animals in matters pertaining to the use of animals in motion pictures and television.

Kerr and Morse attended the annual meeting of the national organization in Los Angeles last week.

President of the local society for five years, Kerr is a member of the accounting firm of Cooper and Kerr, San Rafael.

Jury Indicts Hopps For Grand Theft

Belvedere financier Stewart B. Hopps and 11 other persons were indicted yesterday by the Los Angeles County Grand Jury on grand theft and conspiracy charges in connection with an alleged eight million dollar swindle of Equitable Plan Corp., a Los Angeles loan company.

The Los Angeles company was declared bankrupt in 1957 and its 4,500 investors lost their holdings.

Most of the 12 persons indicted are New Yorkers. The state charges they made the once-legitimate loan firm an outpost in a crooked financial empire rigged with worthless securities, watered stock and fake records, according to the Associated Press.

The grand jury recommended that Hopps' bail be set at $100,000. Attorney J. W. Ehrlich of Corte Madera, who has represented him in the past, said he expected to hear from Hopps today and would have a statement then. Hopps is traveling in the east, he said.

According to California Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard Rogan, Hopps was charged with grand theft; criminal conspiracy to commit crimes; to cheat and defraud by criminal means, to obtain money and property by false pretenses and by false promises, to pervert and obstruct justice and the due adminstration of the laws.

The principal charge against Hopps involves a $639,789 insurance premium paid by the Equitable loan company to Leadenhall Corp. of Nevada, allegedly controlled by Hopps. Leadenhall, according to Rogan, acted as broker to obtain a large insurance policy for Equitable from the now-defunct Inland Empire Insurance Co. of Salt Lake City.

Hopps already is under federal indictment for mail fraud in Maryland, and is scheduled to surrender this week on that charge.

Also named in yesterday's indictment is millionaire Lowell McAfee Birrell, reportedly a former business associate of Hopps, and now a fugitive in Brazil, which has no extradition treaty with the United States. Bail of $500,000 was set for him. Prosecutors said Birrell used one of Hopps' corporations to manipulate funds stolen from Equitable.

Mary Lyon, founder and first principal of Mount Holyoke College in South Hadley, Mass., would not accept a salary larger than $200. She was determined to keep costs low.

Climbed a wall

Police Arrest Man Hoping To Bomb Nikita

NEW YORK (AP)—A man who said he "wanted to get" Soviet Nikita Premier Khrushchev with a "Molotov cocktail" type fire bomb was arrested early today near the United Nations headquarters.

The man was nabbed by city police as he climbed a wall from the East River Drive into a parking lot just north of the U.N. headquarters.

He carried a homemade bomb, a soda bottle containing a gasoline saturated rag.

Police identified him as Richard Hogan, 22, of Queens, New York City.

He told police he had been recently interviewed by psychiatrists at Bellevue Hospital, where he had been taken by his parents. Detectives said Hogan admitted that he had been trying to reach the U.N. building with his homemade bomb because he "wanted to get Khrushchev."

Police described how the bomb works: the rag is ignited and the bottle thrown. When it breaks the burning gasoline spreads the fire.

This type fire bomb was known as a "Molotov cocktail" during World War II and was used in anti-tank warfare.

Hogan was unaware that Khrushchev was not at the U.N. building, but at the Soviet headquarters, more than a mile away.

SUES FOR $500,000

'This Is Your Life,' Fake, Husband Says

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rubber company foreman Abraham Hahn complained today television's "This Is Your Life" painted a "fake" picture of his happy home life at the same time he was suing his wife for divorce.

Hahn filed a $500,000 damage suit yesterday against the National Broadcasting Co., contending the May 4 show had caused him "humiliation and public ridicule."

He said in the supreme court suit he has suffered from headaches ever since master of ceremonies Ralph Edwards told television viewers Hahn was absent from the program because of an injured foot.

Mrs. Hahn was the subject of the program, a special Mother's Day show depicting her sacrifices for her children.

Hahn said the facts were that he had sued his wife for divorce in February on charges she deserted him; Mrs. Hahn had taken their 18-year-old daughter into court because she was "uncontrollable" and their 21-year-old son had left home.

He said he had not lived with his wife since 1955 although the program depicted the Hahns as a happy American family.

"I'm not going to make believe everything is all right when it's not," Hahn said. "It was one of these fake programs and I'm sick of it."

Goldfine Mental Exam Ordered Before Trial

BOSTON (UPI) — A federal judge today ordered textile tycoon Bernard Goldfine to undergo a psychiatric examination prior to his income tax evasion trial, and placed the defendant in custody of U.S. marshals.

Federal Judge George C. Sweeney ordered the mental examination in U.S. district court on his own motion with Goldfine present in the courtroom for the first day of trial.

Judge Sweeney said an "impartial" psychiatric examination would be conducted on the 70-year-old defendant accused of evading $791,745 in personal and corporate income taxes between 1952 and 1957.

Only yesterday Goldfine lost a motion in the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for a delay in the trial. Atty. E. Bennett Williams, counsel for Goldfine, argued yesterday that the gift-giving friend of former presidential assistant Sherman Adams was suffering from "prison psychosis."

Committee Mulls Gifted Child Plan

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A legislative committee is considering whether to recommend enactment of a three-million-dollar state program for special training of so-called gifted children.

Under the Education Department proposal presented to the Senate Fact-Finding Committee on Education yesterday, up to $250 per pupil would be provided local school districts offering the special programs.

The programs, which would have to follow state standards, would be limited to the upper 2 per cent in intelligence among the state's elementary and high school students—about 62,000 pupils.

A three-year department study which resulted in the proposal indicated that bright pupils do much better work and advance more rapidly under special programs.

The program, which for the first time would provide special state aid for bright students, already has been approved in principle by the State Board of Education.

The first U.S. census of 1810 showed Arkansas with a population of 1,062.

RICHARD HOGAN
Climbed a wall

Police Arrest Man Hoping To Bomb Nikita

NEW YORK (AP)—A man who said he "wanted to get" Soviet Nikita Premier Khrushchev with a "Molotov cocktail" type fire bomb was arrested early today near the United Nations headquarters.

The man was nabbed by city police as he climbed a wall from the East River Drive into a parking lot just north of the U.N. headquarters.

He carried a homemade bomb, a soda bottle containing a gasoline saturated rag.

Police identified him as Richard Hogan, 22, of Queens, New York City.

He told police he had been recently interviewed by psychiatrists at Bellevue Hospital, where he had been taken by his parents. Detectives said Hogan admitted that he had been trying to reach the U.N. building with his homemade bomb because he "wanted to get Khrushchev."

Police described how the bomb works: the rag is ignited and the bottle thrown. When it breaks the burning gasoline spreads the fire.

This type fire bomb was known as a "Molotov cocktail" during World War II and was used in anti-tank warfare.

Hogan was unaware that Khrushchev was not at the U.N. building, but at the Soviet headquarters, more than a mile away.

STUMPING FOR KENNEDY

Bowles Says Major Issue In U. S. Foreign Affairs

By CHAPIN A. DAY

"The United States must either move forward or lose our capacity to influence world affairs," Rep. Chester Bowles of Connecticut told a Marin audience of 176 yesterday.

The former governor and Office of Price Aministration director, stumping the country for John F. Kennedy for president, spoke at a luncheon in Bob's of Marin, Corte Madera, sponsored by the Citizen's Committee for Kennedy.

Judge David R. Baty, chairman of the committee, presided at the meeting.

Calling foreign affairs the major issue facing the nation, Bowles warned the Democrats "not to fall into a critical attitude" but to enter into a great debate from which should come a much clearer idea of where we are going."

"You never have the choice of either a good or a bad way in foreign affairs," he went on. "There are always many choices, all of them bad. It is easy to pick out the flaws in any decision afterwards."

The Democrats must be responsible citizens for two reasons, Bowles continued. First, a true bi-partisan foreign policy must be built after the election. "If there has been too much partisanship in the campaign, irreparable damage can be done the relationships between the parties."

Second, we must consider how we look to the world. "Either man who is elected must sit down and represent all of us before the other nations of the world, so we need sober discussion."

Then Bowles lashed into Vice President Richard M. Nixon and his party. The Republicans don't understand, he declared, what is happening in the revolutions around the world. The reason "we are where we are today" in Cuba is because "playboy ambassadors" were "staying in the cities" and not finding out what was going on among the people, he said.

We gave medals to the dictator as well as planes and guns. "Now we have an embittered people. The Communists moved in and turned their bitterness against us."

We have failed in other parts of the world in the same way, the speaker went on.

"This is an explosive situation," Bowles said. "Even if there were no communism we still would have a great problem in getting orderly development." No "full-blown democracies" will develop from revolutions such as are taking place, but "we can't hold them back and we don't want to," he declared.

It is "no accident" that phrases or great sections of their constitutions are familiar to us." Each constitution which starts 'We the people of . . .' reflects their attachment to our great principles. The Communists are afraid of America associating itself with such change."

Discussing the Nixon-Kenneday debate, Bowles said Nixon "had the impossible task" of telling the people that lower farm income, unemployment, recessions, the crisis in education and problems in other areas aren't true. He said the only ones who were mystified as to the outcome were the newspapers.

He added the Democrats "haven't all the answers" but "we have faith we can find them."

The Republicans have never understood the people at home and so certainly can't understand other nations, said Bowles.

"The hard economic approach doesn't qualify people to lead in the world today," he declared.

"I'm deeply concerned about Mr. Khrushchev. He is trying to scare us all to death, and partially succeeding. This probably is preliminary to something big.

"But it would be food if we could get our focus off Khrushchev and onto other problems." He suggested going ahead with programs of assistance in South America, Africa and Europe, for schools, food surpluses and similar programs at home. "Khrushchev can't veto this sort of thing," he declared.

The congressman, who declined to run for re-election so he could campaign for Kennedy, said he had "discussed these things at length" with Kennedy, "an extraordinary man, with an extraordinary mind and extraordinary courage—cool, cold courage you're going to need in the coming years."

He predicted a Democratic victory "but it's not going to be easy."

His speech will be broadcast in full by KTIM at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Bowles was introduced by Rep. Clement W. Miller of Corte Madera, who called him "one of the greatest men in our nation today" and one who will be "high in the next administration."

Bowles, in responding, praised Miller as "one of the outstanding young congressmen" and a "leader in helping to solve what to do about the great problems of the world today."

REP. BOWLES WOULD RUN ELEVATORS TOO

Rep. Chester Bowles of Connecticut, in Marin campaigning for Sen. John F. Kennedy, was asked yesterday if he "would be available for secretary of state if Kennedy is elected?"

"We never discuss this type of thing. Never!" Bowles declared. "But I'll do anything, run the elevators, anything . . ."

No Housing Meeting

ARRIVE FOR U.S. VISIT

McNear's Point Couple Fetes 50 Years Of Marriage Today

It "doesn't seem that long," but it's been 50 years today since Maurice and Ida Griswold were married in Mansfield, Mass.

"I can't see where all that time has gone," Mrs. Griswold says, "though we have a couple of fine children and a lot of memories to show for it."

The Griswolds offer two secrets for a long and happy marriage: Don't hold a grudge, and share the good and the bad breaks 50-50. The couple moved to California in 1921, settling in San Francisco. In 1942, they moved to McNear's Point to save gasoline while visiting her father who lived there. They decided they liked Marin living so well that they settled here permanently.

Griswold, a retired millinery worker, is an avid fisherman. Though his outboard motorboat is put up for the winter, during the spring and summer he is out almost every day on the bay.

"A man who doesn't fish is missing half his life," he says. He brings in enough to fill his own larder, as well as most of the neighbors'.

The Griswolds are particularly proud of their three grandchildren, all children of Mrs. Ruth Jensen of San Francisco. They also have a son, Nelson, who lives in Washington.

The first met at an amateur minstrel show. Griswold was the end man in the show, sang and played the bones. He persuaded a friend to bring a girl back stage after the show, and as she says, "one thing led to another."

Traffic Violater Gets Up Too Early

MADISON, Conn. (AP)—Robert A. Stankowski, 22, came into the police station at 4:30 a.m. and asked where court was being held.

He had been given a traffic summons that directed him to show up at 4:30 a.m. Police told him the time was in error and advised him to come back at 4:30 p.m.

Novato Delays Hearing On Trailers Plea

Future neighbors of a proposed Novato trailer court trooped to the city hall last night to protest at a zoning appeal, but found the hearing would be delayed to Nov. 1.

The continuance came at the request of trailer park operators C. L. Plowman and Gus Ravetz who want rezoning of 10.29 acres of land on Railroad Avenue between Peach and Cherry Streets for trailer court use. They were unanimously turned down by the Novato Planning Commission and are appealing to the council.

Councilmen directed the county planning staff, working under contract for the city, to make a general survey of what industrial zoning is needed near the railroad tracks; note items which might be included in a trailer park regulatory ordinance, and advise the council on a possible zoning classification for trailer courts.

The request for the reports came at the suggestion of Councilman Charles R. Johnson who noted that Ravetz and Plowman were requesting commercial zoning for the land, a change from its present agricultural-suburban zoning and residential use.

Johnson noted that if zoned for commercial use, the land could be put to other uses than a trailer park. He said other cities have zoned trailer park land for multiple housing.

Discussion of the rezoning for any area should be separate from consideration of its future specific use, William Dobbs, county planning staff representative, suggested. The city planning commission still would have to approve a use permit after rezoning.

In other business, the council:

1. Authorized calling for bids on two police cars and a police-city administrator car. Bidders to be confined to Novato.
2. Noted that City Atty. Clark M. Palmer Jr. is drawing up a preliminary draft of a business license ordinance.
3. Heard that about $135 worth of plants must be replaced in roadway strips in the Monte Maria subdivision.
4. Approved purchase of a calculator for $501.
5. Approved payment of bills of $8,900 for September.

Supervisors Approve Purchase Of Overlook

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday approved purchase of the Muir Beach Overlook for $3,750 from the federal government.

No one appeared at a public hearing to voice opinions on the purchase of the nearly nine acres of choice panoramic view property off Highway 1, northwest of Muir Beach.

The property is also known as the Frank Valley Military Reservation and apparently was once used as a gun emplacement installation. All that remains of any land improvement is a large excavation.

Some $4,000 is included in the 1960-61 county budget for the purchase.

Last week the supervisors directed the parks and recreation commission to prepare detailed development and use plans for the overlook and Paradise Beach Park.

Entrances To Santa Venetia Caves Sealed By Owner

Those caves in the Santa Venetia hills on San Pedro Ridge have been blocked off with rocks, branches and brush.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors learned this yesterday in a letter from Meriam Stetson of 241 North San Pedro Road, owner of the property.

Stetson wrote that after the sheriff's office had reported on the dangerous condition of the two water-filled holes, he went to investigate. Juveniles reportedly had been using the caves as swimming holes.

Stetson wrote that the entrances to the holes have been blocked and tree trunks have been placed on the trail leading to them.

He also said the holes were not old mine shafts, to his knowledge, but natural caves. He has lived in the area since 1890.

Stetson said his father told him there was a brickyard in the hills about 1870, which piped water from the hillside springs. The pipes were removed to Stetson's ranch about 1919.

Annexation Issue To Be Discussed

Kitty Oppenheimer will moderate the discussion. Panelists will be Mayor John F. McInnis of San Rafael; Anton Lonich, who heads the annexation drive in Terra Linda; Jack Brandon, director of the Terra Linda Community Services District; Mrs. William Munson, and a fifth member not yet announced.

Listeners may submit questions for tomorrow's broadcast. The program will be repeated Sunday at 12:30 p.m. by tape-recording.

Bowles Says Major Issue In U. S. Foreign Affairs

"The United States must either move forward or lose our capacity to influence world affairs," Rep. Chester Bowles of Connecticut told a Marin audience of 176 yesterday.

The former governor and Office of Price Aministration director, stumping the country for John F. Kennedy for president, spoke at a luncheon in Bob's of Marin, Corte Madera, sponsored by the Citizen's Committee for Kennedy.

McNear's Point Couple Fetes 50 Years Of Marriage Today

It "doesn't seem that long," but it's been 50 years today since Maurice and Ida Griswold were married in Mansfield, Mass.

"I can't see where all that time has gone," Mrs. Griswold says, "though we have a couple of fine children and a lot of memories to show for it."

The Griswolds offer two secrets for a long and happy marriage: Don't hold a grudge, and share the good and the bad breaks 50-50. The couple moved to California in 1921, settling in San Francisco. In 1942, they moved to McNear's Point to save gasoline while visiting her father who lived there. They decided they liked Marin living so well that they settled here permanently.

Griswold, a retired millinery worker, is an avid fisherman. Though his outboard motorboat is put up for the winter, during the spring and summer he is out almost every day on the bay.

"A man who doesn't fish is missing half his life," he says. He brings in enough to fill his own larder, as well as most of the neighbors'.

The Griswolds are particularly proud of their three grandchildren, all children of Mrs. Ruth Jensen of San Francisco. They also have a son, Nelson, who lives in Washington.

The first met at an amateur minstrel show. Griswold was the end man in the show, sang and played the bones. He persuaded a friend to bring a girl back stage after the show, and as she says, "one thing led to another."

No Housing Meeting

The boards of the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency did not meet Monday because of lack of a quorum.

Traffic Violater Gets Up Too Early

MADISON, Conn. (AP)—Robert A. Stankowski, 22, came into the police station at 4:30 a.m. and asked where court was being held.

He had been given a traffic summons that directed him to show up at 4:30 a.m. Police told him the time was in error and advised him to come back at 4:30 p.m.

Novato Delays Hearing On Trailers Plea

Future neighbors of a proposed Novato trailer court trooped to the city hall last night to protest at a zoning appeal, but found the hearing would be delayed to Nov. 1.

The continuance came at the request of trailer park operators C. L. Plowman and Gus Ravetz who want rezoning of 10.29 acres of land on Railroad Avenue between Peach and Cherry Streets for trailer court use. They were unanimously turned down by the Novato Planning Commission and are appealing to the council.

Councilmen directed the county planning staff, working under contract for the city, to make a general survey of what industrial zoning is needed near the railroad tracks; note items which might be included in a trailer park regulatory ordinance, and advise the council on a possible zoning classification for trailer courts.

The request for the reports came at the suggestion of Councilman Charles R. Johnson who noted that Ravetz and Plowman were requesting commercial zoning for the land, a change from its present agricultural-suburban zoning and residential use.

Johnson noted that if zoned for commercial use, the land could be put to other uses than a trailer park. He said other cities have zoned trailer park land for multiple housing.

Discussion of the rezoning for any area should be separate from consideration of its future specific use, William Dobbs, county planning staff representative, suggested. The city planning commission still would have to approve a use permit after rezoning.

In other business, the council:

1. Authorized calling for bids on two police cars and a police-city administrator car. Bidders to be confined to Novato.
2. Noted that City Atty. Clark M. Palmer Jr. is drawing up a preliminary draft of a business license ordinance.
3. Heard that about $135 worth of plants must be replaced in roadway strips in the Monte Maria subdivision.
4. Approved purchase of a calculator for $501.
5. Approved payment of bills of $8,900 for September.

Supervisors Approve Purchase Of Overlook

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday approved purchase of the Muir Beach Overlook for $3,750 from the federal government.

No one appeared at a public hearing to voice opinions on the purchase of the nearly nine acres of choice panoramic view property off Highway 1, northwest of Muir Beach.

The property is also known as the Frank Valley Military Reservation and apparently was once used as a gun emplacement installation. All that remains of any land improvement is a large excavation.

Some $4,000 is included in the 1960-61 county budget for the purchase.

Last week the supervisors directed the parks and recreation commission to prepare detailed development and use plans for the overlook and Paradise Beach Park.

Entrances To Santa Venetia Caves Sealed By Owner

Those caves in the Santa Venetia hills on San Pedro Ridge have been blocked off with rocks, branches and brush.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors learned this yesterday in a letter from Meriam Stetson of 241 North San Pedro Road, owner of the property.

Stetson wrote that after the sheriff's office had reported on the dangerous condition of the two water-filled holes, he went to investigate. Juveniles reportedly had been using the caves as swimming holes.

Stetson wrote that the entrances to the holes have been blocked and tree trunks have been placed on the trail leading to them.

He also said the holes were not old mine shafts, to his knowledge, but natural caves. He has lived in the area since 1890.

Stetson said his father told him there was a brickyard in the hills about 1870, which piped water from the hillside springs. The pipes were removed to Stetson's ranch about 1919.

times this season in relief to save the game.

That was in the eighth inning when the tiring Law gave up back-to-back singles to Hector Lopez and the menacing Maris. There were none away and the long-jawed Law took that long walk to the showers and Face moved in.

He got them out of that immediate spot to save the dicision for Law and pin the defeat on lanky Art Ditmar by curling a third called strike past the mighty Mickey Mantle, getting dangerous Yogi Berra on a fly ball and then striking out the burly Moose Skowron.

In the ninth, Gil McDougald greeted him with a single to right center and then, after Bobby Richardson forced McDougald, Howard hoisted a pinch hit homer into the right field stands. That closed the gap and the crowd moaned when Tony Kubek followed right up with a single. That's when Face tightened up again. He served a double play ball to Lopez.

Bill Virdon started the Bucs off with a walk which doomed the quiet Ditmar. For with Groat, the National League's batting champion at the plate, Virdon stole second base. Richardson and Kubek made an attempt to cover the bag but the peg from Berra was high and sailed out into center field for an error by the dumpy catcher which sent Virdon on to third.

Groat followed by slashing a double down the right field line which scored Virdon. Bob Skinner came through with a single to center which scored the balding Groat. Ditmar got Dick Stuart but, with Roberto Clemente up, the Bucs were running again. Skinner stole second standing up as once more Yogi's peg was high and Kubek had to make a fine backup play to keep the ball from going into center field again. Clemente slashed a clean single sending Skinner scampering home.

That was all for Ditmar. Jim Coates came on to retire the side.

Berra led off the Yankee second with a single to center and then trundled to second base when Skowron popped a blooper into right field.

Old Casey Stengel made his bid then for a big inning which would completely crush the upstart Pirates, pulling Cletis Boyer and sending rangy Dale Long in to pinch hit.

The bright day got even darker for Berra. When Richardson lined to Skinner, the tall left fielder made a running catch and whipped the ball to Mazeroski at second to double up the chagrinned Yogi.

The Yanks got one back in the fourth after Maris singled to center and Mantle walked. Berra drilled a long fly to center which moved Maris to third and the Yankee outfielder scored on Skowron's single to left. But the two runners died there as Law retired the next two men.

The Pirates got that run right back and with interest. With one man out, Don Hoak drew a full count walk. Then Mazeroski teed off on Coates for a two-run blast over the left field scoreboard which put the Bucs in front, 5-2.

Mazeroski brought home another run in the sixth when with one away he singled to left and stormed on down to second on Law's sacrifice. Bill Virdon laced a doubled off the right field screen and Mazeroski scored with the sixth and final Pirate tally.

Law made it through the next inning but then, in the top of the eighth, Lopez and Maris greeted him with those back to back singles and with none away burly Danny Murtaugh, the tobacco-chewing Pirate skipper, beckoned to Face in the bullpen.

Truck Slides, Hits Bridge; One Injured

A pickup truck plowed into a concrete bridge on rain-slick Sir Francis Drake Boulevard a half mile west of Lagunitas today, injuring one of the passengers.

Curtis Price, 38, of Marin City, a gardener, was taken to Marin General Hospital with a possible fracture of the left leg and a cut over the right eye.

The driver, Fred Bachman of 10 Butterfly Lane, Kentfield, told the Highway Patrol that as he went around a curve the truck slid across the road and hit the bridge railing. The truck was a total loss, the patrol said.

Another passenger, Leroy Robbins, address unknown, was thrown from the truck but was apparently uninjured, the hospital reported.

Asst. County Fire Chief Louis Bloom arrived right after the accident and gave Price first aid.

The hospital said it was too soon to tell Price's condition, but he did not appear to be critical.

Boy Run Out, Breaks Leg

Three-year-old Kurt Eastus was in Marin General Hospital today with a broken leg after learning (the hard way) about staying on his own side of the street.

The toddler had been visiting a playmate near his Fairfax home yesterday and was on his way home for dinner at 5:30 p.m. when he ran from behind a parked car into the path of a car driven by Wayne R. Trumbly, 22, of 15 Valencia Avenue, San Rafael.

"I can't understand what he was doing on that side of the street," Kurt's mother, Mrs. Donna Eastus of 73 Dominga Avenue, said.

Trumbly was released without charge, said Police Chief Clifton Cordes.

Injured Youths Still 'Serious'

Two of three boys hurt in an auto accident Sunday afternoon on Highway 101 south of San Rafael were still in serious condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Wayne Conroy, 17, of Petaluma, was listed as improved by the hospital, but Hugh Cook III, 17, of Petaluma and John Mariner, 16, of San Francisco, his companions in the crash-torn car, were still listed as serious.

The were driving north on 101 with Mariner at the wheel, when the car hurtled across a dividing strip and crashed into a truck-trailer and a southbound auto.

Abandoned Auto Set Afire By Pair

A pair of Santa Venetia youths, finding an auto abandoned in a marsh near San Pedro Road Monday, set it afire, according to Capt. T. F. Parnow of the California Highway Patrol.

An off-duty deputy sheriff, Arthur Menjou, spotted the pair driving away from the flaming car and noted their license number. The highway patrol tracked down the boys through the number and arrested them.

Though there were neither plates or registration on the totally destroyed auto, the owner, a Steven Cantor of San Rafael, was traced through its motor number. The car was mired in the marsh, and the owner was planning to junk it, Captain Parnow said.

Parked Automobile Loses Its Wheels

Robert J. Miller parked his car at the entrance to Terra Linda Monday night and commuted to his job as Golden Gate Bridge tender.

When he returned yesterday morning, he noticed the car listing badly to port. Both right wheels and tires were gone, and the right side was resting on rocks which had been placed under the car by the thieves.

Miller lives at 501 Whitehead Drive, Terra Linda.

Loss Of Diamond Told To Police

Loss of an $850 diamond engagement ring was reported to San Rafael police yesterday by Mrs. Andrew Kopperud of 59 Arguello Circle.

She said she lost the ring, a three-quarter-karat diamond in a white gold setting, while helping at the San Rafael Cooperative Nursery School at Third and High Streets last weekend.

Four Injured As Autos Hit At Greenbrae

Three women and an 8-year-old girl were taken to Marin General Hospital today after the car in which they were riding was struck in the rear by another auto, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Checked for possible neck injuries were Mrs. Elsie Allen, 61, of Ukiah, the driver, and her passengers, Mrs. Edna Guerrero, Mrs. Frema Wright and her daughter, Deborah Wright, all of Potter Valley in Sonoma County. The hospital said all would probably be released.

The patrol said Mrs. Allen was southbound on Highway 101 at the Greenbrae hill when traffic slowed to allow a car to pull off the road. She had to stop in traffic and her car was hit in the rear by another car driven by Adolph L. Nelson of 1323 Nye Street, San Rafael.

Boy, 13, Injured As Bike Hurtles

Andrew A. Clark, 13, was hurled down a 20-foot embankment when his bicycle hit a street railing in San Rafael's Bret Harte area yesterday.

He was reported in satisfactory condition today at San Rafael General Hospital, with multiple abrasions and injuries to his shoulder, back and ankle.

The boy, of 289 Woodland Avenue, was bicycling down Southern Heights Boulevard about 5:50 p.m. He failed to negotiate a sharp curve at Martens Boulevard and smashed into the railing in front of 229 Southern Heights Boulevard. He was thrown head-first over the handlebars and tumbled down the embankment.

A passing motorist, Gerald Murie of 25 Willow Avenue, Fairfax, heard the boy's cries and called United Ambulance.

Woman Treated For Wrist Slashes

Mrs. Renee Burton, 28, was reported in satisfactory condition in San Rafael General Hospital today, where she was being treated for razor slashes on both wrists.

Mrs. Burton was found slumped over the kitchen table at her home, 71 Knight Drive, San Rafael, at 1:30 yesterday by her husband, Arthur Burton. He carried her to a bed and called police.

Burton said he and his wife are in the process of getting a divorce and he went to the house yesterday to take one of their three children to the doctor.

Barge Holding Two Houses Settles In Bay

A sinking barge, carrying two five-room houses, drew a swarm of Coast Guard planes and patrol boats about the old ferry slip on the Richmond shore just north of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge today.

Two patrol boats and a commercial tug were trying to beach the barge on the mud flats at noon. A Coast Guard helicopter and four-engine reconnaisance plane kept the area clear and relayed messages.

The barge apparently broke loose from its moorings and drifted about 50 yards off the ferry slip. Its seams opened up and the boat began to sink. There was no one aboard.

The barge was carrying two houses owned by contractor H. W. Aldredge of Pleasant Hill, Contra Costa County.

Valley Areas Vote School Tax, Bonds

VISALIA (UPI) — Visalia and Tulare area voters yesterday approved school tax rates and bond issues for new construction.

Tulare Union High School's one-million-dollar bond issue was passed 2,221 to 832 to provide 20 new classrooms and two gymnasiums.

Visalia Elementary School District voters approved a 1.77-million-dollar bond issue 3,620 to 1,152 and continuance of the present $1.35 tax rate for 10 years, 3,711 to 967. Visalia High School district's tax increase from $1.05 to $1.35 also was approved 4,292 to 1,709.

Special tax rates in the Woodlake Elementary School and Palo Verde Elementary School District near Tulare were approved by voters.

A $280,000 bond issue for classroom construction was approved at Orosi Union High School, but a $70,000 bond issue to finance a swimming pool failed by 57 votes of obtaining the necessary two-thirds majority.

Brothers-In-Law Plead Innocent

Two brothers-in-law have pleaded innocent to a charge of burglary of a safe at the Santa Venetia Supermarket on Aug. 16.

James R. Litteral, 33, of 120 Madison Avenue, Santa Venetia, and Willis Alden Harper, 30, of Petaluma were held in lieu of $2,500 bail each after they were indicted by the grand jury last Friday.

Judge N. Charles Brusatori of Marin Superior Court set a jury trial for Nov. 15, 16, 17, 18 and 22. The pair, who are married to the sisters of Bernard E. Snyder, 22, of Petaluma, a probation violator being held in Ohio, are accused of carting off the safe from a post office substation. It reportedly contained $248 worth of money orders and $590 in stamps.

The Pirates got that run right back and with interest. With one man out, Don Hoak drew a full count walk. Then Mazeroski teed off on Coates for a two-run blast over the left field scoreboard which put the Bucs in front, 5-2.

Mazeroski brought home another run in the sixth when with one away he singled to left and stormed on down to second on Law's sacrifice. Bill Virdon laced a doubled off the right field screen and Mazeroski scored with the sixth and final Pirate tally.

Law made it through the next inning but then, in the top of the eighth, Lopez and Maris greeted him with those back to back singles and with none away burly Danny Murtaugh, the tobacco-chewing Pirate skipper, beckoned to Face in the bullpen.

Truck Slides, Hits Bridge; One Injured

A pickup truck plowed into a concrete bridge on rain-slick Sir Francis Drake Boulevard a half mile west of Lagunitas today, injuring one of the passengers.

Curtis Price, 38, of Marin City, a gardener, was taken to Marin General Hospital with a possible fracture of the left leg and a cut over the right eye.

The driver, Fred Bachman of 10 Butterfly Lane, Kentfield, told the Highway Patrol that as he went around a curve the truck slid across the road and hit the bridge railing. The truck was a total loss, the patrol said.

Another passenger, Leroy Robbins, address unknown, was thrown from the truck but was apparently uninjured, the hospital reported.

Asst. County Fire Chief Louis Bloom arrived right after the accident and gave Price first aid.

The hospital said it was too soon to tell Price's condition, but he did not appear to be critical.

Boy Run Out, Breaks Leg

Three-year-old Kurt Eastus was in Marin General Hospital today with a broken leg after learning (the hard way) about staying on his own side of the street.

The toddler had been visiting a playmate near his Fairfax home yesterday and was on his way home for dinner at 5:30 p.m. when he ran from behind a parked car into the path of a car driven by Wayne R. Trumbly, 22, of 15 Valencia Avenue, San Rafael.

"I can't understand what he was doing on that side of the street," Kurt's mother, Mrs. Donna Eastus of 73 Dominga Avenue, said.

Trumbly was released without charge, said Police Chief Clifton Cordes.

Abandoned Auto Set Afire By Pair

A pair of Santa Venetia youths, finding an auto abandoned in a marsh near San Pedro Road Monday, set it afire, according to Capt. T. F. Parnow of the California Highway Patrol.

An off-duty deputy sheriff, Arthur Menjou, spotted the pair driving away from the flaming car and noted their license number. The highway patrol tracked down the boys through the number and arrested them.

Though there were neither plates or registration on the totally destroyed auto, the owner, a Steven Cantor of San Rafael, was traced through its motor number. The car was mired in the marsh, and the owner was planning to junk it, Captain Parnow said.

Parked Automobile Loses Its Wheels

Robert J. Miller parked his car at the entrance to Terra Linda Monday night and commuted to his job as Golden Gate Bridge tender.

When he returned yesterday morning, he noticed the car listing badly to port. Both right wheels and tires were gone, and the right side was resting on rocks which had been placed under the car by the thieves.

Miller lives at 501 Whitehead Drive, Terra Linda.

Loss Of Diamond Told To Police

Loss of an $850 diamond engagement ring was reported to San Rafael police yesterday by Mrs. Andrew Kopperud of 59 Arguello Circle.

She said she lost the ring, a three-quarter-karat diamond in a white gold setting, while helping at the San Rafael Cooperative Nursery School at Third and High Streets last weekend.

Four Injured As Autos Hit At Greenbrae

Three women and an 8-year-old girl were taken to Marin General Hospital today after the car in which they were riding was struck in the rear by another auto, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Checked for possible neck injuries were Mrs. Elsie Allen, 61, of Ukiah, the driver, and her passengers, Mrs. Edna Guerrero, Mrs. Frema Wright and her daughter, Deborah Wright, all of Potter Valley in Sonoma County. The hospital said all would probably be released.

The patrol said Mrs. Allen was southbound on Highway 101 at the Greenbrae hill when traffic slowed to allow a car to pull off the road. She had to stop in traffic and her car was hit in the rear by another car driven by Adolph L. Nelson of 1323 Nye Street, San Rafael.

Boy, 13, Injured As Bike Hurtles

Andrew A. Clark, 13, was hurled down a 20-foot embankment when his bicycle hit a street railing in San Rafael's Bret Harte area yesterday.

He was reported in satisfactory condition today at San Rafael General Hospital, with multiple abrasions and injuries to his shoulder, back and ankle.

The boy, of 289 Woodland Avenue, was bicycling down Southern Heights Boulevard about 5:50 p.m. He failed to negotiate a sharp curve at Martens Boulevard and smashed into the railing in front of 229 Southern Heights Boulevard. He was thrown head-first over the handlebars and tumbled down the embankment.

A passing motorist, Gerald Murie of 25 Willow Avenue, Fairfax, heard the boy's cries and called United Ambulance.

Injured Youths Still 'Serious'

Two of three boys hurt in an auto accident Sunday afternoon on Highway 101 south of San Rafael were still in serious condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Wayne Conroy, 17, of Petaluma, was listed as improved by the hospital, but Hugh Cook III, 17, of Petaluma and John Mariner, 16, of San Francisco, his companions in the crash-torn car, were still listed as serious.

The were driving north on 101 with Mariner at the wheel, when the car hurtled across a dividing strip and crashed into a truck-trailer and a southbound auto.

Woman Treated For Wrist Slashes

Mrs. Renee Burton, 28, was reported in satisfactory condition in San Rafael General Hospital today, where she was being treated for razor slashes on both wrists.

Mrs. Burton was found slumped over the kitchen table at her home, 71 Knight Drive, San Rafael, at 1:30 yesterday by her husband, Arthur Burton. He carried her to a bed and called police.

Burton said he and his wife are in the process of getting a divorce and he went to the house yesterday to take one of their three children to the doctor.

Barge Holding Two Houses Settles In Bay

A sinking barge, carrying two five-room houses, drew a swarm of Coast Guard planes and patrol boats about the old ferry slip on the Richmond shore just north of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge today.

Two patrol boats and a commercial tug were trying to beach the barge on the mud flats at noon. A Coast Guard helicopter and four-engine reconnaisance plane kept the area clear and relayed messages.

The barge apparently broke loose from its moorings and drifted about 50 yards off the ferry slip. Its seams opened up and the boat began to sink. There was no one aboard.

The barge was carrying two houses owned by contractor H. W. Aldredge of Pleasant Hill, Contra Costa County.

Valley Areas Vote School Tax, Bonds

VISALIA (UPI) — Visalia and Tulare area voters yesterday approved school tax rates and bond issues for new construction.

Tulare Union High School's one-million-dollar bond issue was passed 2,221 to 832 to provide 20 new classrooms and two gymnasiums.

Visalia Elementary School District voters approved a 1.77-million-dollar bond issue 3,620 to 1,152 and continuance of the present $1.35 tax rate for 10 years, 3,711 to 967. Visalia High School district's tax increase from $1.05 to $1.35 also was approved 4,292 to 1,709.

Special tax rates in the Woodlake Elementary School and Palo Verde Elementary School District near Tulare were approved by voters.

A $280,000 bond issue for classroom construction was approved at Orosi Union High School, but a $70,000 bond issue to finance a swimming pool failed by 57 votes of obtaining the necessary two-thirds majority.

Brothers-In-Law Plead Innocent

Two brothers-in-law have pleaded innocent to a charge of burglary of a safe at the Santa Venetia Supermarket on Aug. 16.

James R. Litteral, 33, of 120 Madison Avenue, Santa Venetia, and Willis Alden Harper, 30, of Petaluma were held in lieu of $2,500 bail each after they were indicted by the grand jury last Friday.

Judge N. Charles Brusatori of Marin Superior Court set a jury trial for Nov. 15, 16, 17, 18 and 22. The pair, who are married to the sisters of Bernard E. Snyder, 22, of Petaluma, a probation violator being held in Ohio, are accused of carting off the safe from a post office substation. It reportedly contained $248 worth of money orders and $590 in stamps.

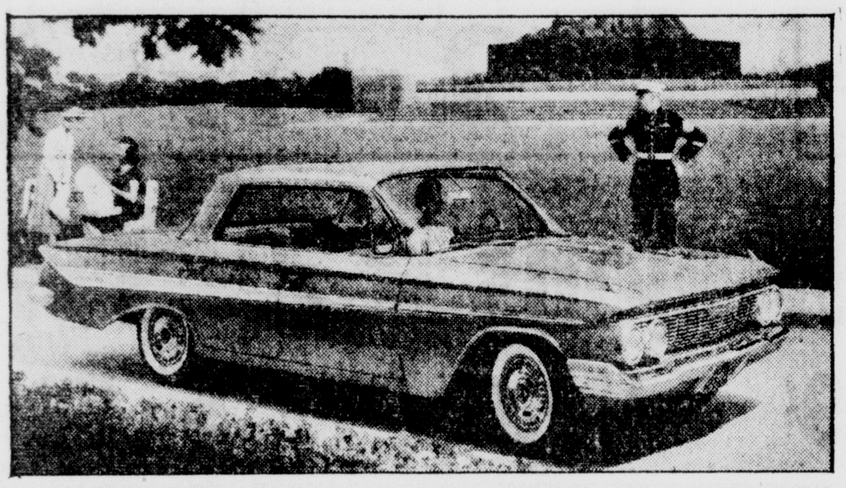
NEW LINES FOR RAMBLER — Rambler Americans for 1961 will include two new additions. The two-door convertible shown here, and a four-door station wagon. While most models will go on sale October 12, including the station wagon, the convertible will not be available until about the first of the year. A total of 13 models are to be offered, with 90 and 125-horsepower engines. Styling for 1961 is new and American Motors says that it will be stabilized without year to year changes.



CHEVROLET'S 1961 IMPALA — Scheduled for display at dealer showrooms Friday, October 7, are 20 conventional Chevrolet models, nine Corvairs and the Corvette. Impalas, Bel Airs and Biscaynes will be slightly lower, narrower and shorter; interior space will remain about the same as 1960 models. The Impala will include a two-door sedan not previously available.

Dealers Hail Absence Of Fishtail Fenders On 1961 Automobiles

"Look, ma—no fins!"

All of Marin's Plymouth dealers—Rossi Garage and Jack Hunt in San Rafael and R and R Motors, Mill Valley are agreed that the absence of fishtail fenders on the new models is a big improvement. Buyers who were holding off before are far more receptive this fall.

Viewed from the side, the new appearance is more pronounced. Designers have reduced the mass in the rear of the car, added to the length of the hood and used a minimum of side trim.

The Chrysler Imperial which was introduced at Jack Hunt's last Thursday along with Plymouths and Valiants still retains the fins, but on the Crown floor model they didn't seem objectionable. It's a lot of car—which is to be expected with a price tag in excess of $6,000.

Valiants have experienced little change, either in styling or in content over last year. The front grill is slightly different, a few thin lines of chrome on side and rear fenders—these were all I could find. A two-door hardtop in the V-200 series and a V-100 two-door sedan have been added to the line.

Style changes on the Plymouths have drawn more attention than Valiants at Rossi's and R and R Motors showrooms, but Jack Hunt has sold more new Valiants than Plymouths so far—mostly with automatic shift, which is cause for wonderment how much economy features in the compacts are actually considered.

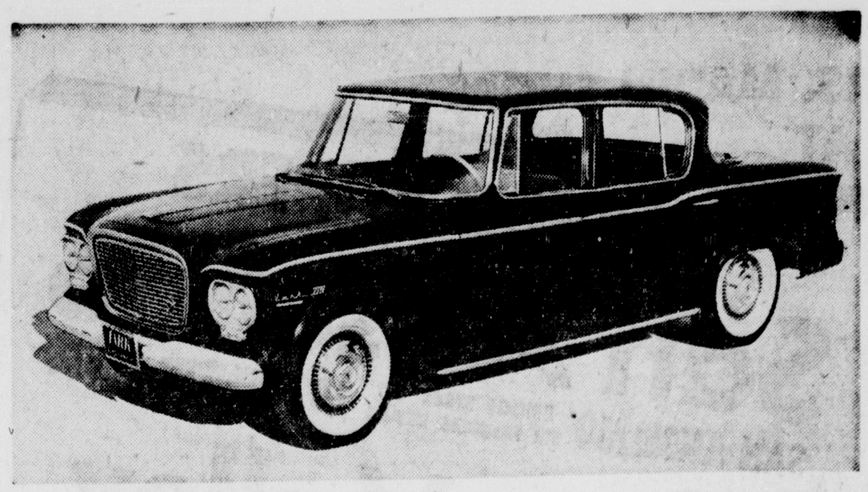
All dealers say they have had a better sales beginning this fall than last year's kick-off. A few—not many—'60 models are still on hand for fast discount deals.

STENSTROM BUICK had something new to show in its line today, and tomorrow Comets and Mercurys take the limelight at Larry Brink Motors, Mill Valley and E. Bugna, San Rafael. Brink may also have some Ramblers to show—Dexter Car Co., San Rafael was expecting some, though my schedule shows Ramblers and Americans carrying an Oct. 12 dateline.

Scripture Oldsmobile is down on the list for new models tomorrow, as are Bianco in San Rafael and deBeaubien, Mill Valley for Pontiacs.

CARILLONS at Northwestern Savings and Loan offices in Mill Valley and San Rafael may have different overtones within a few days. Owner G. J. Schulmerich of Schulmerich Carillons, Inc., on a West Coast trip from Sellersville, Pa. last week looked in to study their sound effects and will have an engineer follow up to make adjustments. Acoustics are the same in no two places and long experimentation is sometimes necessary to get pleasing results.

MARINDIVIDUALS ON TOUR. York and Co. manager in San Rafael, Jess France and his wife Faith take off tomorrow for a week's trip in Hawaii. France was the recipient of one of the investment firm's six awards for outstanding work this summer. . . Mr. and Mrs. William S. Erdman of San Rafael are in the Grand Bahamas as guests of the Fedders Corp., air conditioner manufacturers. Erdman is associated with H. R. Bosford Co., a Fedder dealer, and received the prize for his sales record. . . . Lloyd M. Kahn, Mill Valley resident and San Francisco general insurance broker is away at Hartford, Conn. taking an intensive study course with Hartford Fire Insurance Co. Before becoming a broker, Kahn was with the Pacific department of the Hartford group.



NEW LARK CRUISER—This four-door sedan by Studebaker is four inches longer than the regular Lark sedan and is powered by a larger 180 horsepower V-8 engine. Also offered in the Cruiser is an optional 210 horsepower engine. Both operate on regular gasoline. Other optional equipment includes a twin traction differential, power brakes and air conditioning. There is a choice of eight body colors.

Hearing Slated On Plan For Expanding School

A public hearing on a proposed long-range, multi-million-dollar expansion and new location for the Cedars Development School of Ross will be held by the Marin County Planning Commission on Monday at the county office building, 1711 Grand Avenue, San Rafael.

The private school for mentally retarded children, located at Bolinas Avenue and Upper Road, has applied for a use permit to establish new facilities on a 20-acre sliver of unincorporated land bordered by Mount Tamalpais Cemetery and Sunny Hills Orphanage between San Rafael and San Anselmo.

Planned in the 25 year program being developed by Charles Warren Callister and John M. Payne, Tiburon architects, are dormitories, dining rooms, classrooms, playgrounds, outdoor theater, small zoo, laundry, office and caretakers quarters. The school would eventually accommodate 150 pupils. It now has 90 pupils and a staff of 47.

First phase of the program would be construction of a swimming pool and a camp site for the school's Boy Scout Troop 39, which has 25 members. Mrs. Marie Tappendorff, director of the school, said she hopes to have the pool ready by next summer.

Construction costs would be financed by the Cedars Development School Inc., a private corporation.

The present school site, which occupies one and one-half acres, would eventually be abandoned if the full 25-year program is carried out, Mrs. Tappendorff said.

Included on the site where the school was founded in 1919 are five buildings, a boys' dormitory built in 1940, girls' dormitory erected in 1946, a workshop, seven-room schoolhouse, and main house which holds the dining room, kitchen and staff quarters. The staff of 47 includes seven full-time teachers, housemothers, gardeners, kitchen workers and maintenance men.

Inflation Hits Pony Express

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Inflation has hit the Pony Express, too.

Stamp collectors sending a special cachet on the recent Pony Express centennial rerun paid $100 a half ounce.

One hundred years ago the postal rate on the original Pony Express was $5 a half ounce. It was later lowered to $1 as the telegraph lines moved westward and offered more competition.

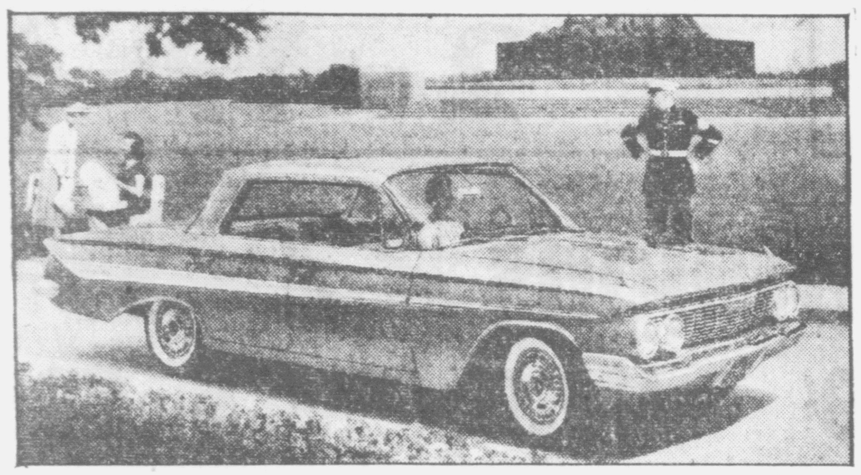
NEW LINES FOR RAMBLER — Rambler Americans for 1961 will include two new additions. The two-door convertible shown here, and a four-door station wagon. While most models will go on sale October 12, including the station wagon, the convertible will not be available until about the first of the year. A total of 13 models are to be offered, with 90 and 125-horsepower engines. Styling for 1961 is new and American Motors says that it will be stabilized without year to year changes.



CHEVROLET'S 1961 IMPALA — Scheduled for display at dealer showrooms Friday, October 7, are 20 conventional Chevrolet models, nine Corvairs and the Corvette. Impalas, Bel Airs and Biscaynes will be slightly lower, narrower and shorter; interior space will remain about the same as 1960 models. The Impala will include a two-door sedan not previously available.

Hearing Slated On Plan For Expanding School

A public hearing on a proposed long-range, multi-million-dollar expansion and new location for the Cedars Development School of Ross will be held by the Marin County Planning Commission on Monday at the county office building, 1711 Grand Avenue, San Rafael.

The private school for mentally retarded children, located at Bolinas Avenue and Upper Road, has applied for a use permit to establish new facilities on a 20-acre sliver of unincorporated land bordered by Mount Tamalpais Cemetery and Sunny Hills Orphanage between San Rafael and San Anselmo.

Planned in the 25 year program being developed by Charles Warren Callister and John M. Payne, Tiburon architects, are dormitories, dining rooms, classrooms, playgrounds, outdoor theater, small zoo, laundry, office and caretakers quarters. The school would eventually accommodate 150 pupils. It now has 90 pupils and a staff of 47.

First phase of the program would be construction of a swimming pool and a camp site for the school's Boy Scout Troop 39, which has 25 members. Mrs. Marie Tappendorff, director of the school, said she hopes to have the pool ready by next summer.

Construction costs would be financed by the Cedars Development School Inc., a private corporation.

The present school site, which occupies one and one-half acres, would eventually be abandoned if the full 25-year program is carried out, Mrs. Tappendorff said.

Included on the site where the school was founded in 1919 are five buildings, a boys' dormitory built in 1940, girls' dormitory erected in 1946, a workshop, seven-room schoolhouse, and main house which holds the dining room, kitchen and staff quarters. The staff of 47 includes seven full-time teachers, housemothers, gardeners, kitchen workers and maintenance men.

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

(A Thrice-Weekly Column)
By HARRY CRAFT

Dealers Hail Absence Of Fishtail Fenders On 1961 Automobiles

"Look, ma—no fins!"

All of Marin's Plymouth dealers—Rossi Garage and Jack Hunt in San Rafael and R and R Motors, Mill Valley are agreed that the absence of fishtail fenders on the new models is a big improvement. Buyers who were holding off before are far more receptive this fall.

Viewed from the side, the new appearance is more pronounced. Designers have reduced the mass in the rear of the car, added to the length of the hood and used a minimum of side trim.

The Chrysler Imperial which was introduced at Jack Hunt's last Thursday along with Plymouths and Valiants still retains the fins, but on the Crown floor model they didn't seem objectionable. It's a lot of car—which is to be expected with a price tag in excess of $6,000.

Valiants have experienced little change, either in styling or in content over last year. The front grill is slightly different, a few thin lines of chrome on side and rear fenders—these were all I could find. A two-door hardtop in the V-200 series and a V-100 two-door sedan have been added to the line.

Style changes on the Plymouths have drawn more attention than Valiants at Rossi's and R and R Motors showrooms, but Jack Hunt has sold more new Valiants than Plymouths so far—mostly with automatic shift, which is cause for wonderment how much economy features in the compacts are actually considered.

All dealers say they have had a better sales beginning this fall than last year's kick-off. A few—not many—'60 models are still on hand for fast discount deals.

STENSTROM BUICK had something new to show in its line today, and tomorrow Comets and Mercurys take the limelight at Larry Brink Motors, Mill Valley and E. Bugna, San Rafael. Brink may also have some Ramblers to show—Dexter Car Co., San Rafael was expecting some, though my schedule shows Ramblers and Americans carrying an Oct. 12 dateline.

Scripture Oldsmobile is down on the list for new models tomorrow, as are Bianco in San Rafael and deBeaubien, Mill Valley for Pontiacs.

CARILLONS at Northwestern Savings and Loan offices in Mill Valley and San Rafael may have different overtones within a few days. Owner G. J. Schulmerich of Schulmerich Carillons, Inc., on a West Coast trip from Sellersville, Pa. last week looked in to study their sound effects and will have an engineer follow up to make adjustments. Acoustics are the same in no two places and long experimentation is sometimes necessary to get pleasing results.

MARIN INDIVIDUALS ON TOUR. York and Co. manager in San Rafael, Jess France and his wife Faith take off tomorrow for a week's trip in Hawaii. France was the recipient of one of the investment firm's six awards for outstanding work this summer. . . Mr. and Mrs. William S. Erdman of San Rafael are in the Grand Bahamas as guests of the Fedders Corp., air conditioner manufacturers. Erdman is associated with H. R. Bosford Co., a Fedder dealer, and received the prize for his sales record. . . Lloyd M. Kahn, Mill Valley resident and San Francisco general insurance broker is away at Hartford, Conn. taking an intensive study course with Hartford Fire Insurance Co. Before becoming a broker, Kahn was with the Pacific department of the Hartford group.

NEW LARK CRUISER—This four-door sedan by Studebaker is four inches longer than the regular Lark sedan and is powered by a larger 180 horsepower V-8 engine. Also offered in the Cruiser is an optional 210 horsepower engine. Both operate on regular gasoline. Other optional equipment includes a twin traction differential, power brakes and air conditioning. There is a choice of eight body colors.

A San Rafael pastor now wears a sheriff's gold star as official sheriff's chaplain for the county.

Rev. Fred C. Braunschweiger of Trinity Lutheran Church was sworn in yesterday afternoon by County Clerk George S. Jones. Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos presented the pastor with a gold star.

"It is an honor and a privilege to have Rev. Braunschweiger accept this title," said Mountanos. "It is reassuring to be able to call upon him in any matters relating to the sheriff's functions."

In accepting the gold star, Rev. Braunschweiger said, "It is a privilege to have this association with the sheriff's office and the opportunity to serve the county in this way."

This is believed to be the first time that an official chaplain has been appointed for the sheriff's office.

Sheriff Mountanos is a member of the Trinity Lutheran congregation.

SUPERVISORS ROUNDUP

County To Retain Four Properties

The Marin County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday to retain four parcels of property in county ownership and to dispose of two other parcels.

Remaining under county ownership will be a park area in Kay Park subdivision 1, 2.93 acres on Muir Woods Road; 22 acres east of Upton Tract at Stinson Beach, and 1.21 acres marked Creek Reserve on Raven Road, Sleepy Hollow.

The supervisors decided to deed an 18-foot right-of-way on Mar East Street, Tiburon, to the Tiburon Sanitary District and reserve a drainage easement for the county. It also decided to deed Castro Park at Vendola and Mabry Way, Santa Venetia, to Santa Venetia Improvement Assn. The county counsel was directed to take the necessary legal action to accomplish the dispositions.

The supervisors' decisions were made after considering recommendations by the Parks and Recreation Commission, Planning Commission and a committee of county officials.

No action was taken on other parcels of property under consideration for disposal: Bolinas Park, northeast half of lot 19 in Deer Park subdivision 1, playground at Greenbrae, Dusel Court Sewer Plant (referred to Novato for recommendation), and county park at Inverness.

In other business, the board:

1. Approved purchase of a slightly used refrigerator for the county jail at a cost of $325.

2. Approved the placement at Juvenile Hall of a student specializing in group work at the University of California Graduate School of Social Welfare. The student would spend two days, a total of 14 hours, weekly at the hall, primarily in treatment and program work.

3. Approved appointments of incumbents Sidney H. Dooray, Harry D. McNeill and D. G. Jones to the Alto Sanitary District board, since no nominating petitions had been filed.

4. Heard Ellen Dawson of Stinson Beach request that the county consider placing an emergency sluiceway with flood gates at Eskoot Creek in Stinson Beach. The board should request the state to cooperate in the project, she said. She estimated it would cost $75,000. The matter was referred to the Department of Public Works.

5. Received thanks from the wildlife conservation board of the State Department of Fish and Game for its endorsement of the proposed public access development at the Petaluma River near Black Point. Supervisor William Gnoss presented the proposal to the conservation board. A total of $15,200 was allocated for the project by the state board.

6. Also was notified by the wildlife conservation board that the Petaluma River angling access project has been approved and should be started soon.

7. Referred to the county counsel a claim for damages from Jo-Anne Nadeau, a group supervisor at the Juvenile Hall, who claimed a garbage truck owned by the county or under supervision of county employees damaged her car.

8. Approved proclamation of Oct. 26 as Marin County Legal Secretaries Day in Court, a day set aside to give legal secretaries opportunities to observe actual courtroom procedure.

9. Approved stop signs at Mill Road and Doris Avenue at Wilson Avenue in Novato.

10. Approved a resolution providing poling places and election officers for the Nov. 8 election.

11. Approved job specifications for new recently approved position of collector of delinquent accounts.

12. Approved appointment of Mrs. Gretchen Gray as child welfare services worker, a three-day part-time job at $2.91 an hour created by promotion of Florence Miller.

13. Played host to the visiting Tamalpais High School senior class of 50 students in "Problems of American Democracy."

14. Approved hospital and farm appointments of Jean Edwards as registered nurse at $366, replacing Joanne Schisler, and Naim Rasmussen to a new position as licensed vocational nurse, at $306; and in the welfare department of Doris Owen as junior typist clerk, at $280, replacing Marian Schoemaker.

15. Awarded $14,239.86 worth of bonds of Novato's Chase, Orange and Peach Street Assessment District to Stone and Youngberg of San Francisco on a bid of 96.03 per cent of principal, with 5½ per cent.

16. On request of F. R. Middagh, chairman of the Marin County Employees Retirement Assn., allowed increase of monthly retirement allowances of 22 members up to a $25 maximum. The $385.23 monthly total will come out of the retirement fund.

DAG GETS BEAR'S BIG HUG

$10,000 Asked In Price Suit Against MAC

Marin Associated Consumers Inc. (MAC Department Store) in San Rafael is being sued for $10,000 damages in Marin Superior Court by an Indiana firm which charges the store is selling products below "fair trade prices."

Mead Johnson and Co. filed the suit yesterday against the MAC store and several John Does.

The company manufactures and sells diet products. According to the suit, MAC sells the products at prices below the agreed "fair trade" prices.

Mead Johnson and Co. asks the court to stop MAC from selling below fair trade prices. It also seeks general damages of at least $5,000 and punitive damages of $5,000.

The products in question include Mead's "Dextri-Maltose," "Metrecal," "Poly-Vi-Sol," "Deca-Vi-Sol," "Tri-Vi-Sol," and others.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—The masters' pair champions of the 11th annual Tennessee Valley Bridge Tournament are Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Sharp of Covington, Ky.

Mother Of Two Jailed For Lying To Get Aid

A blonde Novato housewife, mother of two, was jailed last night on charges of giving false statements to get more than $400 in county welfare aid since last July.

Helen June Winsor, 40, of 7060 Redwod Highway, Novato, is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow afternoon with an attorney to answer charges of grand theft and perjury. Judge Harold J. Halev yesterday set her bail at $1,000.

Antoan W. Adam, investigator for the district attorney, said Mrs. Winsor applied for welfare aid last July, saying she did not know where her husband lived. She continued to draw welfare aid, giving sworn statements that she was getting no assistance from her husband.

Investigator Adam tracked down the husband, Earl Winsor of South San Francisco, who is an operating engineer working in San Mateo, and charged him with failing to support his family. Adam said he then learned that Winsor had been mailing support payments to his wife and had the canceled checks to show the payments.

The investigator said Winsor even had a letter from his wife, saying that she had applied for welfare aid and that he should keep quiet about the payments he was making to her.

Mrs. Winsor told the judge she has two sons, 16 and 17.

Sausalito Slates Annual Dance

The eighth annual Sausalito Policemen's and Firemen's Ball will be held at 9 p.m., Nov. 12 in the IDESSI Hall on Caledonia Street.

Officer John Lunt is chairmen for the police department and Ralph Pedersen chairman for the fire department. Johnny Blake and his orchestra will play. Tickets will be mailed soon to all residents of Sausalito, Pedersen said. They may also be purchased at the door or from firemen or policemen.

Leads In Brazil Vote

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Janio Quadros, a conservative who promised to clean up government corruption and bolster Brazil's shaky economy with a businesslike administration, forged steadily ahead today in the counting of votes from the presidential election.

Quadros' lead mounted over President Juscelino Kubitschek's candidate, former War Minister Henrique Teixeira Lott, and over leftist Adhemar de Barros.

Nine In Marin Named To U.S. Grand Jury

Marin is heavily represented on the federal grand jury impanelled yesterday in San Francisco.

Of 23 members of the jury, which is drawn from throughout the Bay Area, nine are Marin residents.

Randall L. Ward of 113 Almenar Drive, Greenbrae, vice president of Gray Line Motor Tours, was named deputy jury foreman..

SUPERVISORS ROUNDUP

County To Retain Four Properties

The Marin County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday to retain four parcels of property in county ownership and to dispose of two other parcels.

Remaining under county ownership will be a park area in Kay Park subdivision 1, 2.93 acres on Muir Woods Road; 22 acres east of Upton Tract at Stinson Beach, and 1.21 acres marked Creek Reserve on Raven Road, Sleepy Hollow.

The supervisors decided to deed an 18-foot right-of-way on Mar East Street, Tiburon, to the Tiburon Sanitary District and reserve a drainage easement for the county. It also decided to deed Castro Park at Vendola and Mabry Way, Santa Venetia, to Santa Venetia Improvement Assn. The county counsel was directed to take the necessary legal action to accomplish the dispositions.

The supervisors' decisions were made after considering recommendations by the Parks and Recreation Commission, Planning Commission and a committee of county officials.

No action was taken on other parcels of property under consideration for disposal: Bolinas Park, northeast half of lot 19 in Deer Park subdivision 1, playground at Greenbrae, Dusel Court Sewer Plant (referred to Novato for recommendation), and county park at Inverness.

In other business, the board:

1. Approved purchase of a slightly used refrigerator for the county jail at a cost of $325.

2. Approved the placement at Juvenile Hall of a student specializing in group work at the University of California Graduate School of Social Welfare. The student would spend two days, a total of 14 hours, weekly at the hall, primarily in treatment and program work.

3. Approved appointments of incumbents Sidney H. Dooray, Harry D. McNeill and D. G. Jones to the Alto Sanitary District board, since no nominating petitions had been filed.

4. Heard Ellen Dawson of Stinson Beach request that the county consider placing an emergency sluiceway with flood gates at Eskoot Creek in Stinson Beach. The board should request the state to cooperate in the project, she said. She estimated it would cost $75,000. The matter was referred to the Department of Public Works.

5. Received thanks from the wildlife conservation board of the State Department of Fish and Game for its endorsement of the proposed public access development at the Petaluma River near Black Point. Supervisor William Gnoss presented the proposal to the conservation board. A total of $15,200 was allocated for the project by the state board.

6. Also was notified by the wildlife conservation board that the Petaluma River angling access project has been approved and should be started soon.

7. Referred to the county counsel a claim for damages from Jo-Anne Nadeau, a group supervisor at the Juvenile Hall, who claimed a garbage truck owned by the county or under supervision of county employees damaged her car.

8. Approved proclamation of Oct. 26 as Marin County Legal Secretaries Day in Court, a day set aside to give legal secretaries opportunities to observe actual courtroom procedure.

9. Approved stop signs at Mill Road and Doris Avenue at Wilson Avenue in Novato.

10. Approved a resolution providing poling places and election officers for the Nov. 8 election.

11. Approved job specifications for new recently approved position of collector of delinquent accounts.

12. Approved appointment of Mrs. Gretchen Gray as child welfare services worker, a three-day part-time job at $2.91 an hour created by promotion of Florence Miller.

13. Played host to the visiting Tamalpais High School senior class of 50 students in "Problems of American Democracy."

14. Approved hospital and farm appointments of Jean Edwards as registered nurse at $366, replacing Joanne Schisler, and Naim Rasmussen to a new position as licensed vocational nurse, at $306; and in the welfare department of Doris Owen as junior typist clerk, at $280, replacing Marian Schoemaker.

15. Awarded $14,239.86 worth of bonds of Novato's Chase, Orange and Peach Street Assessment District to Stone and Youngberg of San Francisco on a bid of 96.03 per cent of principal, with 5½ per cent.

16. On request of F. R. Middagh, chairman of the Marin County Employees Retirement Assn., allowed increase of monthly retirement allowances of 22 members up to a $25 maximum. The $385.23 monthly total will come out of the retirement fund.

$10,000 Asked In Price Suit Against MAC

Marin Associated Consumers Inc. (MAC Department Store) in San Rafael is being sued for $10,000 damages in Marin Superior Court by an Indiana firm which charges the store is selling products below "fair trade prices."

Mead Johnson and Co. filed the suit yesterday against the MAC store and several John Does.

The company manufactures and sells diet products. According to the suit, MAC sells the products at prices below the agreed "fair trade" prices.

Mead Johnson and Co. asks the court to stop MAC from selling below fair trade prices. It also seeks general damages of at least $5,000 and punitive damages of $5,000.

The products in question include Mead's "Dextri-Maltose," "Metrecal," "Poly-Vi-Sol," "Deca-Vi-Sol," "Tri-Vi-Sol," and others.

Mother Of Two Jailed For Lying To Get Aid

A blonde Novato housewife, mother of two, was jailed last night on charges of giving false statements to get more than $400 in county welfare aid since last July.

Helen June Winsor, 40, of 7060 Redwod Highway, Novato, is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow afternoon with an attorney to answer charges of grand theft and perjury. Judge Harold J. Halev yesterday set her bail at $1,000.

Antoan W. Adam, investigator for the district attorney, said Mrs. Winsor applied for welfare aid last July, saying she did not know where her husband lived. She continued to draw welfare aid, giving sworn statements that she was getting no assistance from her husband.

Investigator Adam tracked down the husband, Earl Winsor of South San Francisco, who is an operating engineer working in San Mateo, and charged him with failing to support his family. Adam said he then learned that Winsor had been mailing support payments to his wife and had the canceled checks to show the payments.

The investigator said Winsor even had a letter from his wife, saying that she had applied for welfare aid and that he should keep quiet about the payments he was making to her.

Mrs. Winsor told the judge she has two sons, 16 and 17.

Quadros' lead mounted over President Juscelino Kubitschek's candidate, former War Minister Henrique Teixeira Lott, and over leftist Adhemar de Barros.

Course Series At College Of Marin To Present Public Education Issues

Educators will emerge from their ivory towers to present their case in a six-week course on "Public Education: Criticisms and Issues," which opens tomorrow night at College of Marin.

The course, which may be taken for college credit, is being sponsored jointly by the 14th District of the California Council of Parents and Teachers, College of Marin, San Francisco State College and the county superintendent of schools.

It will meet every Thursday from 7 to 9:45 p.m. in the auditorium of Olney Hall.

Opening speaker tomorrow will be Richard Axen, associate professor of education at San Francisco State College. His subject will be, "What are the current issues and criticisms in public education?"

Succeeding speakers, all from San Francisco State College, and their subjects will be:

Oct. 13: Walcott Beatty, chairman of the division of psychology, "How deeply is psychology involved in the issues?"

Oct. 20: John Connelly, associate professor of education, "What stake does society have in the controversies"?

Oct. 27: Edith Merritt, elementary education department head, "How would the critics change our elementary schools?"

Nov. 3: Panel discussion, "What are they saying about the high school?" Fred Wilheims, professor of education, panel leader.

Nov. 10: Panel discussion, "Who shall control our schools, train our teachers and administer our schools?" Robert Smith, chairman of the division of education, panel leader.

According to County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis, the series will explore such questions as these:

How do students learn? What do we mean by the "whole child?" How does competition affect learning? What do we know about intelligence? Under what types of coercion will students learn effectively? How are we teaching reading? What is "life adjustment" education? How should we grade students?

San Francisco State College is the largest single source of teachers for Marin County's public schools.

Floods Receding

TB Patient's Wife Wins Annulment

An active tuberculosis patient from Corte Madera, who got so lonesome from enforced isolation that he skipped to Nevada and got married, was ordered yesterday to become a bachelor again.

Pearl Ragle of San Bruno, who married Walter K. Seavey, 50, of 51 Alta Terrace, Corte Madera, last May 29, won an annulment in Marin Superior Court. She told Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. that Seavey failed to tell her about his illness. She separated from him the next day when she learned of his condition.

Judge Sims granted her the annulment and restored her maiden name. Seavey did not contest the action and was not present in court.

Marin County health authorities had ordered Seavey restricted to his home last March except for periodic visits to the chest clinic in San Rafael. Instead, Seavey was seen mixing with crowds at grocery stores, then went to Washoe County, Nevada, to get married, according to Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht.

League Discusses Park, Highways

Promotion of Point Reyes National Seashore and scenic highways are the two major items of current concern to the Marin Conservation League, members were told at a meeting Monday.

Representatives of the Marin Audubon Society, Marin Rod and Gun Club, Campfire Girls, Girl Scouts and women's clubs also attended the meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Norman B. Livermore in Ross.

Mrs. Livermore stressed importance to the league of working toward federal purchase and preservation of 35,000 acres of the Point Reyes Peninsula as a national seashore.

"The alternative to this plan," she said, "is rows of houses."

The film, "An Island in Time," made on behalf of the Point Reyes project, was shown. It was announced that arrangements for showing the film to other groups may be made with Paul Wilson of College of Marin, who showed colored slides of Marin wildlife at the meeting.

Mrs. T. C. Wellman of Kentfield called for support of the Scenic Road Assn., which has been formed in opposition to the proposed four-lane Highway 1 to Stinson Beach.

"No one argues about the need for road improvement," said Mrs. Wellman, "but the kind of improvement is a matter of taste. We need a scenic highway, not a four-lane freeway."

Mrs. Livermore called attention to accomplishments of the league, and to the need for more memberships and contributions for its work on behalf of the Point Reyes National Seashore, in support of the Scenic Roads Assn., and other projects. Membership chairman is Daniel C. Davis of the Wells Fargo Bank-American Trust Co. in San Rafael.

MEN FASTER IN PARKING THAN WOMEN

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The city traffic department has established scientifically a fact which nearly every male driver will claim he has known for years: A man can park a car faster than a woman can.

The department's manager, S. S. Taylor, bravely announced yesterday the results of stop-watch tests. The average man, he said, inches into a parking space in 28.7 seconds, the average woman in 37.4 seconds.

Taylor added: "Of course—yes, certainly, of course—some women can maneuver into parking spaces faster than some men."

Sheriff Will Honor Affiliates At Dance

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos will sponsor a dinner-dance Oct. 15 at Bermuda Palms Hotel in San Rafael.

The gathering will honor all groups affiliated with the sheriff's office and their friends and guests, the sheriff announced.

"The is to give the citizens of the county an opportunity to see the types of services offered by these groups, who give unselfishly of their time, energy and out-of-pocket expenses to serve the county," Mountanos said.

The dinner-dance will begin at 7 oclock. Tickets for the public are available through the sheriff's office ticket committee, headed by Undersheriff Eugene Meyer.

The program will be opened with prayer by the Rev. Fred C. Braunschweiger of Trinity Lutheran Church, newly appointed sheriff's chaplain. Raymond H. Shone will be master of ceremonies.

Honored guests will be Capt. Frank Monte of the Marin County Mounted Posse, Capt. George Tsegeletos of the Sheriff's Underwater Rescue and Recovery Unit, Capt. Guenther Schmid the Sheriff's Marine Patrol, Capt. William Fuller of the Sheriff's Air Patrol, and Capt. Zola Peterson of the Sheriff's 4M Mounted Patrol.

Distinguished guests to be introduced include Walter R. Castro, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors; Sen. John F. McCarthy; Leo Travers, grand president of the state Native Sons of the Golden West; and other county and state officials.

Dancing to live music will follow the dinner and introductions of guests.

Demos Show Voting Gain In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Voter registration figures for the Nov. 8 presidential election announced yesterday for Los Angeles County show the Democrats gaining both numerically and percentage-wise.

In this county—most populous in the state with more than 40 per cent of California voters—Democrats now have 1,742,190 registered voters, compared with the GOP's 1,165,002.

Registrar of Voters Ben Hite said total registration in Los Angeles County, including miscellaneous parties and those who decline to state, is 3,011,379.

The Democrats now have 57.9 per cent of the registrations and the Republicans 38.7. For the 1958 general election the Democrats had a registration total of 1,601,816, or 57.3 per cent, and the Republicans 1,101,133, or 38.41 per cent.

Since the registration for the primary election last June, the Democrats have picked up 270,165 and the Republicans 165,581. At that time the Democrats had 59.7 per cent of the registration and the Republicans 40.3 per cent.

Course Series At College Of Marin To Present Public Education Issues

Educators will emerge from their ivory towers to present their case in a six-week course on "Public Education: Criticisms and Issues," which opens tomorrow night at College of Marin.

The course, which may be taken for college credit, is being sponsored jointly by the 14th District of the California Council of Parents and Teachers, College of Marin, San Francisco State College and the county superintendent of schools.

It will meet every Thursday from 7 to 9:45 p.m. in the auditorium of Olney Hall.

Opening speaker tomorrow will be Richard Axen, associate professor of education at San Francisco State College. His subject will be, "What are the current issues and criticisms in public education?"

Succeeding speakers, all from San Francisco State College, and their subjects will be:

Oct. 13: Walcott Beatty, chairman of the division of psychology, "How deeply is psychology involved in the issues?"

Oct. 20: John Connelly, associate professor of education, "What stake does society have in the controversies"?

Oct. 27: Edith Merritt, elementary education department head, "How would the critics change our elementary schools?"

Nov. 3: Panel discussion, "What are they saying about the high school?" Fred Wilheims, professor of education, panel leader.

Nov. 10: Panel discussion, "Who shall control our schools, train our teachers and administer our schools?" Robert Smith, chairman of the division of education, panel leader.

According to County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis, the series will explore such questions as these:

How do students learn? What do we mean by the "whole child?" How does competition affect learning? What do we know about intelligence? Under what types of coercion will students learn effectively? How are we teaching reading? What is "life adjustment" education? How should we grade students?

San Francisco State College is the largest single source of teachers for Marin County's public schools.

Floods Receding

LIMOGES, France (AP)—Rampant flood waters in south central France slowly receded today, but a fresh onslaught of heavy rain renewed fears of further death and destruction. Thus far nine persons have lost their lives, and unofficial estimates of damage run as high as 10 million dollars.

TB Patient's Wife Wins Annulment

An active tuberculosis patient from Corte Madera, who got so lonesome from enforced isolation that he skipped to Nevada and got married, was ordered yesterday to become a bachelor again.

Pearl Ragle of San Bruno, who married Walter K. Seavey, 50, of 51 Alta Terrace, Corte Madera, last May 29, won an annulment in Marin Superior Court. She told Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. that Seavey failed to tell her about his illness. She separated from him the next day when she learned of his condition.

Judge Sims granted her the annulment and restored her maiden name. Seavey did not contest the action and was not present in court.

Marin County health authorities had ordered Seavey restricted to his home last March except for periodic visits to the chest clinic in San Rafael. Instead, Seavey was seen mixing with crowds at grocery stores, then went to Washoe County, Nevada, to get married, according to Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht.

150 Catholics Back Theory Of Separation

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 150 Roman Catholic laymen joined today in a statement of their belief in the separation of church and state.

"Efforts which tend to undermine the principle of separation, whether they come from Catholics, Protestants or Jews, believers or unbelievers, should be resisted no matter how well-intentioned such efforts might be," the statement said.

Sponsors said the statement was nonpartisan and was signed by a representative sampling of Catholic leaders from the fields of education, business, science, politics, labor and the arts.

It made no direct mention of Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, but it referred to that in saying: "The present controversy about the Catholic Church and the presidency proves once again that large numbers of our fellow citizens seriously doubt the commitment of Catholics to the principles of a free society.

"This fact creates problems which extend far beyond this year's elections and threaten to make permanent bitter divisions in our national life."

Prof. Herrell DeGraff of Cornell University says a research program has shown that the average American family is eating more good food for less money than families in any other country in the world.

$2,700 MORE A YEAR

Mill Valley To Discuss Treasurer Fund Plea

The Mill Valley City Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. today, prior to its regular 8 p.m. meeting, in the office of the city manager to discuss a request from City Treasurer William G. Rutherford for more money for his office.

Rutherford, according to City Manager A. E. Almcrants, has asked the council for an additional $2,700 a year. The money, Almcrants said would go to additional help needed to process assessment district bonds.

Councilman George D. Monardo told the Independent-Journal today he is not in favor of granting the additional funds. He said Rutherford has $300 a month salary for his job, and that is ample.

The city treasurer's salary was raised to $300 per month just prior to Rutherford's election to the job last April. His predecessor, E. H. Daniel, received $150 a month.

Reed Trustees Again Table Building Plan

Reed Union School District trustees last night thought they had discovered a $2,000 solution to the perplexing problem of the Reed School arts and crafts building, but found an $8,000 hitch.

Architect Martin Rosse showed trustees a picture of a $2,000 prefabricated building which he suggested because bids on the arts and crafts building far exceeded his $8,000 estimate.

However, it would cost the district $8,000 to provide a foundation for the prefab, plus wiring, sewage, water and grading, he said.

Trustees decided to again table a decision until the regular meeting next Tuesday, when they expect to have a report from an official of the California State Schoolhouse Planning Department.

Trustees authorized purchase of six violins for $420.

Parent-teacher conferences in all schools of the district will be held Nov. 14-17. Classes will be excused an hour early on those days because of the conferences.

George Gregg, director of the materials center, outlined plans for an initial meeting on Nov. 10 to discuss classes in foreign languages.

Judge Martinelli In Sonoma Court

Jordan L. Martinelli, recently retired as judge of Marin Superior Court, has been assigned by the Judicial Council of California to serve temporarily as judge of Sonoma County Superior Court.

Judge Martinelli is filling in for Judge Charles J. McGoldrick, temporarily assigned to appellate court duties.

Supervisors Pass Yacht Harbor Plan

Expansion plans for the projected yacht harbor of Paradise Cay on Tiburon Peninsula met smooth sailing before the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday after weathering storm seas blown up before the planning commission by Paradise Drive residents.

The board approved Pullman Building Co.'s application to add more land, and endorsed compromises worked out by the planners to allow extension of intended operations with restrictions against commercialism.

As the application went through, this time unopposed, there was no further provision for restaurant, bar and boatel. Included were a 180-berth boat harbor, restricted launching facilities, guest house, tennis courts and other amenities for club use only.

An application by Tiburon Sanitary District for a use permit for enlargement of its sewage treatment plant on Mar West Street at Paradise Drive was continued to Oct. 11.

Also continued to Oct. 11 was the already-continued wrangle of Drake Beach Estates, on Point Reyes, over a list of requirements given the developers by Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham concerning three-quarters of a mile of county road to be built.

Petroglyphs (or carvings) done by a people unknown to archeologists can be found in Washington State Park in Missouri.

Supervisors Request Clearance For Airport

Two actions by the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday moved toward enlargement of the new county airport near Novato, and sought more light on prospects for seaplane operation on Richardson Bay.

Supervisors William Gnoss of Novato and Vera L. Schultz of Mill Valley indulged in brief battle over aeronautic possibilities in their areas, with Gnoss supporting use of gasoline tax funds on land, and Mrs. Schultz "optimistic" over prospects on water.

Concering the airport, the board directed that Planning Director Mary Summers proceed with filing of an application for federal air space clearance, required for a longer runway in a recently approved airport master plan.

Supervisors got into argument over a request by Luther W. Conover, owner of the Trade Fair in Sausalito, that the county abandon condemnation proceedings against Richardson Bay property sought for expansion of seaplane facilities. Conover proposes to move the Trade Fair, which is housed in the ferry boat Berkeley, from its present Sausalito site to the property.

Supervisors Gnoss and William D. Fusselman questioned the wisdom of expanding seaplane facilities, pointing out that Commodore Aviation went bankrupt on a Marin seaplane operation. However, County Counsel Leland H. Jordan reported Seid Aviation Corp., operating at Commodore's former location, is doing well.

The board finally decided to get an estimate on seaplane potential, and asked Jensen and the planning department to prepare it.

Emergency Count Proves Inmates There

San Quentin Prison officials ordered an emergency count early today but all inmates proved to be right where they should have been.

Prison personnel saw three "suspicious looking" persons climbing a hill near the prison at 7 a.m. but the check showed no one missing, according to Associate Warden Dale G. Frady.

Rallies Set For Dupuis

Rallies for Fred G. Dupuis of Tiburon, Republican candidate for Congress, will be held tonight at the Corte Madera Recreation Center on Tamalpais Drive and tomorrow night at the Bermuda Palms in San Rafael.

Tonight's rally will begin at 7:30 and include free refreshments, entertainment by a barbershop quartet and a talk by Dupuis.

Before the rally the candidate will be introduced at a coffee hour in Terra Linda.

Dupuis also will be introduced at neighborhood coffee hours tomorrow in San Rafael. He will speak at the rally starting at 8 p.m.

Larkspur Council Meets Tonight

The developers of a proposed 50-lot subdivision in Madrone Canyon are scheduled to appear before the Larkspur City Council at 8 o'clock tonight to continue discussion on forming an assessment district to finance the project.

The council is scheduled to hear a report as to the legality of a bulkhead being erected by P. L. Pinotti at 60 Hazel Avenue.

Plans for extension of Doherty Drive will be presented to the council for approval, with the possibility that bids may be called for the job if approved.

"MAKE UP YOUR MIND, SON..."

Much can depend upon a proper choice. Happiness . . . personal success or failure . . . financial gain or loss. So, as Pete's father knows, it is important that a boy learn how to make the right decisions. Pete has learned well. He chose between idleness and frequent "hand outs" from Dad and a profitable newspaper route, a growing business of his own. He chose between frittering his earnings away and saving a part of them toward a college education or something else really worth-while. He chose to stand on his own two feet—the pride of his parents and the envy of his friends. As a newspaperboy he is building solidly for the future.

League Discusses Park, Highways

Promotion of Point Reyes National Seashore and scenic highways are the two major items of current concern to the Marin Conservation League, members were told at a meeting Monday.

Representatives of the Marin Audubon Society, Marin Rod and Gun Club, Campfire Girls, Girl Scouts and women's clubs also attended the meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Norman B. Livermore in Ross.

Mrs. Livermore stressed importance to the league of working toward federal purchase and preservation of 35,000 acres of the Point Reyes Peninsula as a national seashore.

"The alternative to this plan," she said, "is rows of houses."

The film, "An Island in Time," made on behalf of the Point Reyes project, was shown. It was announced that arrangements for showing the film to other groups may be made with Paul Wilson of College of Marin, who showed colored slides of Marin wildlife at the meeting.

Mrs. T. C. Wellman of Kentfield called for support of the Scenic Road Assn., which has been formed in opposition to the proposed four-lane Highway 1 to Stinson Beach.

"No one argues about the need for road improvement," said Mrs. Wellman, "but the kind of improvement is a matter of taste. We need a scenic highway, not a four-lane freeway."

Mrs. Livermore called attention to accomplishments of the league, and to the need for more memberships and contributions for its work on behalf of the Point Reyes National Seashore, in support of the Scenic Roads Assn., and other projects. Membership chairman is Daniel C. Davis of the Wells Fargo Bank-American Trust Co. in San Rafael.

MEN FASTER IN PARKING THAN WOMEN

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The city traffic department has established scientifically a fact which nearly every male driver will claim he has known for years: A man can park a car faster than a woman can.

The department's manager, S. S. Taylor, bravely announced yesterday the results of stop-watch tests. The average man, he said, inches into a parking space in 28.7 seconds, the average woman in 37.4 seconds.

Taylor added: "Of course—yes, certainly, of course—some women can maneuver into parking spaces faster than some men."

Sheriff Will Honor Affiliates At Dance

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos will sponsor a dinner-dance Oct. 15 at Bermuda Palms Hotel in San Rafael.

The gathering will honor all groups affiliated with the sheriff's office and their friends and guests, the sheriff announced.

"The is to give the citizens of the county an opportunity to see the types of services offered by these groups, who give unselfishly of their time, energy and out-of-pocket expenses to serve the county," Mountanos said.

The dinner-dance will begin at 7 oclock. Tickets for the public are available through the sheriff's office ticket committee, headed by Undersheriff Eugene Meyer.

The program will be opened with prayer by the Rev. Fred C. Braunschweiger of Trinity Lutheran Church, newly appointed sheriff's chaplain. Raymond H. Shone will be master of ceremonies.

Honored guests will be Capt. Frank Monte of the Marin County Mounted Posse, Capt. George Tsegeletos of the Sheriff's Underwater Rescue and Recovery Unit, Capt. Guenther Schmid the Sheriff's Marine Patrol, Capt. William Fuller of the Sheriff's Air Patrol, and Capt. Zola Peterson of the Sheriff's 4M Mounted Patrol.

Distinguished guests to be introduced include Walter R. Castro, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors; Sen. John F. McCarthy; Leo Travers, grand president of the state Native Sons of the Golden West; and other county and state officials.

Dancing to live music will follow the dinner and introductions of guests.

Demos Show Voting Gain In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Voter registration figures for the Nov. 8 presidential election announced yesterday for Los Angeles County show the Democrats gaining both numerically and percentage-wise.

In this county—most populous in the state with more than 40 per cent of California voters—Democrats now have 1,742,190 registered voters, compared with the GOP's 1,165,002.

Registrar of Voters Ben Hite said total registration in Los Angeles County, including miscellaneous parties and those who decline to state, is 3,011,379.

The Democrats now have 57.9 per cent of the registrations and the Republicans 38.7. For the 1958 general election the Democrats had a registration total of 1,601,816, or 57.3 per cent, and the Republicans 1,101,133, or 38.41 per cent.

Since the registration for the primary election last June, the Democrats have picked up 270,165 and the Republicans 165,581. At that time the Democrats had 59.7 per cent of the registration and the Republicans 40.3 per cent.

Governor Rejects Proposition 15

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown says Proposition 15, which would divide California's 20 senators between North and South, should be defeated. Instead, Brown said yesterday, a commission should study the question of reapportionment.

Brown, at a news conference, conceded to reporters that a change was needed but urged a "careful, fair, scientific reapportionment based on recommendations of an official state commission composed of leading citizens including farm, industry and labor representatives and members of the legislature."

"It is impossible for one man to represent adequately the entire population of Los Angeles County," he said. "I doubt that any one senator can adequately represent more than one million people."

Also present were Sen. Hugh M. Burns (D-Fresno) and Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael), who agreed with Brown on Proposition 15 but said apportionment should not be tied to any particular number of constituents.

DRY LAND SAILORS LEARN OF SEA IN TRIP FROM FIJI IN SCHOONER

HONOLULU (UPI)—The schooner Babboon took twice the usual time to make the 4,250-mile trip here from Fiji in a voyage plagued by disaster. But the undaunted crew plans to sail on as soon as the 72-year-old craft is repaired.

The Fiji to Hawaii trip was made under these circumstances:

Skipper Harry MacPherson of Fiji had done all his previous deep sea sailing aboard freighters.

Navigator Gene Laughlin of Newport Beach, can't read a sextant.

The other two crewmen, Charles Chaplin of London and Maxwell Hoe of Fiji, had no previous sailing experience.

A storm shattered the schooner's stern.

The crew had to get food from a passing aircraft carrier to keep from starving.

The Babboon hit windless weather—with land in sight.

The crew had to pump the bilges every three hours to keep the vessel from sinking.

The adventurers feel they now can be classed as veteran seamen. They plan to sail on to Los Angeles.

Scholarships Given By U.S.

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Federally financed scholarships averaging $2,620 each have been awarded 58 Californians by the State Social Welfare Department for a year's study in child welfare.

About half those given awards are on leave from county welfare departments.

As a condition of qualifying for the scholarships, all recipients agreed to work afterward for a least a year in one of California's county welfare departments.

Ranch Hand Talks Soledad Escapee Into Giving Up

SAN JOSE (AP)—"Why don't you give yourself up?" a ranch hand asked an armed escapee from Soledad State Prison.

"You haven't got a chance to get away," said Leo Cronin, 48. "The country around here is full of officers."

He was right. More than 100 heavily armed men, aided by helicopters, beat the brush around Pacheco Pass yesterday for two of the three men who fled the prison Monday.

After a half-hour conversation, Los Angeles robber Edward Wilby, 21, gave Cronin his pistol and turned himself in to a highway patrolman.

A short time later, the third convict, Shirley Pierce, 24, a Tulare car thief and kidnaper, waved down another highway patrol car and surrendered.

The other escapee, Donald Frotten, 28-year-old Los Angeles robber, was caught Monday.

Cronin, attracted by a dog's barking, had found Wilby hiding in bushes. Wilby had turned the pistol on Cronin

The three convicts were booked at Santa Clara County jail in San Jose on escape and assault charges.

150 Catholics Back Theory Of Separation

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 150 Roman Catholic laymen joined today in a statement of their belief in the separation of church and state.

"Efforts which tend to undermine the principle of separation, whether they come from Catholics, Protestants or Jews, believers or unbelievers, should be resisted no matter how well-intentioned such efforts might be," the statement said.

Sponsors said the statement was nonpartisan and was signed by a representative sampling of Catholic leaders from the fields of education, business, science, politics, labor and the arts.

It made no direct mention of Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, but it referred to that in saying: "The present controversy about the Catholic Church and the presidency proves once again that large numbers of our fellow citizens seriously doubt the commitment of Catholics to the principles of a free society.

"This fact creates problems which extend far beyond this year's elections and threaten to make permanent bitter divisions in our national life."

Prof. Herrell DeGraff of Cornell University says a research program has shown that the average American family is eating more good food for less money than families in any other country in the world.

$2,700 MORE A YEAR

Mill Valley To Discuss Treasurer Fund Plea

The Mill Valley City Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. today, prior to its regular 8 p.m. meeting, in the office of the city manager to discuss a request from City Treasurer William G. Rutherford for more money for his office.

Rutherford, according to City Manager A. E. Almcrants, has asked the council for an additional $2,700 a year. The money, Almcrants said would go to additional help needed to process assessment district bonds.

Councilman George D. Monardo told the Independent-Journal today he is not in favor of granting the additional funds. He said Rutherford has $300 a month salary for his job, and that is ample.

The city treasurer's salary was raised to $300 per month just prior to Rutherford's election to the job last April. His predecessor, E. H. Daniel, received $150 a month.

Supervisors Pass Yacht Harbor Plan

Expansion plans for the projected yacht harbor of Paradise Cay on Tiburon Peninsula met smooth sailing before the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday after weathering storm seas blown up before the planning commission by Paradise Drive residents.

The board approved Pullman Building Co.'s application to add more land, and endorsed compromises worked out by the planners to allow extension of intended operations with restrictions against commercialism.

As the application went through, this time unopposed, there was no further provision for restaurant, bar and boatel. Included were a 180-berth boat harbor, restricted launching facilities, guest house, tennis courts and other amenities for club use only.

An application by Tiburon Sanitary District for a use permit for enlargement of its sewage treatment plant on Mar West Street at Paradise Drive was continued to Oct. 11.

Also continued to Oct. 11 was the already-continued wrangle of Drake Beach Estates, on Point Reyes, over a list of requirements given the developers by Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham concerning three-quarters of a mile of county road to be built.

Petroglyphs (or carvings) done by a people unknown to archeologists can be found in Washington State Park in Missouri.

Reed Trustees Again Table Building Plan

Reed Union School District trustees last night thought they had discovered a $2,000 solution to the perplexing problem of the Reed School arts and crafts building, but found an $8,000 hitch.

Architect Martin Rosse showed trustees a picture of a $2,000 prefabricated building which he suggested because bids on the arts and crafts building far exceeded his $8,000 estimate.

However, it would cost the district $8,000 to provide a foundation for the prefab, plus wiring, sewage, water and grading, he said.

Trustees decided to again table a decision until the regular meeting next Tuesday, when they expect to have a report from an official of the California State Schoolhouse Planning Department.

Trustees authorized purchase of six violins for $420.

Parent-teacher conferences in all schools of the district will be held Nov. 14-17. Classes will be excused an hour early on those days because of the conferences.

George Gregg, director of the materials center, outlined plans for an initial meeting on Nov. 10 to discuss classes in foreign languages.

Judge Martinelli In Sonoma Court

Jordan L. Martinelli, recently retired as judge of Marin Superior Court, has been assigned by the Judicial Council of California to serve temporarily as judge of Sonoma County Superior Court.

Judge Martinelli is filling in for Judge Charles J. McGoldrick, temporarily assigned to appellate court duties.

Supervisors Request Clearance For Airport

Two actions by the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday moved toward enlargement of the new county airport near Novato, and sought more light on prospects for seaplane operation on Richardson Bay.

Supervisors William Gnoss of Novato and Vera L. Schultz of Mill Valley indulged in brief battle over aeronautic possibilities in their areas, with Gnoss supporting use of gasoline tax funds on land, and Mrs. Schultz "optimistic" over prospects on water.

Concering the airport, the board directed that Planning Director Mary Summers proceed with filing of an application for federal air space clearance, required for a longer runway in a recently approved airport master plan.

Supervisors got into argument over a request by Luther W. Conover, owner of the Trade Fair in Sausalito, that the county abandon condemnation proceedings against Richardson Bay property sought for expansion of seaplane facilities. Conover proposes to move the Trade Fair, which is housed in the ferry boat Berkeley, from its present Sausalito site to the property.

Supervisors Gnoss and William D. Fusselman questioned the wisdom of expanding seaplane facilities, pointing out that Commodore Aviation went bankrupt on a Marin seaplane operation. However, County Counsel Leland H. Jordan reported Seid Aviation Corp., operating at Commodore's former location, is doing well.

The board finally decided to get an estimate on seaplane potential, and asked Jensen and the planning department to prepare it.

Emergency Count Proves Inmates There

San Quentin Prison officials ordered an emergency count early today but all inmates proved to be right where they should have been.

Prison personnel saw three "suspicious looking" persons climbing a hill near the prison at 7 a.m. but the check showed no one missing, according to Associate Warden Dale G. Frady.

Rallies Set For Dupuis

Rallies for Fred G. Dupuis of Tiburon, Republican candidate for Congress, will be held tonight at the Corte Madera Recreation Center on Tamalpais Drive and tomorrow night at the Bermuda Palms in San Rafael.

Tonight's rally will begin at 7:30 and include free refreshments, entertainment by a barbershop quartet and a talk by Dupuis.

Before the rally the candidate will be introduced at a coffee hour in Terra Linda.

Dupuis also will be introduced at neighborhood coffee hours tomorrow in San Rafael. He will speak at the rally starting at 8 p.m.

Larkspur Council Meets Tonight

The developers of a proposed 50-lot subdivision in Madrone Canyon are scheduled to appear before the Larkspur City Council at 8 o'clock tonight to continue discussion on forming an assessment district to finance the project.

The council is scheduled to hear a report as to the legality of a bulkhead being erected by P. L. Pinotti at 60 Hazel Avenue.

Plans for extension of Doherty Drive will be presented to the council for approval, with the possibility that bids may be called for the job if approved.

Brown Paints Foreboding Picture Of Economy At Real Estate Meet

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown has warned that California's labor force is growing faster than the number of jobs available.

Brown painted a foreboding picture of the state's economy yesterday for 4,500 delegates at the 56th annual convention of the California Real Estate Assn. The conclave will continue through tomorrow.

Brown said civilian employment was up in the state 2 per cent from a year ago and personal income 6.6 per cent ahead of 1959. "It should be noted, however, that despite this increase, the number of new jobs developed in California did not keep pace with our rapidly expanding labor force," he added.

He pointed out that construction jobs were up only 2½ per cent in August over last year—"far from a satisfactory increase." Home building dropped 15 per cent, he said.

"Clearly continued impetus must be given to the California economy so that new employment will stay abreast of our zooming population . . . which is expected to reach 22 million by 1970."

He assured the delegates that he will not ask any new tax measures at the 1961 session of the legislature next year. He also drew applause when he said the state was working on stricter enforcement on all regulations involving issuance of real estate licenses.

Keynote speaker at yesterday's first full sesion was Martin B. McKneally, the national commander of the American Legion.

He called the right to hold private property a "sacred right, and is disregarded at freedom's peril."

He lambasted Soviet Premier Khrushchev and charged that he seeks "nothing less than the domination of the earth and all its peoples."

C. Armel Nutter of Philadelphia, president of the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards, predicted that 1960-61 will not be a boom year for real estate men.

The first person to raise the American flag on foreign territory was Commodore Esek Hopkins, first commander-in-chief of the Continental Navy. Hopkins planted the American flag at New Providence, in the Bahama Islands, in 1776.

Governor Rejects Proposition 15

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown says Proposition 15, which would divide California's 20 senators between North and South, should be defeated. Instead, Brown said yesterday, a commission should study the question of reapportionment.

Brown, at a news conference, conceded to reporters that a change was needed but urged a "careful, fair, scientific reapportionment based on recommendations of an official state commission composed of leading citizens including farm, industry and labor representatives and members of the legislature."

"It is impossible for one man to represent adequately the entire population of Los Angeles County," he said. "I doubt that any one senator can adequately represent more than one million people."

Also present were Sen. Hugh M. Burns (D-Fresno) and Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael), who agreed with Brown on Proposition 15 but said apportionment should not be tied to any particular number of constituents.

DRY LAND SAILORS LEARN OF SEA IN TRIP FROM FIJI IN SCHOONER

HONOLULU (UPI)—The schooner Babboon took twice the usual time to make the 4,250-mile trip here from Fiji in a voyage plagued by disaster. But the undaunted crew plans to sail on as soon as the 72-year-old craft is repaired.

The Fiji to Hawaii trip was made under these circumstances:

Skipper Harry MacPherson of Fiji had done all his previous deep sea sailing aboard freighters.

Navigator Gene Laughlin of Newport Beach, can't read a sextant.

The other two crewmen, Charles Chaplin of London and Maxwell Hoe of Fiji, had no previous sailing experience.

A storm shattered the schooner's stern.

The crew had to get food from a passing aircraft carrier to keep from starving.

The Babboon hit windless weather—with land in sight.

The crew had to pump the bilges every three hours to keep the vessel from sinking.

The adventurers feel they now can be classed as veteran seamen. They plan to sail on to Los Angeles.

Scholarships Given By U.S.

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Federally financed scholarships averaging $2,620 each have been awarded 58 Californians by the State Social Welfare Department for a year's study in child welfare.

About half those given awards are on leave from county welfare departments.

As a condition of qualifying for the scholarships, all recipients agreed to work afterward for a least a year in one of California's county welfare departments.

Ranch Hand Talks Soledad Escapee Into Giving Up

SAN JOSE (AP)—"Why don't you give yourself up?" a ranch hand asked an armed escapee from Soledad State Prison.

"You haven't got a chance to get away," said Leo Cronin, 48. "The country around here is full of officers."

He was right. More than 100 heavily armed men, aided by helicopters, beat the brush around Pacheco Pass yesterday for two of the three men who fled the prison Monday.

After a half-hour conversation, Los Angeles robber Edward Wilby, 21, gave Cronin his pistol and turned himself in to a highway patrolman.

A short time later, the third convict, Shirley Pierce, 24, a Tulare car thief and kidnaper, waved down another highway patrol car and surrendered.

The other escapee, Donald Frotten, 28-year-old Los Angeles robber, was caught Monday.

Cronin, attracted by a dog's barking, had found Wilby hiding in bushes. Wilby had turned the pistol on Cronin

The three convicts were booked at Santa Clara County jail in San Jose on escape and assault charges.

Session On Aging Ends, Question On More Medical Care Unsolved

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Governor's Conference on Aging came up with recommendations for combatting dozens of problems facing the aged, but most of the attention — and controversy — was centered on medical care.

The question facing the two-day gathering was how to finance expanded care. But when the 1,800 delegates adjourned yesterday, the question remained unresolved.

Labor delegates blamed the stalemate on "disgraceful Khrushchev-like tactics" they charged were used by California Medical Association delegates to force a minority viewpoint on the conference.

Labor had pressed for pre-paid public programs financed from employer and employee contributions—to social security nationally and to the unemployment compensation disability fund in California.

The result was that the report of the conference section on medical care noted that present sources of financing aged medical care are inadequate, but that there was "substantial disagreement" on how to finance a needed new plan.

Filing a minority report calling for a pre-paid plan, labor charged, however, that the disagreement was not as substantial as it appeared because "flying squad" of doctors had ran from section to section in the conference to cast votes.

Both reports will be passed to the governor to be used in developing California's position at the White House Conference on Aging next year.

On other subjects, the conference recommended that:

All California counties establish special planning agencies for aged services, receiving new state funds to add to their social welfare staffs.

Federal legislation be passed to build 10,000 homes a year for the aged, to provide at least $100,000 in housing loans in 1961-62, and to finance intensive research into problems of the aged.

The state enact a bond-financed, self-liquidating loan program for aged housing, provide more funds for adult education, and repeal the law requiring families to contribute to the care of needy relatives.

Forced retirement at 65 be abandoned and broader counseling and placement services be provided older workers.

The present minimum monthly social security benefit of $33 be re-examined to determine if it is outmoded.

Brown Paints Foreboding Picture Of Economy At Real Estate Meet

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown has warned that California's labor force is growing faster than the number of jobs available.

Brown painted a foreboding picture of the state's economy yesterday for 4,500 delegates at the 56th annual convention of the California Real Estate Assn. The conclave will continue through tomorrow.

Brown said civilian employment was up in the state 2 per cent from a year ago and personal income 6.6 per cent ahead of 1959. "It should be noted, however, that despite this increase, the number of new jobs developed in California did not keep pace with our rapidly expanding labor force," he added.

He pointed out that construction jobs were up only 2½ per cent in August over last year—"far from a satisfactory increase." Home building dropped 15 per cent, he said.

"Clearly continued impetus must be given to the California economy so that new employment will stay abreast of our zooming population . . . which is expected to reach 22 million by 1970."

He assured the delegates that he will not ask any new tax measures at the 1961 session of the legislature next year. He also drew applause when he said the state was working on stricter enforcement on all regulations involving issuance of real estate licenses.

Keynote speaker at yesterday's first full sesion was Martin B. McKneally, the national commander of the American Legion.

He called the right to hold private property a "sacred right, and is disregarded at freedom's peril."

He lambasted Soviet Premier Khrushchev and charged that he seeks "nothing less than the domination of the earth and all its peoples."

C. Armel Nutter of Philadelphia, president of the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards, predicted that 1960-61 will not be a boom year for real estate men.

The first person to raise the American flag on foreign territory was Commodore Esek Hopkins, first commander-in-chief of the Continental Navy. Hopkins planted the American flag at New Providence, in the Bahama Islands, in 1776.

Rumors Fly: Scheffing To Giants, Rigney To Detroit

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Casey Stengel probably will remain as manager of the New York Yankees, and Ralph Houk, widely considered Stengel's successor, probably will become the manager of the Detroit Tigers.

This managerial turnabout shaped up today in the wake of the firing of Manager Bob Elliott by Kansas City, Lou Boudreau's resignation at Chicago and Joe Gordon's walkout at Detroit.

Other reports circulating at World Series headquarters were:

1. Gordon will manage the Athletics. This was verified today as fact.

2. Bob Scheffing, just resigned as a Milwaukee Braves' coach, has the inside track to succeed Tom Sheehan as manager of the San Francisco Giants. The only thing positive is that Sheehan will not return in 1961.

3. Bill Rigney, replaced by Sheehan as Giant manager last May, is a leading candidate for the managing job with the Chicago Cubs. Fact: Rigney has applied for the Detroit job.

No rumors, but actual happenings, although not yet announced, are the signing of Don Heffner as Detroit coach and the hiring of Mel McGaha as Cleveland coach. Heffner recently was given his release as coach by the Athletics. McGaha managed Toronto to the International League championship, but lost to Louisville in the Little World Series.

Houk, regarded in New York as heir apparent to Stengel's throne when the 70-year-old wizard of the dugouts quits, apparently has given up hope of ever succeeding the old man.

"I'm receptive to a good offer," he said. "I'm getting older and I can't afford to let too many more years slip by."

A year ago, Houk, 41, rejected a bid to manage the Athletics, preferring to remain with the Yankees as a coach.

"It's difficult to discuss a managerial job with anybody currently on another club," said Detroit President Bill DeWitt. "Houk has lots of qualifications and he's very highly respected by everybody in baseball, including me, but right now we are not yet ready to consider a manager. We have other matters to solve.

"Nothing will be done until after the World Series," he added.

It has been reported the Tigers' board of directors, who postponed an important policy meeting until Oct. 12 in Detroit, has decided to curtail some of DeWitt's power. DeWitt had free reign in trades and hiring and firing of personnel, including managers.

Houk's decision to consider employment was taken as a sign that Stengel would remain with the Yankees.

"I think Casey will stay," said a top New York official, "at least I hope he does. Two months ago, I would have bet anything he would quit. I have changed my mind."

Antonelli Claims 'I'll Never Pitch For The Giants Again'

'Wind' Statement Blamed For Rift With Bosses

By JACK HANLEY
I-J Correspondent

Johnny Antonelli, packing his bags in the Giant clubhouse as the 1960 baseball season closed in Candlestick Park, was asked: "Will you be back?" And he replied: "No. I've pitched my last game for the Giants."

"Are you retiring from baseball?"

"No, I would be foolish to retire in my prime. However, if retirement is the only answer then it will have to be that."

"Why?"

"Because there is a mutual feeling, on my part and that of the Giant management, that I have outlived my usefulness as a member of this team. I felt it early this season. When I realized it was affecting my pitching I asked to be traded."

Antonelli said he was informed a satisfactory deal could not be made and the Giant management would not risk attempting to waive him past the seven other National League clubs for any trade into the American League.

"Waivers will not be necessary this winter when interleague trading is permissible," Antonelli said. "So I expect to be traded into the American League."

ARM FEELS GOOD

Antonelli was reluctant to discuss his rift with the Giant management until it was pointed out that silence would only invite speculation that might prove harmful not only to him but to the Giant management seeking a beneficial trade.

"For instance, there might be guesses your arm has given out because your 6-7 record this year was anything but impressive," he was told.

"If my arm were not sound," he said, "I definitely would get out of the game. It feels as good right now as when I posted that 21-7 record in the Giants' last pennant year of 1954.

"Things haven't been the same between myself and the Giant management ever since my 'wind statement' a year ago in denouncing old Seals Stadium. I got a pretty good going over in the newspapers for that and while I was getting worked over there was not one word from the Giant management in my behalf.

EDITORIAL TARGET

"Maybe I'm too sensitive. Maybe I have too much pride. I didn't mind the sports page comments so much but I thought a word from the front office was in order when I became an editorial page target.

"It was suggested to me that I make some kind of conciliatory statement. I refused because I felt I was right. I still do. When I reported to Phoenix for spring training this year I said the book was closed on the 'wind business' as far as I was concerned.

"Then, it was all rehashed just before the season opened in a story that portrayed me as having 'a million monkeys on my back' whenever I pitched in San Francisco. The fact that I replied to that story saying it made me nauseous had little effect. The first story always seems to get the big play, the denial a secondary spot.

GORDON SIGNS AS MANAGER OF ATHLETICS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Joe Gordon today signed a two-year contract to manage the Kansas City Athletics.

Gordon, in a surprise move, quit the Detroit Tigers Monday following an unprecedented mangerial swap which had sent him from Cleveland to Detroit last summer in exchange for Manager Jimmy Dykes.

The former second baseman of the New York Yankees and Indians agreed to terms following a half-hour conference with Parke Carroll, general manager of the Kansas City club.

"Everything is fine, I feel we can do a good job in Kansas City. We have a lot of young fellows and that's what I like," said Gordon.

"I have two or three things in mind but I cannot say what they are right now."

The Athletics Monday fired Bob Elliott as manager. They had him only last year. His entire coaching staff went with him.

The Athletics finished a poor last this year, losing nearly 100 games.

Fishing Pier Would Have Safety Rails

A safe fishing pier for Marin Youngsters, proposed along the Tiburon waterfront, would have safety facilities such as railings and may even include a lifeguard eventually.

These hopes were expressed today by Supervisor-elect J. Walter Blair, who is sparking a campaign to provide a fishing spot for children at Tiburon. Fred G. Zelinsky of Belvedere, painting contractor, has agreed to serve as chairman for the campaign.

Blair envisages a pier about 100 to 150 feet long, built rather low to the water so that youngsters will not get dizzy. For the safety of young anglers, he said some type of rail should be installed, and perhaps life preservers and even a life guard.

Last Saturday, an 11-year-old San Rafael boy, fishing from the old railroad pier in Tiburon, fell to his death among the pilings.

Bears Ready For Full 60-Minute Effort Vs. WSC

BERKELEY (UPI) — Coach Marv Levy waxed optimistic yesterday that his California Bears could win their first contest Saturday against Washington State.

He scrimmaged his charges and then said "the team has been showing good fire. I think it intends to play a full 60-minute game this week." This referred to the fact that California has looked tough during the first half of each of its losses, but then faded.

Halfbacks Bill Patton, Jim Burress and Bob Wills returned to contact drills after being injured, but two other halfbacks will miss the Cougar contest. Jack Trumbo has a bad knee and Alex Jamille a concussion.

Sheehan Agrees Johnny On Block To Be Traded

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—If Tom Sheehan still has anything to say, Johnny Antonelli has pitched his last game for the San Francisco Giants.

Sheehan, who finished out the 1960 season as San Francisco manager and reportedly on the way out himself, said today that Antonelli, once the pride of the Giants staff, is on the block and will be traded "for whatever we can get in like value."

Antonelli, who won 19 games for the Giants in 1959, slipped to 6-7 with only 112 innings of work this year. Most of his performances were mediocre as Bill Rigney, let out in July, and Sheehan both soured on the lefthander.

The 30-year-old Antonelli who has won 108 games and lost 84 in seven seasons with the Giants, first got in Rigney's "doghouse" late in the 1959 season when he refused to serve in relief with the Giants battling for the National League pennant.

ARM INJURED

He hurt his arm during spring training this year and got off to a late start. When he finally was able to pitch, he lacked his old time zip and was relegated to the bullpen.

Sheehan kept Antonelli there when he took over for Rigney, working him on rare occasions. In six previous season Antonelli was one of the club's star pitchers, working on an average of 220 innings each season.

His best season was in 1954 when he won 21 games as the Giants took the N.L. pennant. He followed that up with two top-notch performances in the World Series sweep over the Cleveland Indians.

BOWLING

High scorer in the recent "Hits and Mrs." league at the Greenbrae Lanes was Peggy McMurtry of Altermatt Equipment with high game of 214 and a total of 512.

Runner up was Cherie Frye with 189 and Doris Bauman of Corte Madera Hardware with 180. Other scorers were Alice Chapman (156); Day Meherin of Kentfield Pet (168); Blanche Altermatt of Altermatt Equipment (166); Dempy Mooromsky of R. and M. Style (150); Cherie Gilmore of Kentfield Pet (166); Lauralee Curtis of Ranis Auto Works (157), and Jackie Filipelli (145).

In the Splitniks League high scorer at Greenbrae Lanes was Barbara Hettrock of Marin Felt who threw a 200 game. She is runner up in series play however with 455 to Lucille Latson of W. L. Hickey and Son who stacked up 467 and a high game of 184.

Consistent bowler Millie Burgess of unsponsored team No. 11 recorded the high series of the week with 493 points by bowling two games of 163 and one of 167.

Dan Brodie and his staff are the official scorers and statisticians for the 49ers home games in Kezar Stadium.

Brodie and his men are as dispassionate as slide rules in their meticulous tallying of yardage on punts, passes, runs and field goals. But they are as emotional as fans in the stands when describing key plays.

THERE IS NO difficulty whatsoever in detecting they are hot 49er fans, despite the fact official play-by-play reports, destined for NFL archives, should be neutral and uninspired accounts of league games in Kezar.

Brodie and his competent assistants, Dick Conner, Bill Hall and George Ross should try a little more diligently to control their emotions. The adjective "beautiful" continually creeps into their descriptions of completed 49er passes and runs but rarely is used to describe substantial enemy yardage through the air or on the ground.

Their displeasure with the officiating in the season opener which the New York Giants won was plainly stated, not inferred. "Tittle passed over the middle to Stickles for 14, officials blew quick whistle and did not allow subsequent lateral," is one example. "Tittle's pass for Connor was incomplete, officials overlooked apparent interference penalty on Lynch," is another.

AS OFTEN AS "beautiful" is used on nifty plays that click, "barely" gets a good workout on passes or field goals that miss. You can readily tell from the following that Brodie and his men were emotionally spent in the closing seconds of the Giant game:

"3/10/31. 0:43 to play. Tittle's pass for Sickles over middle was barely incomplete.

"4/10/31. Davis' attempted field goal from 38 was barely wide to left."

THEIR PLAY-BY-PLAY report of the Ram-49er game contained one gem of editorial comment: "Ryan's pass for Phillips was broken up beautifully by Mertens—officials called Mertens for pass interference for perhaps the strangest call of the season."

Stick around a little longer, men, and you probably will see even stranger stuff because the season is still young. If you keep expending your emotions so recklessly, with four games still to be played by the 49ers in Kezar, you will be exhausted—emotionally, that is—before the season is over.

Solons Club Up For Sale

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Sacramento Solons baseball team of the Class AAA Pacific Coast League was for sale today.

The team's board of directors voted yesterday to dissolve the club in a 7-0 vote. One director abstained.

The Solons, who have operated in Sacramento every year but three since 1903, thus appeared destined for a new home next year.

Honolulu and Albuquerque have been mentioned as possible sites for the team if it is moved, but Solon Pres. W. B. Golsong said yesterday that no official offers for the club have yet been received.

The Solons lost an estimated $75,000 this year and had been shooting for $100,000 in a new ticket drive. Golsong said the ticket plan raised just $25,128 in nine days.

Friend: Yanks No Tougher Than Braves

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Friend, half of Pittsburgh's right-handed pitching pride, doesn't think the New York Yankees should be any tougher than the Milwaukee Braves, the club the Pirates left squatting in second in the National League race.

Friend, an 18-game winner who was 3-1 against Milwaukee, which lost 13 of 22 to the Bucs, is the starting choice in tomorrow's second game of the World Series. Vern Law, the other right-handed ace won 20.

"I haven't seen too much of the Yankees," Friend admitted, "but they're a lot like the Braves with their power. And I don't see how they could be tougher. They don't have a hitter like Hank Aaron. And Ed Mathews can almost match them.

"You can compare Mathews with Mickey Mantle, and Aaron with Bill Skowron."

Friend said the reports of the Pirate scouting staff on the Yankees didn't change his thinking on how he would pitch to the A.L. champs.

"You hear that you beat the Yankees with curve balls and other breaking pitches. But I think a good fast ball still is the No. 1 pitch against anybody," said Friend.

Ho-Hum, Brown Is Top NFL Gainer

NEW YORK (AP) — National League pro football is getting monotonous in one respect — Jimmy Brown is leading the circuit's ground-gainers again.

The big Cleveland Brown's line buster has led the league in ball carrying for the past three seasons.

Today, after two games, league statistics revealed Brown has run up 240 yards on 43 carries for an average of 5.6 yards per attempt. Only six yards behind and with virtually the same average gain is Green Bay's Jim Taylor with 234 yards on 42 carries.

SERIES TIDBITS

Schallock Picks Ex-Yankee Mates

Art Schallock of San Rafael is picking the Yankees to win the World Series this year.

He made his choice, he says, not because he used to play with the Yankees, or even because he thinks they have the better team.

Actually he thinks the Pittsburgh Pirates "are better on paper—man for man, hitting and pitching. But they're young and they haven't had the experience the Yankees have had in Series play. They're likely to get stage fright. The Yankees are used to the pressure."

Schallock, now retired from baseball and head of the business development department at the California Pacific Title Co. in San Rafael, knows all about the pressure of World Series play. Seven years ago when the Yanks were playing Brooklyn in the Series, he was one of their pitchers.

SCARED TO DEATH

He says his most vivid memory of the 1953 Series is "that long walk from the bullpen to the mound. I was scared to death. But it was a big thrill, too. After all, every ball player's ambition is to play in the World Series."

Schallock pitched the seventh and eighth innings in the fourth game of the 1953 series, retiring the side in the seventh and allowing only one hit in the eighth. When he went to the mound, the score was 10 to 5 in favor of Brooklyn. It ended 11 to 9 with Brooklyn still on top, but the Yankees won the pennant for the fifth time in a row.

Schallock says that one reason he is rooting for his old outfit is that he would like to see a second Marin player now with the Yankees, Joe DeMaestri of San Anselmo, on a pennant-winning team.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—"No Irish family ever is small," a guy said to Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh. "So how many tickets did you have to get for relatives?"

"I'd hate to count 'em up," said Danny. "But the toughest part about it is that they all think I get 'em free!"

A MAJOR League umpire broke tradition and unwritten law today and made a pick on the outcome of the Series.

Everything was within bounds, however. The ump was a no-longer ump, Beans Reardon.

His pick? "The Yankees—unless Vern Law can pitch a big series for the Pirates."

AN AIR FORCE man who came 4,000 miles to see Pittsburgh play was in the opening day crowd today.

He was Buc Manager Danny Murtaugh's cousin, who is stationed in Spain.

"He told me his commanding officer said he could get a leave if I could get him tickets," said Danny. "I said yes, and so did the CO."

SPOKESMAN for both presidential candidates said it was unlikely either would be able to attend a Series game here.

Democrat John Kennedy might make it, however, since he has a political date here during the Series. But the best an aide for Republican Richard Nixon culd offer was "maybe next year."

OFFICIALS AT the University of Pittsburgh received an inter-office memo today concerning the Series:

"In order to maintain proper safety for personnel during the World Series, it is requested that no university personnel be permitted on the roofs of the Cathedral of Learning, or any other university building, to watch the World Series games."

The cathedral, which is across the street from Forbes Field is 42 stories high.

'Bandit' Colorful, But Easy Target For Gonsalves

OAKLAND (AP)—Benny "The Kid" Medina proved to 2,400 fans in Oakland Auditorium he's a colorful guy with his handlebar mustache, chin whiskers and wild rushes.

But it might help if he learned some of the finer points of boxing.

The Fresno ranch hand, hoping to climb up the lightweight ladder, got a lesson last night from veteran Johnny Gonsalves, who took a unanimous 10-round decision at Oakland Auditorium.

Medina, 139½, rushed repeatedly — wide open — and Gonsalves, 140, found an easy target. But Medina never went down.

Referee Matt Zidich scored the fight 10-2; Judge Tony Bosnich had it 8-1 and Judge Rudy Ortega 7-2—all for Gonsalves.

Medina went into the fight with 14 straight victories including 11 knockouts. Gonsalves, who has fought most of the top lightweights, was his first real test.

Medina flunked it.

Session On Aging Ends, Question On More Medical Care Unsolved

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Governor's Conference on Aging came up with recommendations for combatting dozens of problems facing the aged, but most of the attention — and controversy — was centered on medical care.

The question facing the two-day gathering was how to finance expanded care. But when the 1,800 delegates adjourned yesterday, the question remained unresolved.

Labor delegates blamed the stalemate on "disgraceful Khrushchev-like tactics" they charged were used by California Medical Association delegates to force a minority viewpoint on the conference.

Labor had pressed for pre-paid public programs financed from employer and employee contributions—to social security nationally and to the unemployment compensation disability fund in California.

The result was that the report of the conference section on medical care noted that present sources of financing aged medical care are inadequate, but that there was "substantial disagreement" on how to finance a needed new plan.

Filing a minority report calling for a pre-paid plan, labor charged, however, that the disagreement was not as substantial as it appeared because "flying squad" of doctors had ran from section to section in the conference to cast votes.

Both reports will be passed to the governor to be used in developing California's position at the White House Conference on Aging next year.

On other subjects, the conference recommended that:

All California counties establish special planning agencies for aged services, receiving new state funds to add to their social welfare staffs.

Federal legislation be passed to build 10,000 homes a year for the aged, to provide at least $100,000 in housing loans in 1961-62, and to finance intensive research into problems of the aged.

The state enact a bond-financed, self-liquidating loan program for aged housing, provide more funds for adult education, and repeal the law requiring families to contribute to the care of needy relatives.

Forced retirement at 65 be abandoned and broader counseling and placement services be provided older workers.

The present minimum monthly social security benefit of $33 be re-examined to determine if it is outmoded.

Golf Sign Ups Announced

Players in the Bay Area are sharpening up their game this week to qualify in the Mill Valley City Golf Championships. Malcolm Brown, professional at the municipal course, announced players may qualify from Saturday through 16.

The defending champion is Ed Johnson, a long-hitting player from Kentfield. Johnson is expected to meet with some stiff competition for his title from many new players who have moved into Marin County recently, and from an increasing number of young competitors from San Francisco.

Players may sign up for the tournament at muny pro shop. Entry fee is $2, said Brown.

Winners and runners-up in all flights will receive handhome trophies, said to Brown.

Tam, San Rafael Tied In Marin Basketball Loop

Tamalpais and San Rafael remained tied for first place in the Marin County Athletic League Class C basketball standings yesterday, each posting its third victory without defeat.

Fred Harris' 12 points led Tam to a 32-10 romp over Terra Linda while San Rafael was nipping Novato 23-21.

In the day's other game Marin Catholic downed Redwood 29-16. Jim Langbehn was high for the winners with 12.

League standings: Tam 3-0, San Rafael 3-0, Marin Catholic 2-0, Novato 1-2, Drake 0-2, Redwood 0-2 and Terra Linda 0-3.

Ten Playgrounds Holding Football Registration

Scheduled on Albert Field and the nine city playgrounds this week are registration for a touch football league for fifth and sixth grade boys and a four square tournament for children seven to 12 years old.

The football league games will begin next Monday and boys must have permits from the recreation leader signed by one of their parents for permission to play.

The four square tournament, played with a volleyball, will be held at the various playgrounds and at Albert Field weekdays from 3 to 5 p.m. The program is sponsored by the San Rafael Recreation and Parks Department.

Navy Field Goal Hero Named AP Lineman Of Week

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Greg Mather, Navy end who booted the winning field goal in the Middies' upset 15-14 victory over Washington, was named the lineman of the week today by The Associated Press.

Washington led 14-12 when Mather, a rugged 223-pounder from Woodland Hills, Calif., booted a 31-yard field goal in the last 14 seconds to turn defeat into victory.

His kicking ability, in addition to his all-around play, gained Mather the nod in the weekly AP poll by sportswriters and broadcasters.

Back Never Held Ball; May Make All-Amercan

ATLANTA (AP) — A Georgia Tech halfback who hasn't carried the football all season leads the Southeastern Conference in scoring and is being boomed as a possible All-America.

The thing that makes Tommy Wells a unique fellow is his talented toe. In three games, the 6-foot-1, 194-pound senior has kicked five field goals without a miss, three of them in one game, two for 40 yards and one of those in the teeth of a whistling Texas wind.

MOST POINTS

His field goals and five points after touchdowns give Wells 20 points, two more than three SEC challengers who play offense all the time. Wells, not strictly a kicking specialist, plays sideback for Tech on defense but is seldom in the game when Tech has the ball—except when it's in field goal range.

A running star as a single-wing tailback at Cohn High School in Nashville, Tenn., Wells never kicked until his sophomore year at Tech.

JUST FOOLING

"We were fooling around one day before practice, and Coach Whitey Urban (former Tech assistant) took some time with me in place-kicking. That started it," Wells says.

He kicked 4 of 10 field goals as a sophomore and 2 of 5 last year.

Texans Lead AFL Offensive Totals

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A couple of Texas teams—Houston and Dallas—are leading the American Football League in total offense.

In three games Houston's Oilers piled up 530 yards rushing and 612 passing for an average of 380.7 per game. Dallas has a 345.5 average, picking up 456 yards rushing and 926 passing in four contests.

Survivor Comments

BEVERLY HILLS (UPI) — Speed pilot Donald Campbell, who has many claims to fame, today was thankful for his latest—surviving the fastest auto crash in history at 365 miles an hour.

Campbell came here to recuperate from a hairline basal skull fracture suffered in the Sept. 16 accident when his turbine-powered "Bluebird" racing car overturned at a speed of six miles a minute on the Bonneville Salt Flats course.

"We survived what certainly must have been the fastest road vehicle crash in history thanks to a well-built cockpit, a fighter pilot harness and an American fighter pilot's helmet," Campbell told a press conference yesterday.

The 39-year-old British speed enthusiast said his accident pointed up the fact that if he could survive an accident at 365 miles an hour then the broken bodies resulting from highway accidents were unnecessary.

"I hope our Bluebird will point the way to designing vehicles that will minimize the results of highway accidents."

But Campbell was emphatic in stating that there was no mechanical fault in the huge racing car that led to the accident and he intended returning to the Utah Salt Flats next August for another attempt to better 400 miles an hour.

Service Academies Will Face 'War' This Weekend

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press

Army, Navy and the Air Force, the keepers of the peace, suddenly find themselves in a real grid-iron war this weekend as their unbeaten status becomes a juicy target for three tough foes.

Army and Navy each have 3-0 records and the Air Force is 2-0.

Last weekend Army came from behind to beat California 28-10, Navy edged favored Washington 15-14, while Air Force thumped Stanford 32-9.

This week Army plays Penn State, a 21-8 loser to Missouri last weekend. Missouri takes on the Air Force while Navy meets Southern Methodist in Norfolk.

Each of the service teams has a fine passing quarterback, an equally potent running attack and a defense that has worn down eight opponents so that they are set up for the big kill.

But this Saturday could be another story. Army may find trouble getting its running attack moving against a Penn State forward wall and may have to call on Frank Blanda's passing.

Navy should have the edge on SMU all around, but they thought the same thing a year ago in Dallas only to get surprised 20-7, and didn't recover until late in the season.

The Air Force may have to go overhead with quarterback Richie Mayo's passing against Missouri, whose defense proved iron-clad in the clutch against Penn State, and whose offense features both power and speed.

Rumors Fly: Scheffing To Giants, Rigney To Detroit

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Casey Stengel probably will remain as manager of the New York Yankees, and Ralph Houk, widely considered Stengel's successor, probably will become the manager of the Detroit Tigers.

This managerial turnabout shaped up today in the wake of the firing of Manager Bob Elliott by Kansas City, Lou Boudreau's resignation at Chicago and Joe Gordon's walkout at Detroit.

Other reports circulating at World Series headquarters were:

1. Gordon will manage the Athletics. This was verified today as fact.

2. Bob Scheffing, just resigned as a Milwaukee Braves' coach, has the inside track to succeed Tom Sheehan as manager of the San Francisco Giants. The only thing positive is that Sheehan will not return in 1961.

3. Bill Rigney, replaced by Sheehan as Giant manager last May, is a leading candidate for the managing job with the Chicago Cubs. Fact: Rigney has applied for the Detroit job.

No rumors, but actual happenings, although not yet announced, are the signing of Don Heffner as Detroit coach and the hiring of Mel McGaha as Cleveland coach. Heffner recently was given his release as coach by the Athletics. McGaha managed Toronto to the International League championship, but lost to Louisville in the Little World Series.

Houk, regarded in New York as heir apparent to Stengel's throne when the 70-year-old wizard of the dugouts quits, apparently has given up hope of ever succeeding the old man.

"I'm receptive to a good offer," he said. "I'm getting older and I can't afford to let too many more years slip by."

A year ago, Houk, 41, rejected a bid to manage the Athletics, preferring to remain with the Yankees as a coach.

"It's difficult to discuss a managerial job with anybody currently on another club," said Detroit President Bill DeWitt. "Houk has lots of qualifications and he's very highly respected by everybody in baseball, including me, but right now we are not yet ready to consider a manager. We have other matters to solve.

"Nothing will be done until after the World Series," he added.

It has been reported the Tigers' board of directors, who postponed an important policy meeting until Oct. 12 in Detroit, has decided to curtail some of DeWitt's power. DeWitt had free reign in trades and hiring and firing of personnel, including managers.

Houk's decision to consider employment was taken as a sign that Stengel would remain with the Yankees.

"I think Casey will stay," said a top New York official, "at least I hope he does. Two months ago, I would have bet anything he would quit. I have changed my mind."

Antonelli Claims 'I'll Never Pitch For The Giants Again'

'Wind' Statement Blamed For Rift With Bosses

By JACK HANLEY
I-J Correspondent

Johnny Antonelli, packing his bags in the Giant clubhouse as the 1960 baseball season closed in Candlestick Park, was asked: "Will you be back?" And he replied: "No. I've pitched my last game for the Giants."

"Are you retiring from baseball?"

"No, I would be foolish to retire in my prime. However, if retirement is the only answer then it will have to be that."

"Why?"

"Because there is a mutual feeling, on my part and that of the Giant management, that I have outlived my usefulness as a member of this team. I felt it early this season. When I realized it was affecting my pitching I asked to be traded."

Antonelli said he was informed a satisfactory deal could not be made and the Giant management would not risk attempting to waive him past the seven other National League clubs for any trade into the American League.

"Waivers will not be necessary this winter when interleague trading is permissible," Antonelli said. "So I expect to be traded into the American League."

ARM FEELS GOOD

Antonelli was reluctant to discuss his rift with the Giant management until it was pointed out that silence would only invite speculation that might prove harmful not only to him but to the Giant management seeking a beneficial trade.

"For instance, there might be guesses your arm has given out because your 6-7 record this year was anything but impressive," he was told.

"If my arm were not sound," he said, "I definitely would get out of the game. It feels as good right now as when I posted that 21-7 record in the Giants' last pennant year of 1954.

"Things haven't been the same between myself and the Giant management ever since my 'wind statement' a year ago in denouncing old Seals Stadium. I got a pretty good going over in the newspapers for that and while I was getting worked over there was not one word from the Giant management in my behalf.

EDITORIAL TARGET

"Maybe I'm too sensitive. Maybe I have too much pride. I didn't mind the sports page comments so much but I thought a word from the front office was in order when I became an editorial page target.

"It was suggested to me that I make some kind of conciliatory statement. I refused because I felt I was right. I still do. When I reported to Phoenix for spring training this year I said the book was closed on the 'wind business' as far as I was concerned.

"Then, it was all rehashed just before the season opened in a story that portrayed me as having 'a million monkeys on my back' whenever I pitched in San Francisco. The fact that I replied to that story saving it made me nauseous had little effect. The first story always seems to get the big play, the denial a secondary spot.

GORDON SIGNS AS MANAGER OF ATHLETICS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Joe Gordon today signed a two-year contract to manage the Kansas City Athletics.

Gordon, in a surprise move, quit the Detroit Tigers Monday following an unprecedented mangerial swap which had sent him from Cleveland to Detroit last summer in exchange for Manager Jimmy Dykes.

The former second baseman of the New York Yankees and Indians agreed to terms following a half-hour conference with Parke Carroll, general manager of the Kansas City club.

"Everything is fine, I feel we can do a good job in Kansas City. We have a lot of young fellows and that's what I like," said Gordon.

"I have two or three things in mind but I cannot say what they are right now."

The Athletics Monday fired Bob Elliott as manager. They had him only last year. His entire coaching staff went with him.

The Athletics finished a poor last this year, losing nearly 100 games.

Sheehan Agrees Johnny On Block To Be Traded

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—If Tom Sheehan still has anything to say, Johnny Antonelli has pitched his last game for the San Francisco Giants.

Sheehan, who finished out the 1960 season as San Francisco manager and reportedly on the way out himself, said today that Antonelli, once the pride of the Giants staff, is on the block and will be traded "for whatever we can get in like value."

Antonelli, who won 19 games for the Giants in 1959, slipped to 6-7 with only 112 innings of work this year. Most of his performances were mediocre as Bill Rigney, let out in July, and Sheehan both soured on the lefthander.

The 30-year-old Antonelli who has won 108 games and lost 84 in seven seasons with the Giants, first got in Rigney's "doghouse" late in the 1959 season when he refused to serve in relief with the Giants battling for the National League pennant.

ARM INJURED

He hurt his arm during spring training this year and got off to a late start. When he finally was able to pitch, he lacked his old time zip and was relegated to the bullpen.

Sheehan kept Antonelli there when he took over for Rigney, working him on rare occasions. In six previous season Antonelli was one of the club's star pitchers, working on an average of 220 innings each season.

His best season was in 1954 when he won 21 games as the Giants took the N.L. pennant. He followed that up with two top-notch performances in the World Series sweep over the Cleveland Indians.

Fishing Pier Would Have Safety Rails

A safe fishing pier for Marin Youngsters, proposed along the Tiburon waterfront, would have safety facilities such as railings and may even include a lifeguard eventually.

These hopes were expressed today by Supervisor-elect J. Walter Blair, who is sparking a campaign to provide a fishing spot for children at Tiburon. Fred G. Zelinsky of Belvedere, painting contractor, has agreed to serve as chairman for the campaign.

Blair envisages a pier about 100 to 150 feet long, built rather low to the water so that youngsters will not get dizzy. For the safety of young anglers, he said some type of rail should be installed, and perhaps life preservers and even a life guard.

Last Saturday, an 11-year-old San Rafael boy, fishing from the old railroad pier in Tiburon, fell to his death among the pilings.

BOWLING

High scorer in the recent "Hits and Mrs." league at the Greenbrae Lanes was Peggy McMurtry of Altermatt Equipment with high game of 214 and a total of 512.

Runner up was Cherie Frye with 189 and Doris Bauman of Corte Madera Hardware with 180. Other scorers were Alice Chapman (156); Day Meherin of Kentfield Pet (168); Blanche Altermatt of Altermatt Equipment (166); Dempy Mooromsky of R. and M. Style (150); Cherie Gilmore of Kentfield Pet (166); Lauralee Curtis of Ranis Auto Works (157), and Jackie Filipelli (145).

In the Splitniks League high scorer at Greenbrae Lanes was Barbara Hettrock of Marin Felt who threw a 200 game. She is runner up in series play however with 455 to Lucille Latson of W. L. Hickey and Son who stacked up 467 and a high game of 184.

Consistent bowler Millie Burgess of unsponsored team No. 11 recorded the high series of the week with 493 points by bowling two games of 163 and one of 167.

Bears Ready For Full 60-Minute Effort Vs. WSC

BERKELEY (UPI) — Coach Marv Levy waxed optimistic yesterday that his California Bears could win their first contest Saturday against Washington State.

He scrimmaged his charges and then said "the team has been showing good fire. I think it intends to play a full 60-minute game this week." This referred to the fact that California has looked tough during the first half of each of its losses, but then faded.

Halfbacks Bill Patton, Jim Burress and Bob Wills returned to contact drills after being injured, but two other halfbacks will miss the Cougar contest. Jack Trumbo has a bad knee and Alex Jamille a concussion.

Football Statisticians Record Cold Facts And Insert Some Emotion Too

HANLEY

Dan Brodie and his staff are the official scorers and statisticians for the 49ers home games in Kezar Stadium.

Brodie and his men are as dispassionate as slide rules in their meticulous tallying of yardage on punts, passes, runs and field goals. But they are as emotional as fans in the stands when describing key plays.

THERE IS NO difficulty whatsoever in detecting they are hot 49er fans, despite the fact official play-by-play reports, destined for NFL archives, should be neutral and uninspired accounts of league games in Kezar.

Brodie and his competent assistants, Dick Conner, Bill Hall and George Ross should try a little more diligently to control their emotions. The adjective "beautiful" continually creeps into their descriptions of completed 49er passes and runs but rarely is used to describe substantial enemy yardage through the air or on the ground.

Their displeasure with the officiating in the season opener which the New York Giants won was plainly stated, not inferred. "Tittle passed over the middle to Stickles for 14, officials blew quick whistle and did not allow subsequent lateral," is one example. "Tittle's pass for Connor was incomplete, officials overlooked apparent interference penalty on Lynch," is another.

AS OFTEN AS "beautiful" is used on nifty plays that click, "barely" gets a good workout on passes or field goals that miss. You can readily tell from the following that Brodie and his men were emotionally spent in the closing seconds of the Giant game:

"3/10/31. 0:43 to play. Tittle's pass for Sickles over middle was barely incomplete.

"4/10/31. Davis' attempted field goal from 38 was barely wide to left."

THEIR PLAY-BY-PLAY report of the Ram-49er game contained one gem of editorial comment: "Ryan's pass for Phillips was broken up beautifully by Mertens—officials called Mertens for pass interference for perhaps the strangest call of the season."

Stick around a little longer, men, and you probably will see even stranger stuff because the season is still young. If you keep expending your emotions so recklessly, with four games still to be played by the 49ers in Kezar, you will be exhausted—emotionally, that is—before the season is over.

Solons Club Up For Sale

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Sacramento Solons baseball team of the Class AAA Pacific Coast League was for sale today.

The team's board of directors voted yesterday to dissolve the club in a 7-0 vote. One director abstained.

The Solons, who have operated in Sacramento every year but three since 1903, thus appeared destined for a new home next year.

Honolulu and Albuquerque have been mentioned as possible sites for the team if it is moved, but Solon Pres. W. B. Golsong said yesterday that no official offers for the club have yet been received.

The Solons lost an estimated $75,000 this year and had been shooting for $100,000 in a new ticket drive. Golsong said the ticket plan raised just $25,128 in nine days.

Friend: Yanks No Tougher Than Braves

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Friend, half of Pittsburgh's right-handed pitching pride, doesn't think the New York Yankees should be any tougher than the Milwaukee Braves, the club the Pirates left squatting in second in the National League race.

Friend, an 18-game winner who was 3-1 against Milwaukee, which lost 13 of 22 to the Bucs, is the starting choice in tomorrow's second game of the World Series. Vern Law, the other right-handed ace won 20.

"I haven't seen too much of the Yankees," Friend admitted, "but they're a lot like the Braves with their power. And I don't see how they could be tougher. They don't have a hitter like Hank Aaron. And Ed Mathews can almost match them.

"You can compare Mathews with Mickey Mantle, and Aaron with Bill Skowron."

Friend said the reports of the Pirate scouting staff on the Yankees didn't change his thinking on how he would pitch to the A.L. champs.

"You hear that you beat the Yankees with curve balls and other breaking pitches. But I think a good fast ball still is the No. 1 pitch against anybody," said Friend.

Ho-Hum, Brown Is Top NFL Gainer

NEW YORK (AP) — National League pro football is getting monotonous in one respect — Jimmy Brown is leading the circuit's ground-gainers again.

The big Cleveland Brown's line buster has led the league in ball carrying for the past three seasons.

Today, after two games, league statistics revealed Brown has run up 240 yards on 43 carries for an average of 5.6 yards per attempt. Only six yards behind and with virtually the same average gain is Green Bay's Jim Taylor with 234 yards on 42 carries.

SERIES TIDBITS

Schallock Picks Ex-Yankee Mates

Art Schallock of San Rafael is picking the Yankees to win the World Series this year.

He made his choice, he says, not because he used to play with the Yankees, or even because he thinks they have the better team.

Actually he thinks the Pittsburgh Pirates "are better on paper—man for man, hitting and pitching. But they're young and they haven't had the experience the Yankees have had in Series play. They're likely to get stage fright. The Yankees are used to the pressure."

Schallock, now retired from baseball and head of the business development department at the California Pacific Title Co. in San Rafael, knows all about the pressure of World Series play. Seven years ago when the Yanks were playing Brooklyn in the Series, he was one of their pitchers.

SCARED TO DEATH

He says his most vivid memory of the 1953 Series is "that long walk from the bullpen to the mound. I was scared to death. But it was a big thrill, too. After all, every ball player's ambition is to play in the World Series."

Schallock pitched the seventh and eighth innings in the fourth game of the 1953 series, retiring the side in the seventh and allowing only one hit in the eighth. When he went to the mound, the score was 10 to 5 in favor of Brooklyn. It ended 11 to 9 with Brooklyn still on top, but the Yankees won the pennant for the fifth time in a row.

Schallock says that one reason he is rooting for his old outfit is that he would like to see a second Marin player now with the Yankees, Joe DeMaestri of San Anselmo, on a pennant-winning team.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—"No Irish family ever is small," a guy said to Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh. "So how many tickets did you have to get for relatives?"

"I'd hate to count 'em up," said Danny. "But the toughest part about it is that they all think I get 'em free!"

A MAJOR League umpire broke tradition and unwritten law today and made a pick on the outcome of the Series.

Everything was within bounds, however. The ump was a no-longer ump, Beans Reardon.

His pick? "The Yankees—unless Vern Law can pitch a big series for the Pirates."

AN AIR FORCE man who came 4,000 miles to see Pittsburgh play was in the opening day crowd today.

He was Buc Manager Danny Murtaugh's cousin, who is stationed in Spain.

"He told me his commanding officer said he could get a leave if I could get him tickets," said Danny. "I said yes, and so did the CO."

SPOKESMAN for both presidential candidates said it was unlikely either would be able to attend a Series game here.

Democrat John Kennedy might make it, however, since he has a political date here during the Series. But the best an aide for Republican Richard Nixon culd offer was "maybe next year."

OFFICIALS AT the University of Pittsburgh received an inter-office memo today concerning the Series:

"In order to maintain proper safety for personnel during the World Series, it is requested that no university personnel be permitted on the roofs of the Cathedral of Learning, or any other university building, to watch the World Series games."

The cathedral, which is across the street from Forbes Field is 42 stories high.

'Bandit' Colorful, But Easy Target For Gonsalves

OAKLAND (AP)—Benny "The Kid" Medina proved to 2,400 fans in Oakland Auditorium he's a colorful guy with his handlebar mustache, chin whiskers and wild rushes.

But it might help if he learned some of the finer points of boxing.

The Fresno ranch hand, hoping to climb up the lightweight ladder, got a lesson last night from veteran Johnny Gonsalves, who took a unanimous 10-round decision at Oakland Auditorium.

Medina, 139½, rushed repeatedly — wide open — and Gonsalves, 140, found an easy target. But Medina never went down.

Referee Matt Zidich scored the fight 10-2; Judge Tony Bosnich had it 8-1 and Judge Rudy Ortega 7-2—all for Gonsalves.

Medina went into the fight with 14 straight victories including 11 knockouts. Gonsalves, who has fought most of the top lightweights, was his first real test.

Medina flunked it.

TENNESSEE EXPLOSION—Smoke pours from the big Tennessee Eastman Chemical Works at Kingsport after a shattering explosion that left at least 11 persons dead and an estimated 60 to 115 injured. A company official said the cause of the explosion was not determined. (AP Wirephoto)

Mediation Fails; G.E. Strike Grows

NEW YORK (UPI) — Federal mediation efforts failed yesterday to break a deadlock in the nationwide General Electric strike, and workers at the biggest G.E. plant voted to join the four-day walkout.

James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers, said after the futile negotiation session "not one single toaster or Polaris missile will be forthcoming without a contract."

Chief G.E. negotiator Philip D. Moore said, however, that even if the IUE strike were 100 per cent effective it would close down only one third of the company's plants. The IUE represents about 70,000 of the 240,000 G.E. workers at 55 of the company's 166 plants.

Union members at the Schenectady, N. Y. plant, which employs about 9,000 IUE workers, had voted against a strike before the old contract ran out.

They reversed themselves in yesterday's poll and a union spokesman said the vote was running "90 to 95 per cent" in favor of striking. They will join the walkout tomorrow.

Picket line violence spread yesterday from the east to the south, resulting in at least 23 arrests since the strike began Sunday.

Scouts Invited

Boys of scouting age and former Boy Scouts in Greenbrae may join Troop 59 at an organization meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Greenbrae School, Chet J. Patterson, troop committee chairman, said today. They must be accompanied to the meeting by their fathers, he said.

MRS. JOHNSON DISPELS LBJ LEGENDS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson helped bury a legend about the Texas senator's family today.

It's just not true that everybody in the family, including the dog, has the initials "LBJ."

Mrs. Johnson has been called Lady Bird since she was two but her real name is Claudia Alta.

And the family Beagle's name is not "Little Beagle Johnson" but Jefferson.

"We call him Beagle," Mrs. Johnson told a news conference upon her arrival yesterday to help her husband campaign for the vice presidency.

D.A.'s Assistant Becomes Father

Deputy Dist. Atty. P. Roy Vallarino, who normally does not smoke cigars, was happily chomping on a stogie yesterday morning.

He became the father of a seven-pound, three-ounce baby boy Monday at noon at Marin General Hospital. The boy has been named Mark Joseph.

Mrs. Vallarino is the former Vivian L. Espindola, a graduate of San Francisco College for Women. Both mother and son were reported doing fine. The Vallarinos live at 10 Manitou Drive, Sleepy Hollow.

Intoxicated Driver Fined, Loses License

Francisco Arturo Francalino, 49, of San Francisco, drew $158 fine and lost his driver's license for 60 days in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Harold J. Haley sentenced him for driving while intoxicated along Highway 101 on Sept. 18. Francalino is on probation for six months.

11 Die As Explosion Rips Chemical Plant

KINGSPORT, Tenn. (AP) — An explosion heard 20 miles away destroyed a square block area at the huge Tennessee Eastman Chemical Works just as the evening shift reported to work yesterday.

At least 11 persons were killed in the explosion and fire. Estimates of the number of injured ranged from 60 to 115. The force of the blast blew all the clothing from the bodies of two workmen who escaped.

"We don't know what caused the explosion," a company official said early today. "The damage was so devastating, the heat and smoke so intense, nobody can say at this point what happened."

The fire was controlled three hours after the explosion, but the tangled wreckage still was too hot today for rescuers to hunt for more victims.

The building on the 400-acre plant site where the explosion occurred normally is operated by remote control for the manufacture of aniline dye which is explosive during certain manufacturing processes but normally is considered a "safe" material. The dead and injured were believed to have been outside the building.

Firefighting equipment and ambulances from four cities raced to the scene. Windows were shattered in the center of town two miles away, and the rumbling explosion as heard as far away as Johnson City, 20 miles to the southeast. Electric power and telephone service was disrupted.

The injured were taken to a number of hospitals in surrounding towns, and no exact estimate could be made. Eastman officials said about 60 persons were hurt, but the highway patrol said at least 115 were injured.

Administration Says Business Outlook Good

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration today held to its claim that the business outlook is good despite a sharp cutback in anticipated revenues.

The reduction, almost wholly in corporation income taxes, combined with a rise in government spending to slash from 4.2 billion to 1.1 billion dollars the administration's estimate of the treasury surplus expected at the end of the current fiscal year.

Budget Director Maurice H. Stans announced the revised estimate yesterday. The government usually reviews its budget figures after Congress adjourns, but this year its report plopped into the middle of a presidential election campaign in which the present and future of the nation's economy is an issue.

Stans said the economy is now operating at a high level. He anticipated a perhaps better than usual pickup in business for the last three months of this year and said government and other economists are expressing no alarm about the first two quarters of next year.

That would round out the fiscal year, which ends next June 30.

Nixon Takes Off Gloves, Knuckles Kennedy Farm Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The hopeful wait of Republicans and the wary wait of Democrats is over—Richard M. Nixon has taken off the gloves.

The GOP White House contender abandoned his relatively mild jabs last night and let go with some bare-knuckle upper-cuts at the farm program of his Democratic opponent, John F. Kennedy.

Nixon left no doubt that he would keep up until election day the slugging which some Republican campaign strategists have been hoping for.

The vice president had a chance to continue his hard-hitting tactics today during a series of crucial appearance in New York City. The Empire state's 45 electoral votes could tip the election.

Kennedy continued today what he conceded was a "long, tough, uphill fight" for Indiana's 13 electoral votes.

After a speech in Indianapolis last night, the Massachusetts senator said he was "under no illusions" about his chances in the one-time center of the Ku Klux Klan where his Roman Catholic religion could cost him votes.

Nixon capped a day of campaigning New Jersey yesterday with the slashing attack on Kennedy's farm program before a widely enthusiastic crowd in West Orange.

The GOP nominee charged that the plan would boost food prices by 25 per cent and hike the cost of living at least 6 per cent. He said it would curtail beef and pork supplies to less than the World War II rationing levels.

The vice president also hit hard at another issue important in heavily populated New Jersey—civil rights.

With former Negro baseball star Jackie Robinson standing beside him, Nixon told a predominantly Negro audience at a housing developing in Newark:

"I talk the same throughout America. On the other hand, our opponents talk out of both corners of their mouths because they don't agree on this issue."

Kennedy's main theme in Indiana was that the Republicans had provided "the most wasteful administration in this century" despite Nixon's emphasis on government efficiency and on promises to save the taxpayers money.

The Democratic candidate said the foreign aid program had not won friends or increased U.S. prestige, the farm program had not brought prosperity to the farmer and the military program had placed this country's defenses in danger of becoming second rate.

License To Be Issued

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The Contractor's State License Board announced it plans to issue a general engineering contractor's license to Gilbert H. Duby and Walter R. Mecham of Duby and Mecham Engineering and Construction, 53 Jordan Street, San Rafael, if no protest is received by Oct. 19.

Kennedy Might Form Youth Into Peace Corps If Elected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy said today that if he is elected president, he will examine the possibility of forming a Youth Peace Corps of trained young Americans to help new nations.

"Such service would be considered service in the national interest," Kennedy said. "Might it not make the normal military obligation unnecessary?"

Kennedy raised the possibility of the peace corps in a long statement issued here urging young people who have become of voting age to register and vote in next month's elections.

Golf Sign Ups Announced

Players in the Bay Area are sharpening up their game this week to qualify in the Mill Valley City Golf Championships. Malcolm Brown, professional at the municipal course, announced players may qualify from Saturday through 16.

The defending champion is Ed Johnson, a long-hitting player from Kentfield. Johnson is expected to meet with some stiff competition for his title from many new players who have moved into Marin County recently, and from an increasing number of young competitors from San Francisco.

Players may sign up for the tournament at muny pro shop. Entry fee is $2, said Brown.

Winners and runners-up in all flights will receive handhome trophies, said to Brown.

Tam, San Rafael Tied In Marin Basketball Loop

Tamalpais and San Rafael remained tied for first place in the Marin County Athletic League Class C basketball standings yesterday, each posting its third victory without defeat.

In the day's other game Marin Catholic downed Redwood 29-16. Jim Langbehn was high for the winners with 12.

League standings: Tam 3-0, San Rafael 3-0, Marin Catholic 2-0, Novato 1-2, Drake 0-2, Redwood 0-2 and Terra Linda 0-3.

Scheduled on Albert Field and the nine city playgrounds this week are registration for a touch football league for fifth and sixth grade boys and a four square tournament for children seven to 12 years old.

The football league games will begin next Monday and boys must have permits from the recreation leader signed by one of their parents for permission to play.

The four square tournament, played with a volleyball, will be held at the various playgrounds and at Albert Field weekdays from 3 to 5 p.m. The program is sponsored by the San Rafael Recreation and Parks Department.

Navy Field Goal Hero Named AP Lineman Of Week

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Greg Mather, Navy end who booted the winning field goal in the Middies' upset 15-14 victory over Washington, was named the lineman of the week today by The Associated Press.

Washington led 14-12 when Mather, a rugged 223-pounder from Woodland Hills, Calif., booted a 31-yard field goal in the last 14 seconds to turn defeat into victory.

His kicking ability, in addition to his all-around play, gained Mather the nod in the weekly AP poll by sportswriters and broadcasters.

Back Never Held Ball; May Make All-Amercan

ATLANTA (AP) — A Georgia Tech halfback who hasn't carried the football all season leads the Southeastern Conference in scoring and is being boomed as a possible All-America.

The thing that makes Tommy Wells a unique fellow is his talented toe. In three games, the 6-foot-1, 194-pound senior has kicked five field goals without a miss, three of them in one game, two for 40 yards and one of those in the teeth of a whistling Texas wind.

MOST POINTS

His field goals and five points after touchdowns give Wells 20 points, two more than three SEC challengers who play offense all the time. Wells, not strictly a kicking specialist, plays sideback for Tech on defense but is seldom in the game when Tech has the ball—except when it's in field goal range.

A running star as a single-wing tailback at Cohn High School in Nashville, Tenn., Wells never kicked until his sophomore year at Tech.

JUST FOOLING

"We were fooling around one day before practice, and Coach Whitey Urban (former Tech assistant) took some time with me in place-kicking. That started it," Wells says.

He kicked 4 of 10 field goals as a sophomore and 2 of 5 last year.

Texans Lead AFL Offensive Totals

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A couple of Texas teams—Houston and Dallas—are leading the American Football League in total offense.

In three games Houston's Oilers piled up 530 yards rushing and 612 passing for an average of 380.7 per game. Dallas has a 345.5 average, picking up 456 yards rushing and 926 passing in four contests.

Survivor Comments

BEVERLY HILLS (UPI) — Speed pilot Donald Campbell, who has many claims to fame, today was thankful for his latest—surviving the fastest auto crash in history at 365 miles an hour.

Campbell came here to recuperate from a hairline basal skull fracture suffered in the Sept. 16 accident when his turbine-powered "Bluebird" racing car overturned at a speed of six miles a minute on the Bonneville Salt Flats course.

"We survived what certainly must have been the fastest road vehicle crash in history thanks to a well-built cockpit, a fighter pilot harness and an American fighter pilot's helmet," Campbell told a press conference yesterday.

The 39-year-old British speed enthusiast said his accident pointed up the fact that if he could survive an accident at 365 miles an hour then the broken bodies resulting from highway accidents were unnecessary.

"I hope our Bluebird will point the way to designing vehicles that will minimize the results of highway accidents."

But Campbell was emphatic in stating that there was no mechanical fault in the huge racing car that led to the accident and he intended returning to the Utah Salt Flats next August for another attempt to better 400 miles an hour.

Service Academies Will Face 'War' This Weekend

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press

Army, Navy and the Air Force, the keepers of the peace, suddenly find themselves in a real grid-iron war this weekend as their unbeaten status becomes a juicy target for three tough foes.

Army and Navy each have 3-0 records and the Air Force is 2-0.

Last weekend Army came from behind to beat California 28-10, Navy edged favored Washington 15-14, while Air Force thumped Stanford 32-9.

This week Army plays Penn State, a 21-8 loser to Missouri last weekend. Missouri takes on the Air Force while Navy meets Southern Methodist in Norfolk.

Each of the service teams has a fine passing quarterback, an equally potent running attack and a defense that has worn down eight opponents so that they are set up for the big kill.

But this Saturday could be another story. Army may find trouble getting its running attack moving against a Penn State forward wall and may have to call on Frank Blanda's passing.

Navy should have the edge on SMU all around, but they thought the same thing a year ago in Dallas only to get surprised 20-7, and didn't recover until late in the season.

The Air Force may have to go overhead with quarterback Richie Mayo's passing against Missouri, whose defense proved iron-clad in the clutch against Penn State, and whose offense features both power and speed.

French Onion Soup To Please Gourmets

In their haute cuisine, the French may seem to squander scandalous amounts of egg white, foie gras, cognac and thick cream; but common sense and frugality always lie close to the heart of true French chic.

Many a great French chef grew up in the provinces and learned from a sensible grandmere the way to make a proper omelette and the art of haggling in the marketplace. In Paris, in the early hours of the morning, the chef of Laperouse or Tour d'Argent may be seen at the produce stalls in Les Halles—shaking his fist at the epicier, shouting for sweeter schallots and onions, more tender petit pois, fresher asparagus. The finest quality only is purchased, but nothing is wasted and everything serves.

The only priceless ingredient in French Onion Soup is the skill of the cook. In search of a petite marmite of perfect Potage a L'Oignon, the French gourmet on Friday night will don evening dress and sup at Maxim's. Saturday he drives out of Paris—by the Porte de Saint Cloud and through the Bois de Boulogne—to lunch on a whole tureen of the good soup at Coq Hardi. At dawn he turns up in Les Halles, for a breakfast bowl at Au Pied de Cochon. It is just about the time the chefs are arriving — to buy more onions.

The American gourmet in search of such Onion Soup will find that Yankee ingenuity has captured it in a can—completely cooked, ready to heat and eat. Each can serves two with generosity. The soup is made, of course, according to the cherished French recipe. Sweet, mild onions only are used. They are sliced thin, sauteed delicately in the best butter, simmered in a fragrant beef stock, with specially aged Parmesan cheese. Accompaniments are a basket of hot French bread; a fresh, tart salad, chocolate eclairs and demitasse.

French Onion Soup is one of five completely cooked continental classics now available in cans. This new gourmet line includes Spanish Garbanzo Soup, Imperial Russian Beef Stroganoff, Italian Chicken Cacciatore and Swedish Kottbullar.

HERBED FRENCH BREAD

Make herb butter, combining ¼ cup melted butter with ¼ teaspoon each rosemary and thyme; brush on loaf of brown 'n serve French bread; bake according to package directions. Remove from oven and brush again with herb butter; serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

SALAD ORLEANS

Prepare salad bowl of crisp greens—endive, romaine and lettuce hearts. Combine for dressing: ¾ cup olive or salad oil, ¼ cup wine vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teapsoon paprika, ¼ teaspoon each sugar and tarragon.

QUICK CHOCOLATE ECLAIRS

Using 1 package (8½ ounces) cream puff mix, prepare 8 eclairs according to package directions. Prepare 1 package vanilla pudding according to package directions, using 1 cup heavy cream and 1 cup milk; stir in ½ teaspoon almond flavoring; cool. Slit eclairs lengthwise, cutting almost through; fill with pudding mixture; top with Quick Chocolate Sauce.

QUICK CHOCOLATE SAUCE

In a double boiler, melt ½ cup semi-sweet chocolate bits and 1 tablespoon butter; stir in 1 teaspoon light cream.

FRENCH ONION SOUP to rival that of Maxim's has now been captured in a can—completely cooked and ready to eat. The soup is made according to the cherished French recipe. Accompaniments are hot French bread, tart salad, chocolate eclairs and demitasse.

Weight Reduction Class Set Oct. 10

The fifth series of Weight Reduction Classes to be sponsored by the Marin County Heart Assn., as part of its community service program will get underway in October.

If the response warrants, arrangements have been made to hold two classes of 16 weekly sessions from 7:30-9 p.m., beginning Monday, Oct. 10 and Tuesday, Oct. 11 in the offices of the Heart Assn. in San Rafael.

A standard 1200 calorie menu plan will be used by all class members. The menu plan contains 75 grams protein, 110 carbohydrate and 50 grams fat, with a sodium content of 1000 mg. or 2½ grams sodium chloride, when no extra salt is added to the food.

An average weight loss of 1 to 1½ pounds per week is anticipated, based on results of previous classes. Overweight persons will be accepted only on referral from physicians.

Class groups will be 15 to 20 in size, depending upon number of registrants, and are open to both men and women.

Instructing will be Miss W. J. Derryberry and Mrs. Frances Dahl, registered dieticians, who have been working with weight reducing classes sponsored by the Marin County Heart Assn.

Each student will weigh in weekly and chart progress. Movies and guest speakers will be part of the class program.

Pot-Roast Is Year 'Round Favorite

Any time of year is a good time to serve beef pot-roast. You would find it high on the list of main dishes in "meals we like to come home to," if you took a poll of husbands!

One reason for the popularity of pot-roast is that the method of cooking, braising, brings out the full flavor of the beef. The cuts usually chosen are rich in flavor. The flavor of a potroast heightens the flavors of the vegetables cooked with it. And part of the goodness of pot-roast lies in its delicious gravy.

For a pot-roast which is a little out-of-the-ordinary, Reba Staggs, meat expert and home economist, suggests one with a foreign accent, a pot-roast Bohemian style.

POT-ROAST—BOHEMIAN STYLE

- 3 to 4-pound arm or blade pot-roast
- ¼ cup flour
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- ½ cup water
- 1 can (10 ounces) tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon caraway seed
- 1 package (1½ ounces) dehydrated onion soup
- 2 bay leaves
- ¼ cup cold water
- 3 tablespoons flour

Mix together ¼ cup flour and pepper. Dredge pot-roast with seasoned flour and brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add ½ cup water, tomatoes, caraway seed, onion soup and bay leaves. Cover tightly and simmer 3 to 4 hours or until tender. Remove pot-roast to hot platter. Discard bay leaves. Mix together ¼ cup cold water and 3 tablespoons flour. Add to the cooking liquid. Cook until thickened. Serve gravy with pot-roast. 6 to 8 servings.

Salting Tip

Salt steaks and chops after they are browned. Salt has a tendency to draw out moisture, which slows the browning process.

HERE'S WAY TO STORE ICE CREAM

Ice cream should be served cold but not so cold that it is too hard to dip. Twelve degrees is about the right serving temperature, according to ice cream producers. This is a stage where your servings are creamy, smooth, yet still firm and have the finest flavor.

If the ice cream is too hard to dip from the container, let it stand, covered, at room temperature momentarily. It should soften just enough to enable you to scoop out the servings you need.

To hold ice cream for lengthy periods, store it in the freezer, or in the zero degree freezing compartment of your refrigerator. Or if you wish to store it in the ice tray compartment, it will keep safely for several hours with this storage method.

Simply remove ice cream from its carton and place it in empty ice cube trays. Cover the trays tightly with waxed paper, freezer paper or foil. Place trays in the part of the freezing unit that is contacted by coils. Turn control to "cold" setting.

Broiled Luncheon Meat

Slices of luncheon meat take on added tastiness when broiled. To enhance their flavor brush each slice with a mixture of 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard and ½ teaspoon horseradish. This amount will be enough for 8 slices. 4 to 5 minutes will be sufficient broiling time.

Basic Rule

The basic rule of meat cookery is: Always cook meat at low or moderate temperature. This rule applies whether meat is cooked by dry heat—roasting, broiling or panbroiling—or moist heat—braising or in liquid.

'No Smoking'

Obey the "No Smoking" sign when you heat fat to brown or fry meat if you want a perfect product.

Ground Beef Is Versatile And Economical

Ground beef can be served in so many easily prepared dishes that it is no wonder it maintains its popularity season after season.

The familiar hamburger or beef patty and the various kinds of meat loaves come to mind at once as good ways to serve ground beef. Another tempting way is in meat balls.

Reba Staggs, home economist, proves this point with a recipe for meat balls in which curried tomato sauce has a part. These meat balls are so tasty you'll be proud to serve them as party fare as well as in family meals.

MEAT BALLS IN CURRIED TOMATO SAUCE

- 1½ pounds ground beef
- 1 can (1 pound 12 ounces) tomatoes
- ¾ cup soft bread crumbs
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ cup flour
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- ½ teaspoon sugar
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ½ teaspoon curry powder

Drain ½ cup juice from tomatoes, reserving the remaining juice and tomatoes. Pour ½ cup tomato juice over bread crumbs. Add beef, onion, salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Mix thoroughly. Shape mixture into 24 balls, using a rounded tablespoon for each. Coat meat balls with flour and brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add remaining tomatoes and juice, sugar, curry powder and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Simmer for 20 minutes. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

TENNESSEE EXPLOSION—Smoke pours from the big Tennessee Eastman Chemical Works at Kingsport after a shattering explosion that left at least 11 persons dead and an estimated 60 to 115 injured. A company official said the cause of the explosion was not determined. (AP Wirephoto)

Mediation Fails; G.E. Strike Grows

NEW YORK (UPI) — Federal mediation efforts failed yesterday to break a deadlock in the nationwide General Electric strike, and workers at the biggest G.E. plant voted to join the four-day walkout.

James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers, said after the futile negotiation session "not one single toaster or Polaris missile will be forthcoming without a contract."

Chief G.E. negotiator Philip D. Moore said, however, that even if the IUE strike were 100 per cent effective it would close down only one third of the company's plants. The IUE represents about 70,000 of the 240,000 G.E. workers at 55 of the company's 166 plants.

Union members at the Schenectady, N. Y. plant, which employs about 9,000 IUE workers, had voted against a strike before the old contract ran out.

They reversed themselves in yesterday's poll and a union spokesman said the vote was running "90 to 95 per cent" in favor of striking. They will join the walkout tomorrow.

Picket line violence spread yesterday from the east to the south, resulting in at least 23 arrests since the strike began Sunday.

Scouts Invited

Boys of scouting age and former Boy Scouts in Greenbrae may join Troop 59 at an organization meeting at 7:30 p.m., tomorrow at the Greenbrae School, Chet J. Patterson, troop committee chairman, said today. They must be accompanied to the meeting by their fathers, he said.

MRS. JOHNSON DISPELS LBJ LEGENDS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson helped bury a legend about the Texas senator's family today.

It's just not true that everybody in the family, including the dog, has the initials "LBJ."

Mrs. Johnson has been called Lady Bird since she was two but her real name is Claudia Alta.

And the family Beagle's name is not "Little Beagle Johnson" but Jefferson.

"We call him Beagle," Mrs. Johnson told a news conference upon her arrival yesterday to help her husband campaign for the vice presidency.

D.A.'s Assistant Becomes Father

Deputy Dist. Atty. P. Roy Vallarino, who normally does not smoke cigars, was happily chomping on a stogie yesterday morning.

He became the father of a seven-pound, three-ounce baby boy Monday at noon at Marin General Hospital. The boy has been named Mark Joseph.

Mrs. Vallarino is the former Vivian L. Espindola, a graduate of San Francisco College for Women. Both mother and son were reported doing fine. The Vallarinos live at 10 Manitou Drive, Sleepy Hollow.

Intoxicated Driver Fined, Loses License

Francisco Arturo Francalino, 49, of San Francisco, drew $158 fine and lost his driver's license for 60 days in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Harold J. Haley sentenced him for driving while intoxicated along Highway 101 on Sept. 18. Francalino is on probation for six months.

11 Die As Explosion Rips Chemical Plant

KINGSPORT, Tenn. (AP) — An explosion heard 20 miles away destroyed a square block area at the huge Tennessee Eastman Chemical Works just as the evening shift reported to work yesterday.

At least 11 persons were killed in the explosion and fire. Estimates of the number of injured ranged from 60 to 115. The force of the blast blew all the clothing from the bodies of two workmen who escaped.

"We don't know what caused the explosion," a company official said early today. "The damage was so devastating, the heat and smoke so intense, nobody can say at this point what happened."

The fire was controlled three hours after the explosion, but the tangled wreckage still was too hot today for rescuers to hunt for more victims.

The building on the 400-acre plant site where the explosion occurred normally is operated by remote control for the manufacture of aniline dye which is explosive during certain manufacturing processes but normally is considered a "safe" material. The dead and injured were believed to have been outside the building.

Firefighting equipment and ambulances from four cities raced to the scene. Windows were shattered in the center of town two miles away, and the rumbling explosion as heard as far away as Johnson City, 20 miles to the southeast. Electric power and telephone service was disrupted.

The injured were taken to a number of hospitals in surrounding towns, and no exact estimate could be made. Eastman officials said about 60 persons were hurt, but the highway patrol said at least 115 were injured.

Administration Says Business Outlook Good

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration today held to its claim that the business outlook is good despite a sharp cutback in anticipated revenues.

The reduction, almost wholly in corporation income taxes, combined with a rise in government spending to slash from 4.2 billion to 1.1 billion dollars the administration's estimate of the treasury surplus expected at the end of the current fiscal year.

Budget Director Maurice H. Stans announced the revised estimate yesterday. The government usually reviews its budget figures after Congress adjourns, but this year its report plopped into the middle of a presidential election campaign in which the present and future of the nation's economy is an issue.

Stans said the economy is now operating at a high level. He anticipated a perhaps better than usual pickup in business for the last three months of this year and said government and other economists are expressing no alarm about the first two quarters of next year.

That would round out the fiscal year, which ends next June 30.

Nixon Takes Off Gloves, Knuckles Kennedy Farm Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The hopeful wait of Republicans and the wary wait of Democrats is over—Richard M. Nixon has taken off the gloves.

The GOP White House contender abandoned his relatively mild jabs last night and let go with some bare-knuckle upper-cuts at the farm program of his Democratic opponent, John F. Kennedy.

Nixon left no doubt that he would keep up until election day the slugging which some Republican campaign strategists have been hoping for.

The vice president had a chance to continue his hard-hitting tactics today during a series of crucial appearance in New York City. The Empire state's 45 electoral votes could tip the election.

Kennedy continued today what he conceded was a "long, tough, uphill fight" for Indiana's 13 electoral votes.

After a speech in Indianapolis last night, the Massachusetts senator said he was "under no illusions" about his chances in the one-time center of the Ku Klux Klan where his Roman Catholic religion could cost him votes.

Nixon capped a day of campaigning New Jersey yesterday with the slashing attack on Kennedy's farm program before a widely enthusiastic crowd in West Orange.

The GOP nominee charged that the plan would boost food prices by 25 per cent and hike the cost of living at least 6 per cent. He said it would curtail beef and pork supplies to less than the World War II rationing levels.

The vice president also hit hard at another issue important in heavily populated New Jersey—civil rights.

With former Negro baseball star Jackie Robinson standing beside him, Nixon told a predominantly Negro audience at a housing developing in Newark:

"I talk the same throughout America. On the other hand, our opponents talk out of both corners of their mouths because they don't agree on this issue."

Kennedy's main theme in Indiana was that the Republicans had provided "the most wasteful administration in this century" despite Nixon's emphasis on government efficiency and on promises to save the taxpayers money.

The Democratic candidate said the foreign aid program had not won friends or increased U.S. prestige, the farm program had not brought prosperity to the farmer and the military program had placed this country's defenses in danger of becoming second rate.

License To Be Issued

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The Contractor's State License Board announced it plans to issue a general engineering contractor's license to Gilbert H. Duby and Walter R. Mecham of Duby and Mecham Engineering and Construction, 53 Jordan Street, San Rafael, if no protest is received by Oct. 19.

Kennedy Might Form Youth Into Peace Corps If Elected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy said today that if he is elected president, he will examine the possibility of forming a Youth Peace Corps of trained young Americans to help new nations.

"Such service would be considered service in the national interest," Kennedy said. "Might it not make the normal military obligation unnecessary?"

Kennedy raised the possibility of the peace corps in a long statement issued here urging young people who have become of voting age to register and vote in next month's elections.

French Onion Soup To Please Gourmets

In their haute cuisine, the French may seem to squander scandalous amounts of egg white, foie gras, cognac and thick cream; but common sense and frugality always lie close to the heart of true French chic.

Many a great French chef grew up in the provinces and learned from a sensible grandmere the way to make a proper omelette and the art of haggling in the marketplace. In Paris, in the early hours of the morning, the chef of Laperouse or Tour d'Argent may be seen at the produce stalls in Les Halles—shaking his fist at the epicier, shouting for sweeter schallots and onions, more tender petit pois, fresher asparagus. The finest quality only is purchased, but nothing is wasted and everything serves.

The only priceless ingredient in French Onion Soup is the skill of the cook. In search of a petite marmite of perfect Potage a L'Oignon, the French gourmet on Friday night will don evening dress and sup at Maxim's. Saturday he drives out of Paris—by the Porte de Saint Cloud and through the Bois de Boulogne—to lunch on a whole tureen of the good soup at Coq Hardi. At dawn he turns up in Les Halles, for a breakfast bowl at Au Pied de Cochon. It is just about the time the chefs are arriving — to buy more onions.

The American gourmet in search of such Onion Soup will find that Yankee ingenuity has captured it in a can—completely cooked, ready to heat and eat. Each can serves two with generosity. The soup is made, of course, according to the cherished French recipe. Sweet, mild onions only are used. They are sliced thin, sauteed delicately in the best butter, simmered in a fragrant beef stock, with specially aged Parmesan cheese. Accompaniments are a basket of hot French bread; a fresh, tart salad, chocolate eclairs and demitasse.

French Onion Soup is one of five completely cooked continental classics now available in cans. This new gourmet line includes Spanish Garbanzo Soup, Imperial Russian Beef Stroganoff, Italian Chicken Cacciatore and Swedish Kottbullar.

HERBED FRENCH BREAD

Make herb butter, combining ¼ cup melted butter with ¼ teaspoon each rosemary and thyme; brush on loaf of brown 'n serve French bread; bake according to package directions. Remove from oven and brush again with herb butter; serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

SALAD ORLEANS

Prepare salad bowl of crisp greens—endive, romaine and lettuce hearts. Combine for dressing: ¾ cup olive or salad oil, ¼ cup wine vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teapsoon paprika, ¼ teaspoon each sugar and tarragon.

QUICK CHOCOLATE ECLAIRS

Using 1 package (8½ ounces) cream puff mix, prepare 8 eclairs according to package directions. Prepare 1 package vanilla pudding according to package directions, using 1 cup heavy cream and 1 cup milk; stir in ½ teaspoon almond flavoring; cool. Slit eclairs lengthwise, cutting almost through; fill with pudding mixture; top with Quick Chocolate Sauce.

QUICK CHOCOLATE SAUCE

In a double boiler, melt ½ cup semi-sweet chocolate bits and 1 tablespoon butter; stir in 1 teaspoon light cream.

FRENCH ONION SOUP to rival that of Maxim's has now been captured in a can—completely cooked and ready to eat. The soup is made according to the cherished French recipe. Accompaniments are hot French bread, tart salad, chocolate eclairs and demitasse.

Weight Reduction Class Set Oct. 10

The fifth series of Weight Reduction Classes to be sponsored by the Marin County Heart Assn., as part of its community service program will get underway in October.

If the response warrants, arrangements have been made to hold two classes of 16 weekly sessions from 7:30-9 p.m., beginning Monday, Oct. 10 and Tuesday, Oct. 11 in the offices of the Heart Assn. in San Rafael.

A standard 1200 calorie menu plan will be used by all class members. The menu plan contains 75 grams protein, 110 carbohydrate and 50 grams fat, with a sodium content of 1000 mg. or 2½ grams sodium chloride, when no extra salt is added to the food.

An average weight loss of 1 to 1½ pounds per week is anticipated, based on results of previous classes. Overweight persons will be accepted only on referral from physicians.

Class groups will be 15 to 20 in size, depending upon number of registrants, and are open to both men and women.

Instructing will be Miss W. J. Derryberry and Mrs. Frances Dahl, registered dieticians, who have been working with weight reducing classes sponsored by the Marin County Heart Assn.

Each student will weigh in weekly and chart progress. Movies and guest speakers will be part of the class program.

Ground Beef Is Versatile And Economical

Ground beef can be served in so many easily prepared dishes that it is no wonder it maintains its popularity season after season.

The familiar hamburger or beef patty and the various kinds of meat loaves come to mind at once as good ways to serve ground beef. Another tempting way is in meat balls.

Reba Staggs, home economist, proves this point with a recipe for meat balls in which curried tomato sauce has a part. These meat balls are so tasty you'll be proud to serve them as party fare as well as in family meals.

MEAT BALLS IN CURRIED TOMATO SAUCE

- 1½ pounds ground beef
- 1 can (1 pound 12 ounces) tomatoes
- ¾ cup soft bread crumbs
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ cup flour
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- ½ teaspoon sugar
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ½ teaspoon curry powder

Drain ½ cup juice from tomatoes, reserving the remaining juice and tomatoes. Pour ½ cup tomato juice over bread crumbs. Add beef, onion, salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Mix thoroughly. Shape mixture into 24 balls, using a rounded tablespoon for each. Coat meat balls with flour and brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add remaining tomatoes and juice, sugar, curry powder and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Simmer for 20 minutes. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Pot-Roast Is Year 'Round Favorite

Any time of year is a good time to serve beef pot-roast. You would find it high on the list of main dishes in "meals we like to come home to," if you took a poll of husbands!

One reason for the popularity of pot-roast is that the method of cooking, braising, brings out the full flavor of the beef. The cuts usually chosen are rich in flavor. The flavor of a potroast heightens the flavors of the vegetables cooked with it. And part of the goodness of pot-roast lies in its delicious gravy.

For a pot-roast which is a little out-of-the-ordinary, Reba Staggs, meat expert and home economist, suggests one with a foreign accent, a pot-roast Bohemian style.

POT-ROAST—BOHEMIAN STYLE

- 3 to 4-pound arm or blade pot-roast
- ¼ cup flour
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- ½ cup water
- 1 can (10 ounces) tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon caraway seed
- 1 package (1½ ounces) dehydrated onion soup
- 2 bay leaves
- ¼ cup cold water
- 3 tablespoons flour

Mix together ¼ cup flour and pepper. Dredge pot-roast with seasoned flour and brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add ½ cup water, tomatoes, caraway seed, onion soup and bay leaves. Cover tightly and simmer 3 to 4 hours or until tender. Remove pot-roast to hot platter. Discard bay leaves. Mix together ¼ cup cold water and 3 tablespoons flour. Add to the cooking liquid. Cook until thickened. Serve gravy with pot-roast. 6 to 8 servings.

Salting Tip

Salt steaks and chops after they are browned. Salt has a tendency to draw out moisture, which slows the browning process.

HERE'S WAY TO STORE ICE CREAM

Ice cream should be served cold but not so cold that it is too hard to dip. Twelve degrees is about the right serving temperature, according to ice cream producers. This is a stage where your servings are creamy, smooth, yet still firm and have the finest flavor.

If the ice cream is too hard to dip from the container, let it stand, covered, at room temperature momentarily. It should soften just enough to enable you to scoop out the servings you need.

To hold ice cream for lengthy periods, store it in the freezer, or in the zero degree freezing compartment of your refrigerator. Or if you wish to store it in the ice tray compartment, it will keep safely for several hours with this storage method.

Simply remove ice cream from its carton and place it in empty ice cube trays. Cover the trays tightly with waxed paper, freezer paper or foil. Place trays in the part of the freezing unit that is contacted by coils. Turn control to "cold" setting.

Broiled Luncheon Meat

Slices of luncheon meat take on added tastiness when broiled. To enhance their flavor brush each slice with a mixture of 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard and ½ teaspoon horseradish. This amount will be enough for 8 slices. 4 to 5 minutes will be sufficient broiling time.

Basic Rule

The basic rule of meat cookery is: Always cook meat at low or moderate temperature. This rule applies whether meat is cooked by dry heat—roasting, broiling or panbroiling—or moist heat—braising or in liquid.

'No Smoking'

Obey the "No Smoking" sign when you heat fat to brown or fry meat if you want a perfect product.

George Pohlmanns To Speak On Recent European Jaunt

"One Year to Go," a talk by George and Lillian Pohlmann of Mill Valley on their recent jaunt in Europe, will highlight a three-way get-together at the Mill Valley Community Church Oct. 14.

The church's three couples social groups, Sempervirens, Voyagers and Tandems, are planning the evening, designed to acquaint their members and visitors with one another and cultivate a stronger "family" feeling among them in the church.

The Pohlmanns, whose adventures were related in a series of letters to the Independent-Journal, recently returned from their trip, which they made "out of season on a shoestring," zig-zagging the length and breadth of Europe over a period of a year. In a Volkswagen bus they went as far north as Lapland and as far south as Turkey.

Besides the illustrated talk the evenings will include dessert and a get-acquainted period, or "mixer."

General chairman is Mrs. Robert Jenkins of Sempervirens; decorations and hospitality are under the direction of Mrs. Charles Cutting of Tandems; and Mrs. William Staiger, a Voyager, is in charge of dessert. Peg Simpson, another Voyager, is publicity chairman.

The event is not closed to members of either Community Church or individual groups, and anyone interested in attending may contact Mrs. Staiger, 101 Lomita Drive, Mill Valley; or Mrs. James Cruikshank, 88 Lomita Drive, Mill Valley, for reservations, preferably by Oct. 11.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the church social hall.

The new treasurer is Mrs. Francis von Neumann. Mrs. Clayton D. Mote continues as secretary and Mrs. Norton Meyer will serve as counselor. Shop "mother" to the eight orphans assisted by the group through Foster Parents Plan, is Mrs. Justin M. Day.

Mrs. Van Allen Treat was a greeted as a new member.

Before relinguishing the gavel to her successor, Mrs. Scurfield reported that donations by the Shop from October 1, 1959 to September 30, 1960 totalled $5963.00. Such gifts are made possible by the contribution of saleable merchandise to the shop. Pick-up committees are on call daily except Sundays by contacting the Shop.

Mrs. Armstrong's first order of business was a vote on current requests for funds. Agreed upon was a pledge of $500.00 to the United Crusade and $100.00 to the Needlework Guild.

JoAnne Hamon Bride Of James E. Johnson

White chrysanthemums and lemon leaves were at the altar of St. Anselm's Church, San Anselmo, on Saturday when Jo Anne Hamon of San Anselmo became the bride of James Edwin Johnson of Syracuse, N.Y.

Rev. Donald Kelly officiated for the 2 o'clock ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip T. Hamon of San Anselmo.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina gown of silk organza and lace fashioned with circular neckline, fitted lace bodice, and three quarter sleeves. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis centered with a chite orchid.

Preceding the bride down the aisle was Sharon Louise Murphy of San Rafael as maid of honor. She was gowned in yellow on white striped organza styled with a fitted bodice, circular neckline and yellow cummerbund. She had a matching yellow bandeau and carried chartreuse chrysanthemums.

The bride's sister, Elizabeth Jean Hamon was flower girl. Her dress was of pale pink organdy fashioned with flower nosegays on the skirt. She had a circlet of baby pink roses in her hair and carried white roses in her circular bouquet.

Philip John Hamon, the bride's brother of San Anselmo, acted as best man. Another brother, Steven Hamon was an usher.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hamon chose a dress of turquoise jersey and chiffon with matching accessories. She had an orchid corsage.

A reception for 100 guests followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents where ivy and white chrysanthemums were used in the arrangements.

For a wedding trip to New York City, the bride wore a topaz plaid wool suit with moss green hat and bone accessories. She had a white orchid corsage.

The new bride was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and attended College of Marin where she was affiliated with Penta Kai Dek. She was employed with the America Fore Loyalty Group in San Francisco. She is the sister of Elizabeth Jean, Philip and Steven Hamon, all of San Anselmo. Mrs. Philip T. Hamon and the late Mr. Hamon and Mrs. John Elgart and the late Mr. Elgart are her grandparents.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnson of Syracuse, N. Y., was graduated from Eastwood High School in Syracuse, and is employed with the Syracuse Ballbearing Co. Mrs. William Thomson of Syracuse is his sister. John Fitzgerald of Pennsylvania and Mrs. Jessie Bensing of Syracuse are his grandparents.

The newlyweds will reside in Syracuse.

Coming events discussed were the Past Presidents tea and apron day on Oct. 11 and the semi-annual bazaar on Oct. 25.

MR. AND MRS. LYNN ARTHUR NASH are pictured following their recent wedding at the Marin Lutheran Church in Corte Madera. The bride, the former Sharon Marie Rosell, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin B. Rosell of Larkspur.

Former Resident Claims Bride In Ceremony In Honolulu

Baskets and arrangements of Singapore plumeria and maile decorated the Atherton Chapel of the Central Union Church, Honolulu, recently, when Miss Carolyn Isobel Hefty became the bride of James Frederick Whorff of Lakeport, formerly of San Anselmo.

Parents of the bridal couple are Mr. and Mrs. Milton Raymond Hefty of Honolulu and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Whorff of Lakeport.

Rev. Joseph Dudley and Dr. Mitsuo Aoki officiated at the services and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride was gowned in a full formal length skirt of peau de soie topped with a bodice of French guipure lace designed with a rounded neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her fingertip veil fell from a pearl bandeau and her flowers were a spray of Dendrobium orchids accented with English ivy and pikake lei streamers. Her heirloom pearl and diamond lavalier belonged to her grandmother and had been worn by her mother at her wedding.

Mrs. Donald Farnsworth, the bridegroom's sister was honor attendant, June Boom of Placerville was bridesmaid and the bride's cousin, Marilyn Morris of Chico, was junior bridesmaid. The attendant's gowns were in emerald green brocaded faille and designed with portrait necklines and sheath styling. They carried white double ginger leis with emerald streamers and wore white ginger blooms in their hair.

Donald Farnsworth of Chico was best man for his brother-in-law and ushering were Raymond Scott Hefty, brother of the bride, Thomas Montgomery, James A. O'Brien, Jr. and Richard R. Davis.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hefty wore a royal blue lace sheath dress with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother was gowned in emerald green satin sheath. Their flowers were corsages of Vanda hybrid orchids.

Immediately after the service the reception was given in the church garden patio under a large Monkey Pod tree. The patio was decorated with kahilis of plumeria flowers. Entertaining the large gathering was a group of Hawaiian musicians who also serenaded the bride and bridegroom with Ke Kali Nei Au — or Hawaiian Wedding Song.

For their honeymoon trip to Hana, Maui and Hawaii the bride wore a black and white embroidered sheath with white accessories and a stranded white pikake lei.

The bride is a graduate of Punahou Academy, attended the University of Hawaii and graduated this year from Chico State College. Whorff is an alumnus of Tamalpais High School and is employed by the Pacific Telephone Company in Ukiah, where the couple will make their home.

The bridegroom served two years with the U.S. Army in Germany.

ABC's Silhouette

The ABC's of silhouette themes for fall: A—the loose, soft, low-waisted outline echoing the 1930's; B—the long, tall, semi-fitted silhouette, sometimes a straight tube, sometimes with an overblouse, tunic or tiered skirt to break the line; C—the combination of molded bodice and full skirt, the bodice elongated and the skirt often side-widened.

A Side Slant

Fashion has a side slant for fall — one-sided drapes, side slanting folds, side fastenings on coats and dresses, side-widened evening skirts, side-to-side necklines, sideward plunge to daring evening necklines.

DR. AND MRS. R. M. FURLONG of San Rafael are shown on the deck of the Incres Line "M. V. Victoria" as they arrived in New York harbor from a trip abroad. They attended the 1960 Olympics in Rome.

George Pohlmanns To Speak On Recent European Jaunt

"One Year to Go," a talk by George and Lillian Pohlmann of Mill Valley on their recent jaunt in Europe, will highlight a three-way get-together at the Mill Valley Community Church Oct. 14.

The church's three couples social groups, Sempervirens, Voyagers and Tandems, are planning the evening, designed to acquaint their members and visitors with one another and cultivate a stronger "family" feeling among them in the church.

The Pohlmanns, whose adventures were related in a series of letters to the Independent-Journal, recently returned from their trip, which they made "out of season on a shoestring," zig-zagging the length and breadth of Europe over a period of a year. In a Volkswagen bus they went as far north as Lapland and as far south as Turkey.

Besides the illustrated talk the evenings will include dessert and a get-acquainted period, or "mixer."

General chairman is Mrs. Robert Jenkins of Sempervirens; decorations and hospitality are under the direction of Mrs. Charles Cutting of Tandems; and Mrs. William Staiger, a Voyager, is in charge of dessert. Peg Simpson, another Voyager, is publicity chairman.

The event is not closed to members of either Community Church or individual groups, and anyone interested in attending may contact Mrs. Staiger, 101 Lomita Drive, Mill Valley; or Mrs. James Cruikshank, 88 Lomita Drive, Mill Valley, for reservations, preferably by Oct. 11.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the church social hall.

Shop "mother" to the eight orphans assisted by the group through Foster Parents Plan, is Mrs. Justin M. Day.

Mrs. Van Allen Treat was a greeted as a new member.

Before relinguishing the gavel to her successor, Mrs. Scurfield reported that donations by the Shop from October 1, 1959 to September 30, 1960 totalled $5963.00. Such gifts are made possible by the contribution of saleable merchandise to the shop. Pick-up committees are on call daily except Sundays by contacting the Shop.

Mrs. Armstrong's first order of business was a vote on current requests for funds. Agreed upon was a pledge of $500.00 to the United Crusade and $100.00 to the Needlework Guild.

Ross School Music Director To Present Junior Program

Marin Junior Music Club will be honored at the first meeting of the season on Saturday at 1 p.m. at Olney Hall, College of Marin, when it will present as its guest, Tom Chesnut, director of music at Ross School.

TOM CHESNUT

As specialist on the trumpet, French horn, and clarinet, Chesnut participated at the Monterey Jazz Festival last year where he performed with Woody Herman and was soloist of the Modern Jazz quartet with Gunther Schuller.

"The Language of Jazz" will be the title chosen by Chesnut for the technical demonstration before MJMC when he will solo with the trumpet as he relates the prominent role that modern jazz plays in symphonies throughout America and abroad. Co-associate of the demonstration will be another prominent Marin musician, Arthur Eisler, piano teacher and entertainer of Mill Valley, who will accompany the artist on the piano. Eisler has been associated with "Music for Minors" for the past few years.

Now in its 18th year, Marin Junior Music Club has greatly expanded its program through recent years, having increased its original membership from 10 in 1943 to a present average attendance of 60. They meet the second Saturday of every month at Olney Hall, College of Marin in Kentfield. The members consist of young musicians 8 through 16, who study musical instruments, perform regularly at the monthly meetings, sharing their talents and music appreciation with their fellow club members, and take part in the club activities.

Frocks Like Heidi's

The Alpine or Bavarian look is a way to be a fashion leader in the small smart set this fall. Pinafores and jumpers and skirts with shoulder straps are reminiscent of the Tyrol. These appear in solid velveteen, tapestry printer corduroy, and cotton prints. They're worn over embroidery trimmed blouses and dresses—and often with matching bolero jackets.

'Operation Book' To Be Project Of Women's Club

"Operation Book" will be the first project of the Marin Catholic Women's Club, Mrs. John Bodeen, chairman of the drive, announced at the recent meeting of the group.

Members are asked to go over the contents of their bookshelves for unneeded books—biographies, encyclopedias, fiction for book reports, religious and other textbooks.

The drive to help fill out the shelves of the school library will be held during the week of Oct. 17 through 21.

Mrs. Edward Ravizza, president, introduced Sister Mary Bernadina, club moderator, who gave a short address of welcome, and Rev. Mark Hurley, principal, spoke breifly of the vocation of mothers.

Presiding at the tea tables following the meeting were past presidents Mesdames Thomas Mellon, Ted Fraize, Gerald Misner, and a former vice president, Mrs. Walter Lethridge.

The Layered Look

Tunics, tiers, flounces and over-blouses give some fall clothes the layered look. Adding to the look are casual sashes instead of a belt. New shimmering colors come from laying black marquisette over a bright color. Some fabrics achieve the layered look by having a highly raised pattern in the weave.

Bach Theme For Music Study Club

Mrs. Robert Cunningham of Larkspur will be hostess to the Marin Music Study Club for its second meeting of the season Tuesday, Oct. 11, at 10:30 a.m.

A business meeting will precede a program based on the music of Bach, with a paper to be given by Mrs. Stephen Nash, president.

Piano compositions of Bach are to be played by Mrs. Robert Schultz and Mrs. Carl Nordstrand, and the club's chamber music ensemble has been preparing "Plaisir d'Amout" by Martini for the affair.

Members to be heard in the ensemble will be Mesdames Theodore Kuhlmann, flutist; Leslie Airth and Kermit Sather, violinists; Robert Cunningham and Stephen Nash, cellists; and Mrs. Mel Jordan and Miss Nancy Nissle will be guest violinists.

Mrs. Guy Barber and Mrs. Otto Weissich will be heard in vocal selections of the period.

Shorter Topcoats Are Solidly Entrenched

Over the last several seasons certain trends of a handsome, practical nature have been developing in men's topcoats. For Fall 1960, these trends would appear to be getting even more solidly entrenched.

Among these trends the major one is the shorter lengths in topcoats.

The other features worth noting are that the double-breasted model—coming along steadily over the last two or three years — is getting still stronger; and that heavier weight fabrics seem to be getting a somewhat better play.

Very evident is a trend to big patterns and distinct checks in "style" goods. Top sellers remain medium to dark shades.

In both single- and double-breasted styles, set-in and split-raglan sleeves are widely shown. In the natural shoulder group of coats, the slightly fitted, modified chesterfield is tops, followed by British-type balmacaans with deep wing sleeves and the classic double-breasted British Warmers.

Also noteworthy is an especially dressy dark treatment dubbed the "impresario look." Features to check here are the fur and fur-look collars, in ulster and shawl treatments, as well as others, a variety of pockets and rich fabrics.

Make sure the topcoat you buy fits correctly.

MR. AND MRS. LYNN ARTHUR NASH are pictured following their recent wedding at the Marin Lutheran Church in Corte Madera. The bride, the former Sharon Marie Rosell, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin B. Rosell of Larkspur.

Former Resident Claims Bride In Ceremony In Honolulu

Baskets and arrangements of Singapore plumeria and maile decorated the Atherton Chapel of the Central Union Church, Honolulu, recently, when Miss Carolyn Isobel Hefty became the bride of James Frederick Whorff of Lakeport, formerly of San Anselmo.

Parents of the bridal couple are Mr. and Mrs. Milton Raymond Hefty of Honolulu and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Whorff of Lakeport.

Rev. Joseph Dudley and Dr. Mitsuo Aoki officiated at the services and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride was gowned in a full formal length skirt of peau de soie topped with a bodice of French guipure lace designed with a rounded neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her fingertip veil fell from a pearl bandeau and her flowers were a spray of Dendrobium orchids accented with English ivy and pikake lei streamers. Her heirloom pearl and diamond lavalier belonged to her grandmother and had been worn by her mother at her wedding.

Mrs. Donald Farnsworth, the bridegroom's sister was honor attendant, June Boom of Placerville was bridesmaid and the bride's cousin, Marilyn Morris of Chico, was junior bridesmaid. The attendant's gowns were in emerald green brocaded faille and designed with portrait necklines and sheath styling. They carried white double ginger leis with emerald streamers and wore white ginger blooms in their hair.

Donald Farnsworth of Chico was best man for his brother-in-law and ushering were Raymond Scott Hefty, brother of the bride, Thomas Montgomery, James A. O'Brien, Jr. and Richard R. Davis.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hefty wore a royal blue lace sheath dress with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother was gowned in emerald green satin sheath. Their flowers were corsages of Vanda hybrid orchids.

Immediately after the service the reception was given in the church garden patio under a large Monkey Pod tree. The patio was decorated with kahilis of plumeria flowers. Entertaining the large gathering was a group of Hawaiian musicians who also serenaded the bride and bridegroom with Ke Kali Nei Au — or Hawaiian Wedding Song.

For their honeymoon trip to Hana, Maui and Hawaii the bride wore a black and white embroidered sheath with white accessories and a stranded white pikake lei.

The bride is a graduate of Punahou Academy, attended the University of Hawaii and graduated this year from Chico State College. Whorff is an alumnus of Tamalpais High School and is employed by the Pacific Telephone Company in Ukiah, where the couple will make their home.

The bridegroom served two years with the U.S. Army in Germany.

The full skirt had four panels of lace and extended into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil was held by a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a white prayer book topped with white orchids, bouvardia and satin streamers.

Honor attendants, Winifred Seagren and Donna Seagren of Onamia, Minn., wore blue satin bell dresses fashioned with short sleeves. They had blue bandeaux and carried bouquets of gold chrysanthemums and wheat with ribbon streamers.

ABC's Silhouette

The ABC's of silhouette themes for fall: A—the loose, soft, low-waisted outline echoing the 1930's; B—the long, tall, semi-fitted silhouette, sometimes a straight tube, sometimes with an overblouse, tunic or tiered skirt to break the line; C—the combination of molded bodice and full skirt, the bodice elongated and the skirt often side-widened.

A Side Slant

Fashion has a side slant for fall — one-sided drapes, side slanting folds, side fastenings on coats and dresses, side-widened evening skirts, side-to-side necklines, sideward plunge to daring evening necklines.

DR. AND MRS. R. M. FURLONG of San Rafael are shown on the deck of the Incres Line "M. V. Victoria" as they arrived in New York harbor from a trip abroad. They attended the 1960 Olympics in Rome.

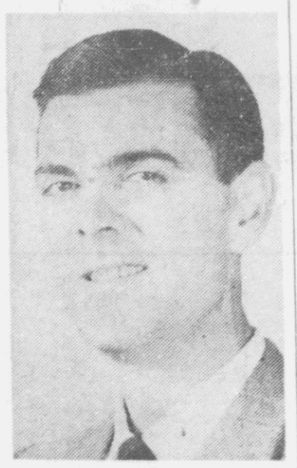
Ross School Music Director To Present Junior Program



TOM CHESNUT

Marin Junior Music Club will be honored at the first meeting of the season on Saturday at 1 p.m. at Olney Hall, College of Marin, when it will present as its guest, Tom Chesnut, director of music at Ross School.

As specialist on the trumpet, French horn, and clarinet, Chesnut participated at the Monterey Jazz Festival last year where he performed with Woody Herman and was soloist of the Modern Jazz quartet with Gunther Schuller.

"The Language of Jazz" will be the title chosen by Chesnut for the technical demonstration before MJMC when he will solo with the trumpet as he relates the prominent role that modern jazz plays in symphonies throughout America and abroad. Co-associate of the demonstration will be another prominent Marin musician, Arthur Eisler, piano teacher and entertainer of Mill Valley, who will accompany the artist on the piano. Eisler has been associated with "Music for Minors" for the past few years.

Now in its 18th year, Marin Junior Music Club has greatly expanded its program through recent years, having increased its original membership from 10 in 1943 to a present average attendance of 60. They meet the second Saturday of every month at Olney Hall, College of Marin in Kentfield. The members consist of young musicians 8 through 16, who study musical instruments, perform regularly at the monthly meetings, sharing their talents and music appreciation with their fellow club members, and take part in the club activities.

Officers of the club are Kris Kraft, president; Mary Dahl, vice president; Sharon Johnson, secretary; Valerie Meacham, treasurer; Elaine Thomas, historian; Richard Dahl, sergeant-at-arms. Property men to assist counselors at monthly meetings are Bruce Wagner, Frances Dahl, Larry Bathgate, and Larry Adams.

'Operation Book' To Be Project Of Women's Club

"Operation Book" will be the first project of the Marin Catholic Women's Club, Mrs. John Bodeen, chairman of the drive, announced at the recent meeting of the group.

Members are asked to go over the contents of their bookshelves for unneeded books—biographies, encyclopedias, fiction for book reports, religious and other textbooks.

The drive to help fill out the shelves of the school library will be held during the week of Oct. 17 through 21.

Mrs. Edward Ravizza, president, introduced Sister Mary Bernadina, club moderator, who gave a short address of welcome, and Rev. Mark Hurley, principal, spoke breifly of the vocation of mothers.

Presiding at the tea tables following the meeting were past presidents Mesdames Thomas Mellon, Ted Fraize, Gerald Misner, and a former vice president, Mrs. Walter Lethridge.

The Layered Look

Tunics, tiers, flounces and over-blouses give some fall clothes the layered look. Adding to the look are casual sashes instead of a belt. New shimmering colors come from laying black marquisette over a bright color. Some fabrics achieve the layered look by having a highly raised pattern in the weave.

Bach Theme For Music Study Club

Mrs. Robert Cunningham of Larkspur will be hostess to the Marin Music Study Club for its second meeting of the season Tuesday, Oct. 11, at 10:30 a.m.

A business meeting will precede a program based on the music of Bach, with a paper to be given by Mrs. Stephen Nash, president.

Piano compositions of Bach are to be played by Mrs. Robert Schultz and Mrs. Carl Nordstrand, and the club's chamber music ensemble has been preparing "Plaisir d'Amout" by Martini for the affair.

Members to be heard in the ensemble will be Mesdames Theodore Kuhlmann, flutist; Leslie Airth and Kermit Sather, violinists; Robert Cunningham and Stephen Nash, cellists; and Mrs. Mel Jordan and Miss Nancy Nissle will be guest violinists.

Mrs. Guy Barber and Mrs. Otto Weissich will be heard in vocal selections of the period.

Shorter Topcoats Are Solidly Entrenched

Over the last several seasons certain trends of a handsome, practical nature have been developing in men's topcoats. For Fall 1960, these trends would appear to be getting even more solidly entrenched.

Among these trends the major one is the shorter lengths in topcoats.

The other features worth noting are that the double-breasted model—coming along steadily over the last two or three years — is getting still stronger; and that heavier weight fabrics seem to be getting a somewhat better play.

Very evident is a trend to big patterns and distinct checks in "style" goods. Top sellers remain medium to dark shades.

In both single- and double-breasted styles, set-in and split-raglan sleeves are widely shown. In the natural shoulder group of coats, the slightly fitted, modified chesterfield is tops, followed by British-type balmacaans with deep wing sleeves and the classic double-breasted British Warmers.

Also noteworthy is an especially dressy dark treatment dubbed the "impresario look." Features to check here are the fur and fur-look collars, in ulster and shawl treatments, as well as others, a variety of pockets and rich fabrics.

Make sure the topcoat you buy fits correctly.

Frocks Like Heidi's

The Alpine or Bavarian look is a way to be a fashion leader in the small smart set this fall. Pinafores and jumpers and skirts with shoulder straps are reminiscent of the Tyrol. These appear in solid velveteen, tapestry printer corduroy, and cotton prints. They're worn over embroidery trimmed blouses and dresses—and often with matching bolero jackets.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Home Of Demo Bigwigs Still Solidly Republican

Marin County, home of the Democratic Party's state leaders, continues to be the strongest Republican stronghold in California, as final registration figures for the November election are tallied.

The Republicans now register 36,633 in the county as compared with 32,619 for the Democrats, according to County Clerk George Jones.

The Democrats can look on this as a little gain, if they want to. For the 1956 presidential election, the differences between the two parties was 4,671. Today it is 4,014.

But if Democrats cheer gains made there, they had better close their eyes to some other figures.

In the 1958 off-year elections, there was only 3,755 more GOP voters registered than there were Democrats. The difference between the two totals has increased since that time.

And coming even closer in a point of time: the County Clerk reported that since the June primaries this year, 9,554 persons registered to vote. Of these, 4,164 were Democrats, 4,646 Republicans. Thus in the hectic registration period, which Jones calls the most hectic he ever remembers, more Republicans signed up than Democrats.

This may be a sobering thought for some Democrats who for years have said that most of the people who aren't registered actually are Democrats. In Marin County, anyway, more Republicans register.

Jones insists that as many as 90 per cent of the county's eligible voters actually are registered. If he's right, that's a remarkable record and a feather in the caps of everyone of both parties who was active in the registration campaign.

There is no way to prove or disprove his theory short of an every person canvass. But he points to the fact that the 1960 preliminary census indicates a county population of 145,000 persons. The registration is approximately 50 per cent of that figure.

When you consider all the youngsters under 21 who are not eligible, all the persons who haven't lived in the state a year or are not eligible for voting for similar reasons, all the servicemen at Hamilton Air Force Base and other military establishments, and the convicts at San Quentin Prison, all of whom count in the census figures, "I thing we have a pretty full registration," Jones declares.

He certainly has some facts on his side of the argument.

Moonviewing Parties

Tonight as the big, full moon of autumn shines down upon Marin, people in the Orient will be celebrating Moon Festival with moonviewing parties. So will some Marinites of Chinese, Korean and Japanese extraction.

In contrast to Chinese New Years which is celebrated with fireworks and hailed with noisy fanfare, Moon Festival is quiet, given over to the appreciation of Nature, the recitation of poetry (perhaps that of Li Po who was intoxicated by the moon's beauty), and, by some, the modest consumption of rice wine.

A hearty dinner finished off with moon cakes is followed by a retreat to the garden or the roof or even, as in Japan, a leisurely walk through the moonlit country side.

To our way of thinking, Moon Festival is one of the most pleasant holidays on mankind's calendar.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

A GALAHAD ON WHEELS

Sir Galahad rides again as a bus driver in the swirl of traffic on Manhattan's Fifth Avenue.

This gallant gentleman is politeness itself. He greets incoming passengers with a cheery "Good afternoon," and gives them a hearty "Thank you" for the coins they drop into his box.

Not content with that, he also calls out street numbers, stores and principal points of interest along his midtown route.

Stopping at 50th Street, for instance, he pleasantly announces: "Rockefeller Center, St. Patrick's Cathedral, Saks Fifth Avenue. Have a nice day. Don't spend too much. Watch the budget."

Passengers, happily surprised by such friendly treatment, have told him, "You're the nicest bus driver I ever met!"

It is within the power of us all to add a gracious note to the hum-drum of life. At home, in the supermarket, while driving or at work we can be instruments of God's love for all men.

"Rejoice in the Lord always; again I say, rejoice. Let your moderation be known to all men." (Philippians 4:4)

Remind me, O Lord, that I can add a sparkle of Your love to any situation.

Some Little Girls Do Homework On Forests In The Living Room

NEW YORK (AP) —I don't know about your house, but in our house we are having trouble with our indoor forest.

Perhaps where you live you don't try to raise the outdoors indoors. You grow inside and let the trees grow outside.

This is the approach to nature I was brought up to believe was natural.

Well, in the big city they don't always do things that way.

My daughter Tracy, 7, is in the second grade now, and she keeps coming home from school with a tree in her hand. Well, anyway, an embryo tree, a seedling in a can.

"What is this?" I ask.

"My homework."

"What do you mean your homework?"

"I bring it home and watch it work—I mean grow. Then I bring it to class and show it, then I bring it back home and let it grow some more, then I bring it to class again, and then I—"

Well, she doesn't have to go any further. I get the general idea. Instead of having a child go out and look at a forest, they have her plant one in her father's living room.

This is progressive education. It saves the child from walking. She can sit down in her own home and water her wilderness and watch it grow.

It doesn't work out that way in our house, however. The first time Tracy brought her own tree home from school I was afraid. I feared that in time, on some future lazy weekend, I would be lifted from my usual armchair lethargy and thrust atop a twining limb of greenery to the astonishment of our neighbors.

Well, thanks to our cat, Lady Dottie, I am in no danger of being tree-borne immediately.

I am not sure whether the tree in the can my daughter brought home hopefully the other day is the third or fourth effort on the part of her and her teacher to make our house a wilderness.

In any case, Tracy waters it with loving care and croons little love songs to it, and it grows during the sun of the day. But at night Lady Dottie creeps up on little fog feet and eats all its leaves away.

Two Key Questions To Watch In Assessing How UN Goes

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. —This is no ordinary session of the United Nations. More is going on here than cold-war oratory. Events are in the making which are capable of great good—or great harm. This meeting of the General Assembly will almost certainly shape the direction it is going to go. The direction is not yet evident. It will be evident when two decisions begin to emerge:

Will the great majority of the 98 members stand firmly behind Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's steering of the U. N. in the Congo so that the U. N. may continue to shield the new African nations from the cold war?

Will Khrushchev accept the Eisenhower and Macmillan proposition that the key to disarmament is "fair and effective inspection," that inspection must come simultaneously with disarmament —or will he continue to say that control can come only after disarmament has taken place?

THE ANSWERS to these questions mean success or failure at this crucial General Assembly. If you watch the trend of action on these two points — c a n Hammarskjold survive the bludgeoning attacks of the Soviet Union and will Khrushchev permit Moscow to join an experts' study on how arms inspection can be made practical?—you will know whether events here are going to ease world tension or worsen it.

Unquestionably Prime Minister Macmillan has strengthened the posture of the West for serious negotiation on the key issue, the issue on which Premier Khrushchev again and again vows he wants to negotiate—the mutual reduction of armaments.

MACMILLAN spoke forcefully and appealingly. He confronted Mr. K. with the very heart of the dispute. He agreed that understandable mutual fear and suspicion have s t o o d in the way of making any headway on disarmament. He galvanized the attention of every delegate on the central problem of how fear and suspicion can be made to yield. He contended that they could be steadily dissolved only by combining step-by-step inspection with step-by-step disarmament.

He then pleaded w i t h Khrushchev to permit the Soviet Union to come to the conference table to deal with the most likely means of beginning t h e disarmament process—an immediate conference of the experts, technical, military, and administrative, to recommend the measures for "far and effective inspection" so that they could be installed concurrently with e v e r y disarmament step.

It is true that Mr. K. has long said he favored "strict international control," but there has always been a catch. When he came right down to it, he approved control only A F T E R disarmament. He said he favored destroying the stockpiles of nuclear weapons, but there is yet no known means of detecting whether such stockpiles have been destroyed.

THE ISSUE HAS never been as clearly joined as Mr. Macmillan joined it here this past week. He rejected disarmament without conrol; he rejected control without disarmament; he urged disarmament CONCURRENT with control and asked Mr. K. to join with the West in putting the technicians to work to determine how.

If we keep our eyes on that issue we can know whether Mr. K. wants disarmament or whether he wants only to talk about disarmament.

And if we keep our eye on the U. N.'s support of Hammarskjold, we can k n o w whether the cold war can be kept out of the Congo.

BENNETT CERF

I met Joe E. Lewis, the impetuous night club star, in Miami Beach one evening and asked him, "How are you doing at the track this season?" "Great," e n t h u s e d Lewis. "I made $8,000 at Aqueduct, 14 grand at Saratoga, and $9,000 at Hialeah." "Of course," he added after a moment of reflection, "that doesn't include my losses."

Owner of a vast timber tract sent out a crew of 50 husky men with three women to do their cooking, and told the camp boss, "Don't send me lengthy reports. A couple of key figures each week will keep me abreast of things."

The camp boss' first report, a fortnight later, read simply: "Six per cent of your men have married a hundred per cent of your women."

Shelley Berman tells of an an Indian fakir's wife who appeared in the bedroom one morning with a hammer and a pail of nails. "Get up," she ordered the fakir. "This is the day for changing our beds."

Papa's pride and joy flunked geometry in the twelfth grade. "Don't you worry, my boy," consoled his pa. "Practically nobody in the dress business speaks it anyhow."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Discuss Problems At School Board

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

This is in reference to Mrs. Beverly Bastian's letter relating to the Reed Union School District published in the Independent-Journal on Sept. 26. The board of trustees has asked me, as its chairman, to thank you for your kind letter of Sept. 27 in which you advise that the publication of Mrs. Bastian's letter on the eve of the bond election was an error on your part, and that it has been and is your policy to publish such letters, if at all, sufficiently in advance of an election to permit publication of a response.

The bond election passed by a vote of 4 to 1. The board of trustees takes this occasion to express its gratitude to the residents of the district for this vote of confidence in its recommendations.

As always, we invite and indeed urge parents and others in the district who have questions concerning the district's policies or practices to attend our board meetings (held every second and fourth Tuesday) where, as always in the past, there will be an opportunity for frank and fair discussion. When important matters affecting children's education are concerned, we have found this procedure to be more constructive and more profitable to the parents, the children and to the staff of the district.

For these reasons we hope the parents and teachers of the district will understand our not responding here to matters raised in the letter published on Sept. 26.

Western Canada Has Much To Remind Of Marin—So It's Nice

Marin County is like a magic fruit—o n c e tasted, never forgot. Put this to the test of travel and you'll wish for quick return.

Our own late-vacation wanderings were through country often reminding us of Marin's trees and flowers, hilly, winding roads, and sea coast. Comparisons were frequent and often to Marin advantage.

Even destinations w e r e often Marin-inspired. It was a phone call from a Larkspur lady which led us from Vancouver Island to small and lovely Salt Spring Island with a pleasant inn and a lively mimeographed n e w s p a p e r run by a salmon-fishing Montanan. Almost up to the I-J. in its way!

ON THE CAR FERRY to this island our spry little Porsche qualified for 75-cent charge by .2 of an inch. By that amount its overall length was under 13-foot $1 fee (and cars over 15 feet paid $1.25). When will Marin toll bridges and parking spots do such justice?

As we toured through Washington I wasn't aware that the blessing of radar speed traps was about to descend on our own Mill Valley.

But on a Sunday afternoon Washington had radar working on the safest road in the state—a straight four-lane divided highway somewhat better than the Kansas Turnpike where 80 miles an hour is allowed, and safe.

THE SLIGHTLY s h a m e-faced young patrolman just over a rise who was halting cars faster than he could write "over-60" tickets at least didn't pretend that anybody was jeopardizing safety. All he did was explain how radar works (many weren't convinced it always caught the right car) and give the name of a J. P. to whom victims were to mail their checks.

Washington spends a good deal of advertising money to attract visitors. If the governor could have listened to talk in the group of cars waiting for tickets, he'd have learned how fast good-will can turn to ill-will.

Here was a fast, safe road being used as a pestiferous sort of revenue-raiser for the state with the highest per capita tax burden of any except Hawaii. Able patrolmen were being tied up for such work.

And at the same time on a nearby, narrow, c r o w d e d feeder road, two-lane with no divider, teen-age hot-rodders were whooping it up unmolested—cutting in and out recklessly and with impunity.

Whether there's any lesson in all this for Mill Valley remains to be seen. But in general, radar is most used where danger is least because it's that kind of straight-road gadget.

OUR SMALL BIT of Canada made us rank it well up. The life seemed good—and in the old Marin pattern, now considerably jeopardized by population pressures beating across the Golden Gate.

Victoria was about to see an auction of two liners off the former Vancouver-Victoria-Seattle run, termed a "ferry" and thus reminiscent of how the ferries vanished off our own Bay.

Things are changing up there as elsewhere, but a lot of character is being shown in effecting modernity without too much loss. I thought of the spirit of two devoted Marin women now on their way out of work for which to my mind they've hardly received proper thanks—Supervisor Vera Schultz and Planning Commissioner Margaret Azevedo.

Others here are trying, too. And on the whole I think our people really care about preserving Marin beauties and advantages.

IN THE NORTHWEST states it seemed to me many were pretty dead on their feet.

"We left Portland for California," wrote one correspondent of the Oregonian, "because we wanted to do something positive with our lives—and not continue in the sort of critical 'I'm agin it' atmosphere that stifles progress. We've been happy for the change . . ."

Reading this, we thought that our friends and neighbors in Marin h a v e much cause for both self-congratulation and self-questioning. If our future is up to our past and present, we'll be more than lucky.

HENRY MacARTHUR

Record High Income Looks Good Until Per Capita Is Broken Down

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Sometimes it's fun to fool with figures, especially when you know nothing about them. This is a time when glowing terms of billions are tossed around like leaves in a heavy wind.

This observation c o m e s from a report of John E. Carr, state director of finance, to Gov. Edmund G. Brown:

"Total personal income of California residents reached a record annual rate of $43.1 billion during the quarter ended June 30, 1960. This amount is almost $2.7 billion greater than the income level of a year ago."

IT IS MORE than refreshing to hear that income is up $2.7 billion. But if one wants to start fooling with the figures, it gets to be slightly depressing.

For instance, the per capita income with 16 million people in the state, figures out to approximately $2,700 annually.

About a quarter of this goes for federal income taxes, $135 for state income taxes, $135 for local property taxes, some $75 for sales taxes (local and state), approximately $180 for gas and miscellaneous taxes, $68 for social security and $27 for disability insurance.

THIS ADDS UP to $1,405, or slightly less than half of the per capita income going to one government function or another.

All of which leaves the citizen $1,045 net, which would amount to $27 per week.

And out of this $27 per week, the citizen must buy his food, his clothes, his entertainment, make his car payments, pay insurance, and maintain his property.

Education of children isn't figured in the total amounts the citizen individually has to spend, for the computation is on a per capita basis, and the youngster would have $27 a week to go to school on if this were fact instead of fancy.

TAX INCREASES, of course, cut down the amount of the net to the citizenry. But tax increases are always with the public. The annual increase in total income probably is more than offset by the increases in taxes.

So the figure of $43.1 billion income somewhere along the line isn't quite as impressive as it is supposed to be.

The observation also points out that were income divided equally between the 16 million citizens of the state, there would be much more realization of the government's cut f r o m the gross take, even though some of the taxes would remain much more hidden.

IT WAS ONLY a few years ago that some citizens were decrying the fact they were working for the government 25 per cent of the time. Now, this has jumped to approximately 50 per cent, with little indication that the first six months of the year ever again will belong to the citizen.

And many wonder what will happen in the next 20 years!

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Home Of Demo Bigwigs Still Solidly Republican

Marin County, home of the Democratic Party's state leaders, continues to be the strongest Republican stronghold in California, as final registration figures for the November election are tallied.

The Republicans now register 36,633 in the county as compared with 32,619 for the Democrats, according to County Clerk George Jones.

The Democrats can look on this as a little gain, if they want to. For the 1956 presidential election, the differences between the two parties was 4,671. Today it is 4,014.

But if Democrats cheer gains made there, they had better close their eyes to some other figures.

In the 1958 off-year elections, there was only 3,755 more GOP voters registered than there were Democrats. The difference between the two totals has increased since that time.

And coming even closer in a point of time: the County Clerk reported that since the June primaries this year, 9,554 persons registered to vote. Of these, 4,164 were Democrats, 4,646 Republicans. Thus in the hectic registration period, which Jones calls the most hectic he ever remembers, more Republicans signed up than Democrats.

This may be a sobering thought for some Democrats who for years have said that most of the people who aren't registered actually are Democrats. In Marin County, anyway, more Republicans register.

Jones insists that as many as 90 per cent of the county's eligible voters actually are registered. If he's right, that's a remarkable record and a feather in the caps of everyone of both parties who was active in the registration campaign.

There is no way to prove or disprove his theory short of an every person canvass. But he points to the fact that the 1960 preliminary census indicates a county population of 145,000 persons. The registration is approximately 50 per cent of that figure.

When you consider all the youngsters under 21 who are not eligible, all the persons who haven't lived in the state a year or are not eligible for voting for similar reasons, all the servicemen at Hamilton Air Force Base and other military establishments, and the convicts at San Quentin Prison, all of whom count in the census figures, "I thing we have a pretty full registration," Jones declares.

He certainly has some facts on his side of the argument.

Moonviewing Parties

Tonight as the big, full moon of autumn shines down upon Marin, people in the Orient will be celebrating Moon Festival with moonviewing parties. So will some Marinites of Chinese, Korean and Japanese extraction.

In contrast to Chinese New Years which is celebrated with fireworks and hailed with noisy fanfare, Moon Festival is quiet, given over to the appreciation of Nature, the recitation of poetry (perhaps that of Li Po who was intoxicated by the moon's beauty), and, by some, the modest consumption of rice wine.

A hearty dinner finished off with moon cakes is followed by a retreat to the garden or the roof or even, as in Japan, a leisurely walk through the moonlit country side.

To our way of thinking, Moon Festival is one of the most pleasant holidays on mankind's calendar.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

A GALAHAD ON WHEELS

Sir Galahad rides again as a bus driver in the swirl of traffic on Manhattan's Fifth Avenue.

This gallant gentleman is politeness itself. He greets incoming passengers with a cheery "Good afternoon," and gives them a hearty "Thank you" for the coins they drop into his box.

Not content with that, he also calls out street numbers, stores and principal points of interest along his midtown route.

Stopping at 50th Street, for instance, he pleasantly announces: "Rockefeller Center, St. Patrick's Cathedral, Saks Fifth Avenue. Have a nice day. Don't spend too much. Watch the budget."

Passengers, happily surprised by such friendly treatment, have told him, "You're the nicest bus driver I ever met!"

It is within the power of us all to add a gracious note to the hum-drum of life. At home, in the supermarket, while driving or at work we can be instruments of God's love for all men.

"Rejoice in the Lord always; again I say, rejoice. Let your moderation be known to all men." (Philippians 4:4)

Remind me, O Lord, that I can add a sparkle of Your love to any situation.

Some Little Girls Do Homework On Forests In The Living Room

NEW YORK (AP) —I don't know about your house, but in our house we are having trouble with our indoor forest.

Perhaps where you live you don't try to raise the outdoors indoors. You grow inside and let the trees grow outside.

This is the approach to nature I was brought up to believe was natural.

Well, in the big city they don't always do things that way.

My daughter Tracy, 7, is in the second grade now, and she keeps coming home from school with a tree in her hand. Well, anyway, an embryo tree, a seedling in a can.

"What is this?" I ask.

"My homework."

"What do you mean your homework?"

"I bring it home and watch it work—I mean grow. Then I bring it to class and show it, then I bring it back home and let it grow some more, then I bring it to class again, and then, I—"

Well, she doesn't have to go any further. I get the general idea. Instead of having a child go out and look at a forest, they have her plant one in her father's living room.

This is progressive education. It saves the child from walking. She can sit down in her own home and water her wilderness and watch it grow.

It doesn't work out that way in our house, however. The first time Tracy brought her own tree home from school I was afraid. I feared that in time, on some future lazy weekend, I would be lifted from my usual armchair lethargy and thrust atop a twining limb of greenery to the astonishment of our neighbors.

Well, thanks to our cat, Lady Dottie, I am in no danger of being tree-borne immediately.

I am not sure whether the tree in the can my daughter brought home hopefully the other day is the third or fourth effort on the part of her and her teacher to make our house a wilderness.

In any case, Tracy waters it with loving care and croons little love songs to it, and it grows during the sun of the day. But at night Lady Dottie creeps up on little fog feet and eats all its leaves away.

Two Key Questions To Watch In Assessing How UN Goes

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. —This is no ordinary session of the United Nations. More is going on here than cold-war oratory. Events are in the making which are capable of great good—or great harm. This meeting of the General Assembly will almost certainly shape the direction it is going to go. The direction is not yet evident. It will be evident when two decisions begin to emerge:

Will the great majority of the 98 members stand firmly behind Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's steering of the U. N. in the Congo so that the U. N. may continue to shield the new African nations from the cold war?

Will Khrushchev accept the Eisenhower and Macmillan proposition that the key to disarmament is "fair and effective inspection," that inspection must come simultaneously with disarmament —or will he continue to say that control can come only after disarmament has taken place?

THE ANSWERS to these questions mean success or failure at this crucial General Assembly. If you watch the trend of action on these two points — can Hammarskjold survive the bludgeoning attacks of the Soviet Union and will Khrushchev permit Moscow to join an experts' study on how arms inspection can be made practical?—you will know whether events here are going to ease world tension or worsen it.

Unquestionably Prime Minister Macmillan has strengthened the posture of the West for serious negotiation on the key issue, the issue on which Premier Khrushchev again and again vows he wants to negotiate—the mutual reduction of armaments.

MACMILLAN spoke forcefully and appealingly. He confronted Mr. K. with the very heart of the dispute. He agreed that understandable mutual fear and suspicion have stood in the way of making any headway on disarmament. He galvanized the attention of every delegate on the central problem of how fear and suspicion can be made to yield. He contended that they could be steadily dissolved only by combining step-by-step inspection with step-by-step disarmament.

He then pleaded with Khrushchev to permit the Soviet Union to come to the conference table to deal with the most likely means of beginning the disarmament process—an immediate conference of the experts, technical, military, and administrative, to recommend the measures for "far and effective inspection" so that they could be installed concurrently with every disarmament step.

It is true that Mr. K. has long said he favored "strict international control," but there has always been a catch. When he came right down to it, he approved control only AFTER disarmament. He said he favored destroying the stockpiles of nuclear weapons, but there is yet no known means of detecting whether such stockpiles have been destroyed.

THE ISSUE HAS never been as clearly joined as Mr. Macmillan joined it here this past week. He rejected disarmament without conrol; he rejected control without disarmament; he urged disarmament CONCURRENT with control and asked Mr. K. to join with the West in putting the technicians to work to determine how.

If we keep our eyes on that issue we can know whether Mr. K. wants disarmament or whether he wants only to talk about disarmament.

And if we keep our eye on the U. N.'s support of Hammarskjold, we can know whether the cold war can be kept out of the Congo.

Discuss Problems At School Board

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

This is in reference to Mrs. Beverly Bastian's letter relating to the Reed Union School District published in the Independent-Journal on Sept. 26. The board of trustees has asked me, as its chairman, to thank you for your kind letter of Sept. 27 in which you advise that the publication of Mrs. Bastian's letter on the eve of the bond election was an error on your part, and that it has been and is your policy to publish such letters, if at all, sufficiently in advance of an election to permit publication of a response.

The bond election passed by a vote of 4 to 1. The board of trustees takes this occasion to express its gratitude to the residents of the district for this vote of confidence in its recommendations.

As always, we invite and indeed urge parents and others in the district who have questions concerning the district's policies or practices to attend our board meetings (held every second and fourth Tuesday) where, as always in the past, there will be an opportunity for frank and fair discussion. When important matters affecting children's education are concerned, we have found this procedure to be more constructive and more profitable to the parents, the children and to the staff of the district.

For these reasons we hope the parents and teachers of the district will understand our not responding here to matters raised in the letter published on Sept. 26.

I met Joe E. Lewis, the impetuous night club star, in Miami Beach one evening and asked him, "How are you doing at the track this season?" "Great," enthused Lewis. "I made $8,000 at Aqueduct, 14 grand at Saratoga, and $9,000 at Hialeah." "Of course," he added after a moment of reflection, "that doesn't include my losses."

Owner of a vast timber tract sent out a crew of 50 husky men with three women to do their cooking, and told the camp boss, "Don't send me lengthy reports. A couple of key figures each week will keep me abreast of things."

The camp boss' first report, a fortnight later, read simply: "Six per cent of your men have married a hundred per cent of your women."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By RANDALL GOULD

Western Canada Has Much To Remind Of Marin—So It's Nice

Marin County is like a magic fruit—once tasted, never forgot. Put this to the test of travel and you'll wish for quick return.

Our own late-vacation wanderings were through country often reminding us of Marin's trees and flowers, hilly, winding roads, and sea coast. Comparisons were frequent and often to Marin advantage.

Even destinations were often Marin-inspired. It was a phone call from a Larkspur lady which led us from Vancouver Island to small and lovely Salt Spring Island with a pleasant inn and a lively mimeographed newspaper run by a salmon-fishing Montanan. Almost up to the I-J. in its way!

ON THE CAR FERRY to this island our spry little Porsche qualified for 75-cent charge by .2 of an inch. By that amount its overall length was under 13-foot $1 fee (and cars over 15 feet paid $1.25). When will Marin toll bridges and parking spots do such justice?

As we toured through Washington I wasn't aware that the blessing of radar speed traps was about to descend on our own Mill Valley.

But on a Sunday afternoon Washington had radar working on the safest road in the state—a straight four-lane divided highway somewhat better than the Kansas Turnpike where 80 miles an hour is allowed, and safe.

THE SLIGHTLY shame-faced young patrolman just over a rise who was halting cars faster than he could write "over-60" tickets at least didn't pretend that anybody was jeopardizing safety. All he did was explain how radar works (many weren't convinced it always caught the right car) and give the name of a J. P. to whom victims were to mail their checks.

Washington spends a good deal of advertising money to attract visitors. If the governor could have listened to talk in the group of cars waiting for tickets, he'd have learned how fast good-will can turn to ill-will.

Here was a fast, safe road being used as a pestiferous sort of revenue-raiser for the state with the highest per capita tax burden of any except Hawaii. Able patrolmen were being tied up for such work.

And at the same time on a nearby, narrow, crowded feeder road, two-lane with no divider, teen-age hot-rodders were whooping it up unmolested—cutting in and out recklessly and with impunity.

Whether there's any lesson in all this for Mill Valley remains to be seen. But in general, radar is most used where danger is least because it's that kind of straight-road gadget.

OUR SMALL BIT of Canada made us rank it well up. The life seemed good—and in the old Marin pattern, now considerably jeopardized by population pressures beating across the Golden Gate.

Victoria was about to see an auction of two liners off the former Vancouver-Victoria-Seattle run, termed a "ferry" and thus reminiscent of how the ferries vanished off our own Bay.

Things are changing up there as elsewhere, but a lot of character is being shown in effecting modernity without too much loss. I thought of the spirit of two devoted Marin women now on their way out of work for which to my mind they've hardly received proper thanks—Supervisor Vera Schultz and Planning Commissioner Margaret Azevedo.

Others here are trying, too. And on the whole I think our people really care about preserving Marin beauties and advantages.

IN THE NORTHWEST states it seemed to me many were pretty dead on their feet.

"We left Portland for California," wrote one correspondent of the Oregonian, "because we wanted to do something positive with our lives—and not continue in the sort of critical 'I'm agin it' atmosphere that stifles progress. We've been happy for the change . . ."

Reading this, we thought that our friends and neighbors in Marin have much cause for both self-congratulation and self-questioning. If our future is up to our past and present, we'll be more than lucky.

Record High Income Looks Good Until Per Capita Is Broken Down

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Sometimes it's fun to fool with figures, especially when you know nothing about them. This is a time when glowing terms of billions are tossed around like leaves in a heavy wind.

This observation comes from a report of John E. Carr, state director of finance, to Gov. Edmund G. Brown:

"Total personal income of California residents reached a record annual rate of $43.1 billion during the quarter ended June 30, 1960. This amount is almost $2.7 billion greater than the income level of a year ago."

IT IS MORE than refreshing to hear that income is up $2.7 billion. But if one wants to start fooling with the figures, it gets to be slightly depressing.

For instance, the per capita income with 16 million people in the state, figures out to approximately $2,700 annually.

About a quarter of this goes for federal income taxes, $135 for state income taxes, $135 for local property taxes, some $75 for sales taxes (local and state), approximately $180 for gas and miscellaneous taxes, $68 for social security and $27 for disability insurance.

THIS ADDS UP to $1,405, or slightly less than half of the per capita income going to one government function or another.

All of which leaves the citizen $1,045 net, which would amount to $27 per week.

And out of this $27 per week, the citizen must buy his food, his clothes, his entertainment, make his car payments, pay insurance, and maintain his property.

Education of children isn't figured in the total amounts the citizen individually has to spend, for the computation is on a per capita basis, and the youngster would have $27 a week to go to school on if this were fact instead of fancy.

TAX INCREASES, of course, cut down the amount of the net to the citizenry. But tax increases are always with the public. The annual increase in total income probably is more than offset by the increases in taxes.

So the figure of $43.1 billion income somewhere along the line isn't quite as impressive as it is supposed to be.

The observation also points out that were income divided equally between the 16 million citizens of the state, there would be much more realization of the government's cut from the gross take, even though some of the taxes would remain much more hidden.

IT WAS ONLY a few years ago that some citizens were decrying the fact they were working for the government 25 per cent of the time. Now, this has jumped to approximately 50 per cent, with little indication that the first six months of the year ever again will belong to the citizen.

And many wonder what will happen in the next 20 years!

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 5, the 279th day of the year with 87 more to follow in 1960.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning star is Mars.

The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1830, Chester Alan Arthur, 21st president of the United States, was born.

In 1853, Antioch College, opened its doors for the first time in Yellow Springs, Ohio, the first nonsectarian college to grant equal scholastic opportunities to men and women.

In 1881, Spanish painter Pablo Picasso was born.

In 1931, Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon Jr., completed the first nonstop flight across the Pacific Ocean.

In 1947, to build up a stockpile of grain for Europe, President Truman asked Americans to observe meatless Tuesdays and eggless and poultryless Thursdays.

A thought for today: American writer F. Scott Fitzgerald said: "The test of a first-rate intelligence is the ability to hold two opposed ideas in the mind at the same time, and still retain the ability to function."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden) Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

Mother's Resentment Of Tiny Infant Will Soon Disappear

"Am I unnatural?" a mother asks. "I resent my baby, though I should love him.

"He is only two days old. He is my first child. I had an easy pregnancy. The delivery wasn't too hard. But when the nurse brings him to me, I feel angry. He doesn't nurse properly. He used to be part of me. Now he's separate.

"I feel guilty about not loving him. Will I change? Can you help me?"

The answer is that you are not unnatural. Millions of mothers have felt exactly as you feel the first few days with their babies. Remember, you are very tired. Fatigue brings worry and resentment. You aren't acquainted with your baby. It takes time for him to learn to nurse. Don's feel guilty. Hold your little boy. Cuddle him. Talk and sing to him. Watch him while he sleeps. Soon your love will blossom.

I hope you'll be able to nurse him. A majority of mothers prefer to use the bottle. Their babies may be deprived emotionally. Many comparisons have been made between breast and bottle-fed babies. On the average the breast babies do better.

You'll be home soon. Ask your husband to help with the work. He needs to get acquainted with your baby too. Once he knows him he'll be proud. He'll start boasting about "my son." Some mothers exclude their husbands from baby care. They're unwise.

Try not to overdo things. Get plenty of sleep. Use all the shortcuts you can find. Get diaper laundry service if you can afford it.

Don't worry. Your world will be better, soon.

(Q) "How can we tell if our new baby is making normal progress "

P. P.

(A) Ask your doctor. You might also get Dr. Arnold Gesell's book "How a Baby Grows," published by Harper Brothers, New York. It gives charts of normal baby development.

Californians Giving More Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Californians contributed more heavily to Republican campaign chests than to the Democrats in the three months preceding the intensified national election campaign.

Reports to the House clerk showed that in the June 1-Sept. 1 period, contributions of $100 or more from Californians to the Volunters for Nixon-Lodge totaled $22,969 and to the Republican National Committee $11,081.

In the same period, Californians gave $9,900 in amount of $100 or more to Citizens for Kennedy-Johnson and $8,157 to the Democratic National Committee. This was in addition to the $200,000 which came from the chairman of the Democratic National Convention dinner in Los Angeles.

Among contributors to the Republican National Committee listed was Harrison McNear Leppo, Mill Valley, $250.

PROPOSITION 5

Legislators Try For Raise Again

(Third in a series on California's November ballot propositions.)

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's legislators, who didn't succeed in 1958, are trying again to convince the boss — that's you — that they're entitled to a raise.

What's more, assemblymen want four-year terms. They're elected every two years now.

Proposition 5 seeks to increase the lawmakers' salary from $500 to $750, or from $6,000 to $9,000 a year. Additional cost: $360,000.

Retirement benefits would go up too. The present maximum is $375 a month after 15 years service and at age 63. It would be pegged at $562.50 for present members.

Those who favor a bigger paycheck contend it would cut down on the turnover and help improve the caliber of the legislature.

Opponents reply the lawmakers get more than enough already when you figure in their expenses and other extras. They warn the voters to beware of attracting "professional" legislators.

How much to pay the men and occasional women who write our laws is an old and continuing question in California.

Prior to 1924, the pay was up to $1,000 for a regular session, $10 a day in special session but not to more than 30 days.

In 1949, salaries went up to $300 a month.

In 1954, the voters agreed to make it $500.

An attempt in 1958 to boost the pay to $750 was defeated.

The $750 figure was recommended by the Citizens Legislative Advisory Committee. This group concluded the lawmakers' work has grown with the state, "making it more difficult for a legislator to sustain his private business pursuits without substantial interference and loss."

The committee cited the findings of a research firm: A legislator works 10 to 14 hours a day during general sessions, eight to 10 hours during budget sessions.

It also raised the point that lobbyists receive from $600 to $1,800 a month in salary, plus liberal expense allowances.

Of course, the legislator's paycheck isn't all that he draws. Most members receive at least $2,000 a year in expenses. In some cases, salary and expenses have totaled around $20,000.

State controller's records show the legislators averaged $10,441 in salary, living expenses and travel in 1959.

The 40 senators and 80 assemblymen get $19 per diem allowance while in session, plus 5 cents per mile round trip between home and Sacramento for each session.

They're paid $20 per diem for attending interim committee meetings, plus 15 cents per mile in California and 10 cents per mile out of the state. They're given free stamps, free secretarial service and other fringe benefits, not to mention the retirement benefits.

Under rules tightened up several years ago, legislators are limited to 40 days of per diem a year; members of joint committees are entitled to another 20 days.

Advocates of the $750 salary tell you it's a good way to prevent California from having a rich man's legislature, with only those members who can afford the time and money to serve their districts.

Opponents assert the legislator knows what he's going to get when he runs for office and he has no business complaining once he's elected.

The citizens commission also recommended the four-year assembly terms proposed in Proposition 2. Senators already are elected for four years.

Many assemblymen dislike the idea of having to campaign every two years. It's costly and time-consuming. There is also the argument that the two-year stint makes for a substantial turnover.

The argument against No. 2 runs like this: The longer term would make the assemblyman less responsive to his constituents. As for turnover, only nine of the 80 assemblymen are not seeking reelection this year.

Scientist Supports Theory Of Evolution Of Planets

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — Suppose large amounts of the molten chemicals on the surface of the sun really had been pulled off into space because a gallivanting sister star went whizzing by close enough to suck at the sun with its gravity.

Could you then suppose those sucked-off materials went flying outward until they were halted by the sun's own gravitational pull, and then solidified into the earth and the other planets which have been circling the sun in their fixed orbits ever since?

Definitely you could not so suppose, continued Dr. M. H. Briggs, raising his voice in a renewal of one of the oldest of scientific arguments—how did our solar system ever get started in the first place? The answer may never be known, but it makes a fine argument.

If those molten chemicals had been pulled off the sun, they would have been extremely hot and so would have been under enormous internal pressures. This means they would have expanded, Briggs said, and the expansion would have led inevitably to dissipation.

But even without that kind of chemical action, gravitational forces would have pulled the molten metal apart, he said. Now, take it from another angle, he continued, and consider the densities of the planets. The density of Mercury is approximately four times that of Jupiter, and the density of Earth is some four times that of Uranus.

Degrees of density indicate degrees of fractionation of the chemical materials from which the planets sprang. If they all sprang from the same chemical materials — that is, from chemicals sucked off the surface of the sun, it's hard to account for those differences in densities, he said.

Briggs, who is a chemist, was shooting at the "catastrophic theory" of the origin of the solar system advanced by Dr. M. M. Woolfson, an astrophysicist. Briggs is a New Zealander. Woolfson is English. Their argument goes on in the technical journal, "Nature."

If the solar system originated in the way Woolfson supposed, Briggs said, then there would be very few solar systems in the universe. Woolfson had theorized that the star passing by the sun would have had to be 100 times larger than the sun and its speed would have had to be 22,380 miles an hour or better.

That sort of thing could happen only very rarely if it could happen at all. Briggs said. Indeed, one might say that if solar systems originated in only that way, there would be only one in the universe—or perhaps two because one could believe the passing star might have acquired satellite planets, too.

Yet the evidence is constantly increasing that there are many stars which have planets, even in our own galaxy. Briggs said the evolution theory of the origin of the solar system was a better one because it could account for all the known facts, including meteors and comets.

This theory supposes that clouds of chemicals of gaseous or finely divided compositions formed from the sun, and the planets evolved from them.

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 5, the 279th day of the year with 87 more to follow in 1960.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1830, Chester Alan Arthur, 21st president of the United States, was born.

In 1853, Antioch College, opened its doors for the first time in Yellow Springs, Ohio, the first nonsectarian college to grant equal scholastic opportunities to men and women.

In 1881, Spanish painter Pablo Picasso was born.

In 1931, Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon Jr., completed the first nonstop flight across the Pacific Ocean.

In 1947, to build up a stockpile of grain for Europe, President Truman asked Americans to observe meatless Tuesdays and eggless and poultryless Thursdays.

A thought for today: American writer F. Scott Fitzgerald said: "The test of a first-rate intelligence is the ability to hold two opposed ideas in the mind at the same time, and still retain the ability to function."

THE PARENTS' CORNER

Mother's Resentment Of Tiny Infant Will Soon Disappear

"Am I unnatural?" a mother asks. "I resent my baby, though I should love him.

"He is only two days old. He is my first child. I had an easy pregnancy. The delivery wasn't too hard. But when the nurse brings him to me, I feel angry. He doesn't nurse properly. He used to be part of me. Now he's separate.

"I feel guilty about not loving him. Will I change? Can you help me?"

The answer is that you are not unnatural. Millions of mothers have felt exactly as you feel the first few days with their babies. Remember, you are very tired. Fatigue brings worry and resentment. You aren't acquainted with your baby. It takes time for him to learn to nurse. Don's feel guilty. Hold your little boy. Cuddle him. Talk and sing to him. Watch him while he sleeps. Soon your love will blossom.

I hope you'll be able to nurse him. A majority of mothers prefer to use the bottle. Their babies may be deprived emotionally. Many comparisons have been made between breast and bottle-fed babies. On the average the breast babies do better.

You'll be home soon. Ask your husband to help with the work. He needs to get acquainted with your baby too. Once he knows him he'll be proud. He'll start boasting about "my son." Some mothers exclude their husbands from baby care. They're unwise.

Try not to overdo things. Get plenty of sleep. Use all the shortcuts you can find. Get diaper laundry service if you can afford it.

Don't worry. Your world will be better, soon.

Californians Giving More Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Californians contributed more heavily to Republican campaign chests than to the Democrats in the three months preceding the intensified national election campaign.

Reports to the House clerk showed that in the June 1-Sept. 1 period, contributions of $100 or more from Californians to the Volunters for Nixon-Lodge totaled $22,969 and to the Republican National Committee $11,081.

In the same period, Californians gave $9,900 in amount of $100 or more to Citizens for Kennedy-Johnson and $8,157 to the Democratic National Committee. This was in addition to the $200,000 which came from the chairman of the Democratic National Convention dinner in Los Angeles.

Among contributors to the Republican National Committee listed was Harrison McNear Leppo, Mill Valley, $250.

PROPOSITION 5

Legislators Try For Raise Again

(Third in a series on California's November ballot propositions.)

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's legislators, who didn't succeed in 1958, are trying again to convince the boss — that's you — that they're entitled to a raise.

What's more, assemblymen want four-year terms. They're elected every two years now.

Proposition 5 seeks to increase the lawmakers' salary from $500 to $750, or from $6,000 to $9,000 a year. Additional cost: $360,000.

Retirement benefits would go up too. The present maximum is $375 a month after 15 years service and at age 63. It would be pegged at $562,50 for present members.

Those who favor a bigger paycheck contend it would cut down on the turnover and help improve the caliber of the legislature.

Opponents reply the lawmakers get more than enough already when you figure in their expenses and other extras. They warn the voters to beware of attracting "professional" legislators.

How much to pay the men and occasional women who write our laws is an old and continuing question in California.

Prior to 1924, the pay was up to $1,000 for a regular session, $10 a day in special session but not to more than 30 days.

In 1949, salaries went up to $300 a month.

In 1954, the voters agreed to make it $500.

An attempt in 1958 to boost the pay to $750 was defeated.

The $750 figure was recommended by the Citizens Legislative Advisory Committee. This group concluded the lawmakers' work has grown with the state, "making it more difficult for a legislator to sustain his private business pursuits without substantial interference and loss."

The committee cited the findings of a research firm: A legislator works 10 to 14 hours a day during general sessions, eight to 10 hours during budget sessions.

It also raised the point that lobbyists receive from $600 to $1,800 a month in salary, plus liberal expense allowances.

Of course, the legislator's paycheck isn't all that he draws. Most members receive at least $2,000 a year in expenses. In some cases, salary and expenses have totaled around $20,000.

State controller's records show the legislators averaged $10,441 in salary, living expenses and travel in 1959.

The 40 senators and 80 assemblymen get $19 per diem allowance while in session, plus 5 cents per mile round trip between home and Sacramento for each session.

They're paid $20 per diem for attending interim committee meetings, plus 15 cents per mile in California and 10 cents per mile out of the state. They're given free stamps, free secretarial service and other fringe benefits, not to mention the retirement benefits.

Under rules tightened up several years ago, legislators are limited to 40 days of per diem a year; members of joint committees are entitled to another 20 days.

Advocates of the $750 salary tell you it's a good way to prevent California from having a rich man's legislature, with only those members who can afford the time and money to serve their districts.

Opponents assert the legislator knows what he's going to get when he runs for office and he has no business complaining once he's elected.

The citizens commission also recommended the four-year assembly terms proposed in Proposition 2. Senators already are elected for four years.

Many assemblymen dislike the idea of having to campaign every two years. It's costly and time-consuming. There is also the argument that the two-year stint makes for a substantial turnover.

The argument against No. 2 runs like this: The longer term would make the assemblyman less responsive to his constituents. As for turnover, only nine of the 80 assemblymen are not seeking reelection this year.

Scientist Supports Theory Of Evolution Of Planets

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — Suppose large amounts of the molten chemicals on the surface of the sun really had been pulled off into space because a gallivanting sister star went whizzing by close enough to suck at the sun with its gravity.

Could you then suppose those sucked-off materials went flying outward until they were halted by the sun's own gravitational pull, and then solidified into the earth and the other planets which have been circling the sun in their fixed orbits ever since?

Definitely you could not so suppose, continued Dr. M. H. Briggs, raising his voice in a renewal of one of the oldest of scientific arguments—how did our solar system ever get started in the first place? The answer may never be known, but it makes a fine argument.

If those molten chemicals had been pulled off the sun, they would have been extremely hot and so would have been under enormous internal pressures. This means they would have expanded, Briggs said, and the expansion would have led inevitably to dissipation.

But even without that kind of chemical action, gravitational forces would have pulled the molten metal apart, he said. Now, take it from another angle, he continued, and consider the densities of the planets. The density of Mercury is approximately four times that of Jupiter, and the density of Earth is some four times that of Uranus.

Degrees of density indicate degrees of fractionation of the chemical materials from which the planets sprang. If they all sprang from the same chemical materials — that is, from chemicals sucked off the surface of the sun, it's hard to account for those differences in densities, he said.

Briggs, who is a chemist, was shooting at the "catastrophic theory" of the origin of the solar system advanced by Dr. M. M. Woolfson, an astrophysicist. Briggs is a New Zealander. Woolfson is English. Their argument goes on in the technical journal, "Nature."

If the solar system originated in the way Woolfson supposed, Briggs said, then there would be very few solar systems in the universe. Woolfson had theorized that the star passing by the sun would have had to be 100 times larger than the sun and its speed would have had to be 22,380 miles an hour or better.

That sort of thing could happen only very rarely if it could happen at all, Briggs said. Indeed, one might say that if solar systems originated in only that way, there would be only one in the universe—or perhaps two because one could believe the passing star might have acquired satellite planets, too.

Yet the evidence is constantly increasing that there are many stars which have planets, even in our own galaxy. Briggs said the evolution theory of the origin of the solar system was a better one because it could account for all the known facts, including meteors and comets.

This theory supposes that clouds of chemicals of gaseous or finely divided compositions formed from the sun, and the planets evolved from them.

Belvedere Tables Sewer Main Bids

The Belvedere City Council took no action Tuesday on three bids received for the San Rafael Avenue sewer main and tabled the matter until an adjourned meeting next Monday.

Bids received were McGuire and Hester, $29,229; Valley Engineers, $30,790, and William G. McCullough, $35,132.

The council accepted a proposal from architect J. Francis Ward to provide preliminary plans for enlargement of the Belvedere community hall and working drawings of an addition to the fire station. Ward was the architect for the original building.

The Marin County Civil Defense operation plan was approved by the council.

Players To Talk Of New Workshop

The Tiburon Peninsula Cove Players will discuss plans for their new actors' workshop at a membership meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at 112 Main Street.

The workshop will be known as the cove workshop and is open to all Cove Players, current and prospective members, players president Arny Schultz said. The workshop productions will be separate from the three major productions given each season and will be one-act plays which will be directed, produced and acted by the members of the workshop.

The first one-act play will be given at the Nov. 17 general meeting.

Tiburon Seeking Second Fireman

The Tiburon Fire Protection District commission has called for applications for a second full time fireman, to be employed in January.

Applicants must be between ages of 21 and 40 and should apply to Tiburon Fire Chief Frank J. Buscher at the Tiburon Boulevard main station. Salary will be $415 a month. "Experience is preferred but not necessary," commission secretary Kelly J. Wheeler said.

The commission decided to hold a second meeting each month on the third Wednesday, in addition to the first Monday meeting.

'Exceptional Students' Create County Position

Work of sorting out Marin County's "exceptional students" caused creation of a new job in the county's data processing bureau yesterday.

Leon A. deLisle, head of the bureau through his position as auditor-controller, asked the board of supervisors to authorize one more position of tabulating operator at $350 monthly to cope with increased work load created by school districts.

He said it has become necessary to extend the bureau's work day to a minimum of 12 hours because of more work with outside taxing districts. Moreover, many of the school districts have requested test scoring services, he said.

"This service has previously been done by commercial test scoring companies," said deLisle. "They feel that we can give them quicker and more accurate service."

The auditor said the additional $2,975 outlay during the present fiscal year, would be offset by payments from the districts.

William L. Berzman, guidance consultant for Kentfield School District, said the winnowing-out of exceptional pupils has mostly been handled by East Bay private firms, but the same job can be done by Marin's data processors quicker and more economically.

Supervisor Vera L. Schultz moved approval and it was given unanimously.

'Exceptional Students' Create County Position

Work of sorting out Marin County's "exceptional students" caused creation of a new job in the county's data processing bureau yesterday.

Leon A. deLisle, head of the bureau through his position as auditor-controller, asked the board of supervisors to authorize one more position of tabulating operator at $350 monthly to cope with increased work load created by school districts.

He said it has become necessary to extend the bureau's work day to a minimum of 12 hours because of more work with outside taxing districts. Moreover, many of the school districts have requested test scoring services, he said.

"This service has previously been done by commercial test scoring companies," said deLisle. "They feel that we can give them quicker and more accurate service."

The auditor said the additional $2,975 outlay during the present fiscal year, would be offset by payments from the districts.

William L. Berzman, guidance consultant for Kentfield School District, said the winnowing-out of exceptional pupils has mostly been handled by East Bay private firms, but the same job can be done by Marin's data processors quicker and more economically.

Supervisor Vera L. Schultz moved approval and it was given unanimously.

Belvedere Tables Sewer Main Bids

The Belvedere City Council took no action Tuesday on three bids received for the San Rafael Avenue sewer main and tabled the matter until an adjourned meeting next Monday.

Bids received were McGuire and Hester, $29,229; Valley Engineers, $30,790, and William G. McCullough, $35,132.

The council accepted a proposal from architect J. Francis Ward to provide preliminary plans for enlargement of the Belvedere community hall and working drawings of an addition to the fire station. Ward was the architect for the original building.

The Marin County Civil Defense operation plan was approved by the council.

Players To Talk Of New Workshop

The Tiburon Peninsula Cove Players will discuss plans for their new actors' workshop at a membership meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at 112 Main Street.

The workshop will be known as the cove workshop and is open to all Cove Players, current and prospective members, players president Arny Schultz said. The workshop productions will be separate from the three major productions given each season and will be one-act plays which will be directed, produced and acted by the members of the workshop.

The first one-act play will be given at the Nov. 17 general meeting.

Tiburon Seeking Second Fireman

The Tiburon Fire Protection District commission has called for applications for a second full time fireman, to be employed in January.

Applicants must be between ages of 21 and 40 and should apply to Tiburon Fire Chief Frank J. Buscher at the Tiburon Boulevard main station. Salary will be $415 a month. "Experience is preferred but not necessary," commission secretary Kelly J. Wheeler said.

The commission decided to hold a second meeting each month on the third Wednesday, in addition to the first Monday meeting.
